SOUTH AMERICA SEES ROOSEVELT AS PEACE ENVOY

Buenos Aires to Hail President Today.

Revolt Is Crushed

QUITO.—Ecuador reveals 29 were slain and 69 wounded in unsuccessful revolt of a regiment. Military units aided by civilians, smash rebellion after four hours of fighting. Dictator Frederico Paez promises "energetic punishment" of participants in uprising. Page 3.

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina, Nov. 29.—President Roosevelt comes here tomorrow as an apostle of peace seeking to give the war minded world an example of good neighborliness and to unite the American nations against possible aggressors.

Mr. Roosevelt comes to a South America seething with strife.

The streets of Quito, Ecuador, only yesterday ran with the blood of revolution. The first shots of it broke the few peaceful months since peace between Paraguay and Bolivia ended the war of the Gran Chaco. Both these countries are maintaining international peace with difficulty on the eve of the inter-American peace conference which Mr. Roosevelt will formally open with his speech on Tuesday.

Revolt Looms in Bolivia.

Paraguay's former soldiers are certain that, had the war continued, Bolivia might have been taken. Ready to rise up against the present militaristic régime of Bolivia, some of its defeated veterans are uniting against the government, which they blame for the defeat.

A communist led outbreak in Brazil a year ago was decisively crushed, but it is considered certain that another will occur.

In view of the annulment of the recent presidential election in Peru, the minority party is edging toward an armed attempt to seize power.

Only Argentina is free from internal disorder. Venezuela, Uruguay and Chile are quiet only because they are in the grip of iron fisted dictatorships whose clench came after armed revolts.

Public Holiday Proclaimed.

A holiday has been proclaimed in the federal district of Buenos Aires and vast crowds of Argentines are expected to greet President Roosevelt. This is the first opportunity Argentines have had to greet such a high American dignitary since Herbert Hoover came here late in 1928 as President elect.

But Mr. Roosevelt will get a warmer welcome because his policies are widely approved here. Posters placed in the streets by the Socialist Radical party call for a full turnout of members in honor of "a great benevolent dictator."

Buenos Aires is poised to give a warm welcome. The celebration has been toned down at the President's request. Because the Latins love brilliant fêtes they had planned a triumphal entry worthy of a victorious Roman monarch. The modified version is certain to pass anything that even the United States has given any single person.

Cruiser Meets Naval Escort.

The cruiser Indianapolis which is carrying Mr. Roosevelt to Buenos Aires met its Argentine naval escort this afternoon off Maldonado, Uruguay, about 250 miles from Montevideo. As Argentine ships greeted the presidential party Mr. Roosevelt received a message of welcome from President Agustin P. Justo of Argentina.

President Roosevelt replied to the message by sending his greetings to Mr. Justo. In it he voiced his confidence that "our mutual good neighbor policy will find its consecration in the forthcoming weeks."

The Indianapolis and its convoy will arrive in the harbor here at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, Buenos Aires time inpon central standard time). They will receive a salute from two battleships, a cruiser, and eight destroyers of the Argentine navy. Ten squadrons of planes will wheel and dip overhead. Bands will play and the throngs will cheer the welcome arrival.

RUSSIAN CHIEF REVEALS HATE FOR HITLERITES

Japan Plans Big Army

TOKIO.—Japanese war office declares its ambition is to build quickly an army as large as that of Russia. Insists huge armament is necessary "to prevent war and to hold Japan's lifeline on the Asiatic continent" against Russia and China. Page 6.

MOSCOW, Nov. 29.—(AP)—Vyacheslaff M. Molotov, president of the council of commissars, today professed Russia's love for the German people, but hate for their leaders after an announcement that 7,000 airplanes and 100,000 pilots will soon be ready to defend the soviet union.

Molotov, who by his position is often called "Russia's premier," received a tumultuous ovation when he told the eighth all-union congress of soviets:

"Nazi leaders have well earned their appellation of 'modern cannibals.' The Nazi attitude is one of barbarism and cruelty. These Fascists are destroying culture and advocating monstrous racial theories.

Hits Persecution of Jews.

"Their persecution of Jews is in marked contrast with our respect for this race which gave us Karl Marx. Adolf Hitler is using the Jews of scapegoats for his nation's internal difficulties, whereas in the soviet union active anti-semites are shot."

Earlier, the congress heard a tart warning to Baltic nations to "mind their own business" and keep away from Fascism.

"If the planes of German Fascists threaten our country, woe unto them," declared Corps Commander Krhipin, assistant commander of the Red army air forces.

"Germany says she will have 70,000 flyers in the near future," he said. "We answer we will have at least 100,000. It is not a fantastic figure. The Society for Preparedness and Defense alone will graduate 8,000 pilots in 1936."

Gets Warlike Appearance.

Krhipin's report gave the congress more and more a warlike appearance, following yesterday's sessions at which 1,700 per cent increases in naval armaments were revealed and Foreign Minister Maxim Litvinov charged Germany and Japan had signed a secret military pact which he linked with two recent far eastern border clashes.

Nearly every speaker has declared Russia's readiness to defeat all comers.

"We are not afraid of aerial armament by capitalist countries," Krhipin proclaimed. "We have forged our own powerful air fleet. In quality, quantity, and morale it is the most powerful air fleet in the world.

"A year ago Marshall Tukhachevsky reported to the seventh congress a 330 per cent increase in army aviation in four years. Today the number of planes is more than four times that in 1932.

Air Force Ready for War.

"We have hundreds of new planes with a speed of 450 kilometers per hour [a kilometer is equivalent to 3,280 feet]. I am happy on behalf of the Red air fleet to report that our

Dusty Records Confirm Story of Old Slaying

Dust covered records and the memories of old time residents of Belleville yesterday confirmed the confession of Charles Kohr, 64 years old, that he had killed his younger brother in a quarrel there more than thirty-five years ago.

Kohr, now a gray-haired, quiet little man, startled police Saturday night when he walked into the Central police station and told of the killing.

"All these years my conscience has troubled me," he told Sergt. William Murphy who had befriended him a few days before, "and now I want to tell it all.

His Story of Slaying.

"My brother Henry was 15 years old. He had gotten a job in a saloon in Belleville and I didn't want him to work in a saloon. One morning in April of 1901 I was on my way to work when I saw Henry scrubbing the floor of the saloon.

"I called him out and told him he was disgracing the family by working there. We quarreled. Henry was large for his age and when he struck at me I was frightened. I picked up a stick and struck him on the head. He fell unconscious to the ground."

Kohr then told of his panic and how he dragged his brother, not knowing whether he was dead or alive, to a nearby cistern and threw him in.

Body Is Found in Well.

"I then went on my way to work," he said, "and when Henry didn't show up police thought he had just left town. Ten months later the body was discovered in the well."

Police relayed Kohr's story to Belleville authorities and they confirmed it.

To Belleville residents Kohr's story came as a surprise. Old timers had to scratch their heads to recall the events of the younger brother's death. At no time had there been any thought that the younger brother had been murdered and no suspicion ever had been directed against Kohr.

Records disclosed that a verdict of accidental death due to drowning had been returned by the coroner's jury. Kohr, himself, had been a witness at the hearing, and townspeople all had held the belief that Henry Kohr must have fallen into the cistern.

Two Jurors Surviving.

Investigation by Police Chief Thomas Lonie disclosed that only two of the jurors are alive. They are Alex Schlesinger, a grocer, and Joseph L. Bux, an undertaker.

"I remember the case," Bux recalled yesterday, "There was no suspicion of murder at the time and everybody was convinced Henry must have fallen into the well."

Chief Lonie declared he would seek a warant for Kohr's arrest today and take steps to have him returned to Belleville. However, State's Attorney L. P. Zerweck of St. Clair county said he would decide on whether he would prosecute the case after an investigation to determine whether after all these years the confession can be corroborated so as to obtain a conviction.

"Ready for Punishment."

In his cell last evening Kohr brooded over the past. "I'm glad I confessed," he said. "I was always going to do it, but could never get courage enough. Now I'm ready for my punishment."

For the last eighteen years Kohr worked as a filing clerk in a loop department store. He lived at 811 South State street. Belleville records list his name as Koehr, but he has used the shorter spelling in Chicago.

MOLLISON HOPS FOR ROUND TRIP RECORD TO CAPE TOWN, AFRICA

CROYDON, England, Nov. 30 [Monday].—(AP)—Capt. James A. Mollison and his co-pilot, Edouard Corniglion-Molinier, took off at 9:21 a. m. yesterday on their projected speed dash to Cape Town, South Africa. Nine hours later they were sighted over Tunis, North Africa, and early today arrived at Cairo, Egypt.

They said they hoped to make the return trip to England within five days. Their plans called for refueling stops at Kisumu, in Kenya, and Johannesbury. Their plane was Mollison's Dorothy, in which he made a west-east Atlantic crossing last Oct. 30.

The present England-Cape Town records, both ways, are held by Mollison's wife, Amy, who flew the southern leg in three days, six hours, 26 minutes, May 7, and the northern leg in four days, 16 hours, and 18 minutes. Her times eclipsed previous records set by Capt. Mollison. Capt. Corniglion-Molinier, a Frenchman, was a member of the expedition which from the air discovered the lost empire of the Queen of Sheba in March, 1934.

Bing Crosby Offers Battle to Whole Navy

Hollywood, Cal., Nov. 29.—(AP)—Bing Crosby, crooning film and radio star, challenged a portion of the United States navy to fistic combat—then he ended it with a declaration of peace.

"It was mostly a matter of tangled tempers," the crooner said today at a football game here.

The actor's statement concerning the affair at San Diego yesterday was relayed by his brother, Larry Crosby.

Bing, stung by jibes of a group of hilarious sailors who had followed the crooner from a night spot to his parked automobile, offered to battle the crowd, one at a time, his brother said.

Brother Tells Story.

Bing declined to talk directly of the incident, but Brother Larry told newsmen:

"He wants to forget the whole thing entirely, but you can quote him as saying 'there are no hard feelings—it was mostly a matter of tangled tempers.'"

Larry said he obtained the story second hand, but insofar as he could learn, this happened:

Bing motored to San Diego and dined at a night club. A group of sailors, recognizing him, made remarks belittling to crooners in general and to Bing in particular.

Crooner Becomes Warlike.

The actor tried to retire smilingly, but as followed to his car by his hecklers, and the jests grew noiser.

Bing suddenly became warlike.

"I don't want any trouble, boys—get that straight," he said. "But if you guys will come at me one at a time I'll take on one, or all."

Some accounts Larry Crosby heard indicated that a blow or two was struck. Others declare Bing found no immediate takers.

Before anything serious happened police interfered.

Divorcee's Life Saved by Daughter and Ex-Husband

Miss Dorothy Peterson, 40 years old, 3943 North Marshfield avenue, was saved from death by gas last night by her former husband, George Mummert, 3522 Greeview avenue. They were divorced about six years ago and she resumed her maiden name. Last night she wrote a farewell note and turned on the gas, police said. When her daughter Irene, 16, returned from a movie she could not get into the house. She ran outside and happily met her father who, aided by neighbors, smashed in the door. He then called an inhalator squad, who revived Miss Peterson.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 29.—[Special.]—The forty-eight states, following the lead of the New Deal administration at Washington, piled up taxes in every category to obtain 392 million dollars more of revenue in 1935 than in 1930, according to a statistical analysis made public today by the treasury department.

Eight types of taxes selected for the study accounted for $1,654,800,000 in revenue pouring into state coffers during 1935 as contrasted with $1,262,800,000 in 1930. The taxes for which the treasury collected data were as follows: Estate and inheritance, individual income, corporation income, gasoline, motor vehicle registrations, and licenses, general sales, liquor, and tobacco taxes.

Hard to Compare Taxes.

Although it was impossible to compare the performance of the state levies with the taxes imposed by the federal government, because of the difference in rates, fiscal years and other discrepancies, it appeared on the basis of trends that the federal government has been draining some of the revenue reservoirs tapped by the states in the past.

In the estate and inheritance category, which also included gift taxes, the states registered a decrease of $82,600,000, or a 45 per cent drop from 1930 to 1935. Collection of these taxes by the states amounted to $183,400,000 in 1930 and $100,800,000 in 1935. This occurred despite the fact that there were 47 states imposing taxes of this type in 1935 as compared with 45 five years before.

On the other hand, the federal government chalked up an increase in the collection of estate, inheritance and gift taxes during the five year period. Year by year federal collections from these sources were as follows:

1930	$64,800,000	1933	$ 34,300,000

Comparisons on other tax performances for the year 1935 only are as follows:

Individual income, federal, $448,200,000; states, $100,000,000; corporation income, federal, $465,400,000; states, $56,900,000; gasoline, federal, $161,500,000; states, $589,200,000; liquor, federal, $411,000,000; states, $166,600,000, and tobacco, federal, $459,200,000; states, $28,600,000.

The increases in the state tax collections resulted principally from general sales taxes and liquor levies.

In 1930 only two states imposed sales taxes and collected a total of $1,200,000. By 1935 the number of states with sales taxes had mounted to 25, collecting $284,400,000.

Gain by Liquor Taxes.

Only $200,000 was collected in the form of liquor taxes by the states in 1930. By 1935 the revenue extracted through liquor excise taxes, licenses, and store profits amounted to $166,600,000.

The treasury experts who compiled the data from the various state governments declared that the aggregate collections from the eight taxes studied constituted approximately two-thirds of the total collections from taxes imposed by the states.

CLAIM 2 CONSULS SLAIN AS REBEL SPIES IN SPAIN

Envoys of Austria, Paraguay Victims.

SALAMANACA, Spain, Nov. 29.—[Havas.]—The Austrian and Paraguayan consuls at Bilbao have been "vilely assassinated" by the extreme leftists, who now control the northern autonomous government, the insurgent command charged here tonight.

An official communique declared: "To explain the crimes, the victims were accused of espionage. Justice obliges us to solemnly declare that the Fascist army never had any contact or communication with the said diplomatic representatives. We have communicated our profound grief to the Austrian and Paraguayan governments for this infamous and odious deed."

The reported execution of the two consuls created a sensation here in view of international repercussions expected to follow. Bilbao is the capital of the autonomous government recently granted to the three Basque provinces of Viscaya, Alava, and Guipuzcoa.

It was considered possible that their "assassination," if proved true, would result in severance of diplomatic relations between Austria and Paraguay and the Valencia government.

Assert Rebel Drive Broken.

MADRID, Nov. 29.—(AP)—The Spanish Socialist government asserted today the backbone of the Fascist drive against Madrid had been broken and that Socialist troops were pushing toward Burgos, seat of the insurgent junta.

The initiative is now in our hands," the Madrid defenders declared as bright sunshine made the capital again a clear target for Fascist war planes after a day of rain.

A lone Fascist plane tonight loosed seven bombs on the western end of the capital in a sudden raid which officials feared caused considerable casualties and property damage. The invader, looking sinister against the new moon, zoomed low over the North Station area to score hits with its explosive cargo.

Alicante Bombing Toll Heavy.

The bombs, explosions of which shook the capital, dropped in Migallanes street, near Glorieta de Quevedo, and on barricades of loyalist troops in Paseo de Rosales and Paseo de San Vicente boardering the Manzanares river. The sudden raid followed a day in which one Fascist squadron cruised over the city, but did not drop bombs.

Officials admitted tonight a large toll of life was taken in last night's insurgent air raid on Alicante. After the first panic, they said, the inhabitants sought refuge in an orderly fashion and by so doing probably prevented larger casualties. Velencia tonight prepared for attack from either land or sea. Windows in the center of the city were boarded up so that light could not seep through and give enemy air raiders targets for their bombs.

Socialist troops were reported attacking on the Burgos front today, at northern Oviedo, in the Guadarrama mountains northwest of the capital, and near Talavera de la Reina, Fascist stronghold in the southwestern sector.

Miners Collect Forces.

Advices from Gijon said Asturian miners, consolidating forces after steady advances the last few days, were ready to march in vigorous offensive against the provincial capital on the Bay of Biscay.

Dispatches from northern Santander declared government columns from that province were within forty miles of Burgos and had captured Soncillo with 200 Fascist dead. One mortar and three machine guns were captured.

In the Talavera sector the government declared the militia continued its advance with heavy artillery bombardment of the city proper. The insurgent air field at Talavera was reported damaged heavily.

Guadalajara Protected.

Fascist efforts to cut into Guadalajara province northeast of Madrid were repulsed and the government claimed capture of five villages there, including Santolis, Semillas, Robre D'Arcas, Fraguas, and Las Cabezadas.

A militia detachment claimed thirty Fascist dead in an encounter near Valdemoro on the road to Aranjuez a few miles south of Madrid.

The British embassy was considering evacuating as many as possible of 350 British subjects still in Madrid, but it was announced the embassy staf would remain.

Four British members of parliament, who came to Madrid to "humanize" the civil war, had a narrow escape when a Fascist shell struck the North station at a spot their automobile had just left. They had been in the area inspecting the wreckage of the railroad terminal. Later a shell hit the Alfonso hotel in the Gran Via as they drove past.

One of the British group left for England today after his colleagues appealed for 1,000 food and gasoline stocked automobiles from both the French and British governments to aid evacuation of noncombatants.

EXPECT LONG WAR

VALENCIA, Spain, Nov. 29.—(AP)—The Spanish civil war will last "at least through the winter," War Minister Indalecio Prieto of the Socialistic government declared today, and will "see a far more intensive stage" than the present bloody battle for possession of Madrid.

"At the beginning of the war I surprised many and aroused indignation of many others by predicting the fight would be long and hard.

"Every one seemed to believe it would be a question of two or three weeks. I was right. And I believe it again is safe to say the conflict will extend at least through December, January, and February.

"There are many new phases due to international developments which are bound to stretch out the war.

"The weather, too, will force an extension. Rain in the north and snow in some sectors will slow up aviation and artillery. This time will be used for fortifying by both sides, meaning that when the fight actively is resumed it will be far more intensive than previously."

Prieto asserted Gen. Francisco Franco would be unsuccessful in efforts to blockade the Spanish port of Barcelona "unless Germany and Italy openly throw their fleets to his support. Franco's naval strength is insignificant."

He suggested that the Fascist general invite a delegation of foreign correspondents to see the submarines he is reported to possess — "that would be the only way to convince us German submersibles are not guilty of torpedoing the government ship Cervantes" [reported last week].

Caballero's Son Spared.

[Copyright: 1936: By the New York Times.]

MADRID, Nov. 29.—According to a radio broadcast from Seville, Spanish Fascist insurgent headquarters state that the report of the execution of Premier Francisco Largo Caballero's son can be officially and definitly denied. The son, who bears the same name as his father, had been reported shot by the insurgents at Segovia Friday.

Young Caballero was serving in the signal corps stationed at El Pardo, near Madrid, when the civil war broke out. He marched with his regiment to Segovia where he was eventually arrested and held as a hostage.

Robbers Steal Ring from Girl in Auto with Escort

Two young bandits riding in a stolen car took a ring valued at $150 from Miss Mary Grabowski, 30 years old, a telephone operator, as she sat in a car with Clarence Bydalek, 33, of 2896 Milwaukee avenue, near her home at 6326 South Mozart street late last night. Apparently in a hurry, they drove away without searching Bydalek. A few minutes later they were sighted by Policemen Redmond Roderick and Clifford Dryer, who fired at them, but they escaped.

BELIEVE FRANCO BROKE STRENGTH ON MADRID DRIVE

Soldiers Worn Out; No More Available.

BY ALEX SMALL.
[Chi[illegible] Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Nov. 29.—The situation in the Spanish civil war at present is a deadlock which either side will be unable to break until new factors, especially reinforcements of men and material, intervene.

It is now clear that Gen. Francisco Franco, Spanish rebel leader, committed a great imprudence in attacking Madrid without having the resources necessary to capture a city of more than 1,000,000 population. His total effectives at the time the big assault on Madrid was started three weeks ago could not have been more than 40,000 fighting men, only about half of whom were first class.

They now have been decimated by the desperate resistance of the Madrid militia, and he is having to replace Moors and foreign legionnaires —many of whom, because of sheer exhaustion, must be given a rest— by volunteer phalanxists [Fascists], who are as good material as the militia but no better.

Aviation Not Enough.

Gen. Franco's staf rushed into the attack trusting in their overwhelming strength of aviation, but it has failed to produce the required results, largely by lack of continuity of efforts. The bombardments were spectacular and undoubtedly demoralizing for a time, but they were not followed up. Another reason for Franco's rashness was the conviction that the militia, which had been running away for weeks, would continue running.

The result has been that, at the end of three weeks of conflicts, some as sanguinary as is possible with hand weapons, that the rebels have made no progress worth recording They have a toehold in University City, which is not Madrid proper. but they have been halted at all the main bridges over the Manzanares river and they will have to change plans if they do not want to shatter all their real fighting effectives against the stone wall of Madrid.

Balked in Guadarramas.

To add to Gen. Franco's worries are the loyalist advances in the north, notably from the Santander region toward Burgos, and the failure of his own troops to break through in the Guadarrama mountains.

Since Gen. Franco is rapidly running out of Moors and foreign legionnaires he must find fresh men and in sufficient numbers to conduct a methodical siege, the direct attack having now failed. His best hope now undoubtedly is in German and Italian help, with new airplanes and artillery.

These "allies" so far have supplied him with all his aviation, tanks, and much artillery, but the contribution has been far from sufficient, as if they were trying to get results on a shoestring.

Britain Lays Course to Dodge Showdown with Dictators

LONDON, Nov. 29.—With all cabinet members warned to remain within an hour's travel of London in case another emergency meeting is necessary the British government spent a nervous day of watchful waiting to see what happened in Spain and was ready to grant belligerent rights to the Spanish rebels if necessary.

It is believed the only thing that has prevented this action sooner is Gen. Francisco Franco's lack of success in his three week siege of Madrid.

Nervous Over Hitler.

What the British fear most at the moment is that he will try deliberately to involve other nations—Great Britain among them—so that Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler and Premier Mussolini will have to aid him openly and fully.

British officialdom is understood to be nervous over Hitler's recent conferences with his army, navy, and air force chiefs, which are taken in some quarters as a sign he is getting ready to give full aid to Gen. Franco.

Franco's blockade of Barcelona means the risk that the British will become involved in a dispute over the stopping of ships.

The British have announced the intention to give full protection to their ships, and if German and Italian warships joined a blockade it would mean a real danger of getting into a serious crisis with Rome or Berlin or both over the halting and searching of British ships.

Fear Showdown.

The last thing the British government wants at the moment is a showdown with any continental dictator. This, however, is what they are afraid Gen. Franco may try to force in the hope that his Fascist friends, Italy and Germany, will make the British and French back down on this as they did on Ethiopia a year ago.

A "full dress" debate on the Spanish situation is coming Tuesday in the house of commons when a bill to ban gun running will be pushed through all its stages in a single day —war time procedure adopted because of the need for quick action.

HIGH SCHOOL GIRL IS FOUND DEAD IN BED FROM POISON

Elizabeth Ryan, 17 years old, 2048 Wabansia avenue, a student at Lucy Flower High school, died of poisoning last night, but police could not determine whether she took the poison by mistake while walking in her sleep or whether she took it intentionally.

The girl had gone to a Salvation Army meeting at 1634 North Kedzie avenue with her stepfather and her mother, Fred and Mrs. Nellie Drummond, but had left early. When they returned home they found her dead in bed. On the dresser near by lay an empty bottle that had contained a disinfectant.

Mrs. Drummond told police that Elizabeth was a sleep walker and had been suffering from a sore throat the last week. She had been taking a gargle. It was her belief, she said, that Elizabeth while walking in her sleep drank from the disinfectant bottle by mistake.

Chicago-Newark Flight Made in 3 Hours 26 Minutes

Newark, N. J., Nov. 29.—[Special.]—The first of a fleet of 28 new Douglas passenger planes being built for the United Air Lines at a cost of about $3,000,000 was flown from Chicago to Newark in 3 hours and 26 minutes [flying time] today. The flight from Cleveland to Newark was made in 1 hour and 53 minutes, the plane reaching a speed of 248 miles per hour on one leg of the voyage.

WARSHIPS LAND 103 AMERICAN REFUGEES AT PORT IN FRANCE

MARSEILLES, France, Nov. 29.—The U. S. S. Raleigh, Admiral Fairfield's flagship, together with the U. S. S. Destroyer Hatfield brought 103 American refugees from Spain to this port today, including 44 American citizens embarked at Valencia Thursday and 26 more at Barcelona yesterday, making 70 altogether.

As the Raleigh entered the harbor this morning she passed close to the Norwegian steamer, Lynghaud, loaded with arms and munitions consigned to Mexico, but which, according to the Norwegian crews, is really to be unloaded at one of the Spanish loyalist ports. The crew refused to leave Marseilles unless given assurance that Spanish loyalist warships would meet them at sea and escort them from Barcelona to other loyalist ports.

Maybe there was good reason for their desiring this escort, because about three hours after the Raleigh left Barcelona she was signaled in the dark last night by a rebel warship patrolling the Catalan coast of Spain. The rebel man of war asked the Raleigh her nationally and, after being told she was American, signaled her thanks and proceeded on her way.

BODY FOUND ON TRACKS.

Davenport, Ia., Nov. 29.—[Special.]—The mangled body of Thomas C. Howard, 24, of Clinton, Ia., was found on the D. R. I. and N. W. railroad tracks at Princeton, Ia., this morning by a railroad employé.

LEAGUE SESSION ON SPAIN SEEN AS SLIGHT TO ITALY

Doubt Rome Delegate Will Appear at Geneva.

ROME, Nov. 29.—(AP)—Authoritative Italian circles said tonight that convocation of the league of nation's council to air the Spanish civil war might become another session aimed at discrediting Italian sovereignty because it might challenge Italy's right to recognize the government of the Spanish insurgent general, Francisco Franco.

Well informed sources, which regarded sucn a move with unconcealed suspicion, said it was unlikely Italy would attend any such session.

These persons said the maneuver would be considered in Rome as similar to that by which Geneva authorities attempted to "belittle Italian prestige" by refusing to recognize her dominion over Ethiopia after Haile Selassie fled and at the same time giving him a voice in league discussions.

Reliable sources reaffirmed Italy's recognition of Gen. Franco as based on Italy's assurance that Franco represented the majority of Spanish opinion while Premier Largo Caballero was merely the "indirect functionary of the soviet comintern."

League Council Called.

GENEVA, Nov. 29.—(AP)—Secretary J. A. C. Avenol today convoked the league of nations council to discuss the Spanish Socialist government's protest on Italian and German recognition of the insurgent Gen. Francisco Franco.

Avenol sent messages to fifteen members of the league council asking them whether they preferred to meet Dec. 7 or Dec. 14 and requested replies by Dec. 1 so a definite date could be set for the meeting.

The decision was made after neutral Spaniards in Geneva, allied neither with the government of Premier Francesco Largo Caballero or with Gen. Franco, declared that the war in Spain was no longer a civil strife but a world war of political philosophies which temporarily is being fought out on Spanish soil.

Franco Might Send Delegate.

The situation would be complicated further, these observers felt, if Franco should send a delegate to the council session as a "rightful representative of Spain."

The international newspaper Journal des Nations, which urged the council session, said editorially that the Valencia government could block any plan by the council to throw the Spanish problem back into the non-intervention committee at London.

The newspaper recalled the rule that any action under article XI. of the covenant under which Caballero asked the special session required unanimity.

Thus, the newspaper pointed out, a recognized Spanish delegate could by his single negative vote upset any diplomatic subterfuge to shift the problem to another group.

French Reds Threaten to Overthrow Blum Cabinet

SAINT ETIENNE, France, Nov. 29.—(AP)—Maurice Thorez, secretary general of the French communist party, renewing demands that the French government grant what he called "commercial liberty" to Spain, tonight envisaged openly the possibility of the communists overthrowing the cabinet of Premier Leon Blum on the issue. "We declare that the fate of the People's Front is not linked to the existence of one ministry," he told a communist meeting.

WHY Mrs. Snyder's Candies are so DELICIOUS

My candies are the very FINEST that can be made. If there was any way to make them better, or any materials better than those I use, I'd use those ways and those materials. They've a deliciousness that isn't ever forgotten once you've tasted them. That is my pride.

Dizzy Spells
Come from Constipation

Your doctor will tell you that nine times out of ten dizziness and headaches mean that your body is being poisoned by constipation. Nujol prevents them by removing the cause.

Constipation is dangerous for anybody. Nujol is safe for everybody. It does not affect the stomach, and is not absorbed by the body. Medical authorities approve Nujol because it is so safe, so gentle and so natural in its action.

Nujol makes up for a deficiency of natural lubricant in the intestines. It softens the waste matter and thus permits thorough and regular bowel movements without griping.

Just try Nujol regularly for the next month and see if you don't feel better than you ever suspected you could.

Ask your druggist for Nujol.

CANADA FARMER NAMED WHEAT KING FIFTH TIME

100,000 Visit Live Stock Show in Two Days.

Herman Trelle, a farmer from Wembley in the Peace River district of Alberta, yesterday won the title of wheat king at the second day of Chicago's 37th annual International Live Stock exposition in the International amphitheater at 43d and Halsted streets in the Union stockyards. On Saturday he was named oat king. It was the fifth time that Trelle has won the grand championship on his wheat and the third such award on his oats. Once before he captured both titles in the same year.

More than 55,000 persons jammed the amphitheater yesterday to view the displays of crops and live stock. Since 45,000 attended on Saturday, the total is 100,000—breaking all records for the 37 years the live stock exposition has been held in Chicago.

Native of United States.

Trelle, who is 43 years old, took his "double kingship" modestly. Born in Idaho, he went to Canada when 4 years old, and later became a homesteader. Now he farms 700 acres and raises seeds for experts.

He has not been allowed to compete for the last three years under the show rules, because he was wheat king in 1930, 1931 and 1932. He celebrated his return to eligibility this year by walking off with both titles again.

Trelle won the wheat crown with a sample of the Reward variety of hard spring wheat. His winning entry in the oat competition was of the Victory variety. The reserve championship went to L. E. Peterson, Victor, Mont., a former wheat king.

Crowds on Hand at 7 A. M.

The doors of the exposition opened at 7 o'clock yesterday morning, and crowds were already on hand. They came to avoid the later rush and get a good look at more than 14,000 head of blooded cattle, horses, hogs, and sheep in the stock pens.

The live stock had a day off yesterday from appearances in the show ring. Judging was confined to the grain and hay division with the exception of a few classes of beef calves in the junior feeding contest that the judge did not get around to on Saturday.

Much interest centered on an unofficial entry in the sheep class. It was a sprightly young lamb born Friday to a pure bred Lincoln ewe that was entered in the show by H. M. Lee, a Canadian farmer from the province of Ontario. It was suggested that the newcomer be named "International."

Illinois County Calves Win.

Mercer county, Ill., won the county championship of the states competing for groups of three calves. Each animal is owned by a different person, and three are selected from each county. Crawford county, Ia., was second in this contest.

Illinois won the championship for a state group of ten animals. All ten were Aberdeen-Angus. Iowa came second in this division.

In the carcass on hoof classification Harold Tyner of Tipton, Md., won the championship and Michigan State college the reserve championship, both with Aberdeen-Angus steers.

Kansas State college of Manhattan, Kas., was announced yesterday as the winner of the intercollegiate live stock judging contest. A team of six senior students, coached by F. W. Bell, professor of animal husbandry, won over teams from 26 other agricultural colleges throughout the United States and Canada, taking the trophy to Kansas State for the first time since 1923.

All Regulars from Kansas.

The team was composed of Clarence L. Bell, McDonald, Kas.; Roy H. Freeland, Effingham, Kas.; Clare R. Porter, Stafford, Kas.; Wilton B. Thomas, Clay Center, Kas., and Tom Potter, Peabody, Kas., with J. A. McMurtry of Clarenden, Tex., as alternate. The team score was 4,563 points out of a possible 5,000.

C. E. Fagan, a 22 year old senior of Cornell university, Ithaca, N. Y., ranked highest as an individual judge, scoring 953 out of a possible 1,000 points. This was Cornell's first year to be represented in the judging contest since the competition was started back in 1905. The 27 colleges entering the contest this year set a new record for the event, the highest previous number being 25.

Iowa State college at Ames, Ia., won second place in the team scoring, and Purdue university of Lafayette, Ind., was third.

Nebraska First on Crops.

The University of Nebraska, Lincoln, Neb., took first prize in the intercollegiate crops judging contest. Oklahoma Agricultural and Mechanical college of Stillwater, Okla., was second, and Iowa State college, third. Eight colleges were represented.

Tennessee retained possession of the cow pea championship when Miss Bonnie Ray of Sparta, Tenn., won both the grand and reserve championships. Her sister, Mildred, took both prizes last year.

Albert C. Gohn of Emo, Canada, won the grand championship honors in both the field peas and field beans classes.

Two trained sheep dogs herded untutored sheep, brought from pens in the stockyards, in and out of "miniature corrals" in the arena. The dogs, Moss and Jean, are owned and handled by Luke Pascal of Pawling, N. Y., and Jean is considered the world's champion sheep dog.

CALIFORNIANS WAGE WAR ON STARFISH

Hundreds of citizens turned out at Laguna Beach, Cal., Saturday at low tide to kill echinoderms, or starfish, which had threatened extermination of edible mussels. Picks and tire tools were used as weapons. In this pile are more than 1,000 starfish. [Associated Press Wirephoto.]

1,485 REGISTER HERE AS 4-H VISITORS; 900 TOUR CITY IN BUSES

Nine hundred farm boys and girls from almost every state in the Union saw Chicago yesterday from buses in a huge sight-seeing tour. By nightfall more than 1,485 had registered at the Auditorium hotel for the fifteenth annual 4-H club convention, which is held in connection with the International Live Stock exposition. The previous attendance record was set last year when 1,295 were listed.

More than half of the young people, each a champion in 4-H club work in his home district, attended the religious service of the Chicago Sunday Evening club last night in Orchestra hall. Preceding the religious program the 4-H members heard a concert by the Hamilton county, Ia., 4-H band of forty pieces and the Jasper county, Ia., 4-H quartet. Dr. Harold C. Phillips, pastor of the First Baptist club of Cleveland, preached. Edward F. Wilson, president of Wilson & Co., presided.

The boys and girls will assemble tonight at the Wilson company plant for an annual dinner and announcement of the Thomas E. Wilson trophy winners in meat animal contests. Judging of their live stock and grain entries and special projects will continue today at the exposition and in the 4-H building at the stockyards.

Anshe Emet Breaks Ground for Community Center

Ground breaking ceremonies for the new $175,000 community center of Temple Anshe Emet, Pine Grove avenue and Grace street, took place yesterday morning before an assemblage of 2,500 persons, with Rabbi Solomon Goldman officiating. Last night a dinner was held in the Hotel Sherman to celebrate the building project and to honor Hyman N. Kohn, president of the synagogue.

USES CHILDREN AS AIDS IN PASSING BOGUS CHECKS

How four little children were used by their parents to defraud tavern owners in the Brighton Park police district in a bogus check game was related last night by one of the parents, Stanley Milanowski, 29 years old, 1758 Lull place, after he had surrendered to the police. His wife, Julia, 24, was arrested last Wednesday and is to be arraigned in Felony court today.

Milanowski, in telling how he and his wife operated the scheme, said that he filled out spurious pay roll checks for amounts ranging from $10 to $20, making them payable to himself. Then he would set out in a battered old car with his wife and four children, the oldest 4 years, the youngest 9 months.

He and his wife, each carrying two of the youngsters, would go into a saloon. He would order a bucket of beer and offer a check in payment. The bartender, seeing the wife and children and probably the old auto outside, would never suspect the check was bogus, and cash it, Milanowski said.

KILLED BY FUMES FROM CAR.

Evidently an accidental victim of carbon monoxide poisoning, Conrad Lindner, 41 years old, 118 East 105th street, was found dead yesterday near the exhaust pipe of his automobile in the garage at the rear of 120 East 105th street.

29 ECUADORIANS SLAIN IN REVOLT; MANY ARRESTED

Army Uprising Is Quelled After 4 Hour Battle.

QUITO, Ecuador, Nov. 29.—(AP)—It was officially announced today that 29 persons were killed and 69 wounded in the unsuccessful revolt of a regiment in the Ecuadorian army yesterday.

Many persons were arrested in the uprising including Pedro Velasco Ibarra, brother of former President Velasco Ibarra, and several unidentified foreigners. The daily newspaper El Dia was closed and its director, Ricardo Jaramillo, was imprisoned.

It was officially announced that the revolt of a section of the regiment "Calderon" was suppressed after four hours' fighting which broke out when the military high command weakened the unity of the regiment in order to frustrate what the government believed was a plot for a rebellion this week.

Sergt. Mena started the hostilities by shooting and wounding the regiment's commander, Augustin Pazmino, after he had ordered a march.

Soldiers then began firing at officials who ran out of the barracks, killing Capt. Carlos Pena Herrera, and Second Lieutenant Bolivar Herrera.

The insurgent soldiers sent emissaries seeking support of other battalions in the garrison city, but they were answered with shots from fifty civilians as well as other military units. The insurgents were surrounded and the uprising put down.

Dictator Frederico Paez issued a statement declaring the revolt entirely suppressed and promising "energetic punishment for the bad Ecuadorians who participated."

DEMANDS THAT STATE SEIZE ALL THEATER PRIZE NIGHT AWARDS

A demand by letter was made yesterday upon Attorney General Otto Kerner by Irving S. Roth, as president of the Lawyers' Legislative League of America, to seize for the state all cash prizes now being offered at theater prize nights, and to recover for the state all prizes won by theater patrons since prize drawings were established. This is possible under a forfeiture provision of the lottery laws, according to Roth.

Roth's action followed the move by the Chicago Better Business bureau to halt bank nights and Screeno. The bureau branded the prize systems as lotteries.

Roth called Attorney General Kerner's attention to Chapter 38, Section 406 of the Illinois revised statutes of 1935. This chapter provides that all prizes offered or received in violation of the lottery laws may be recovered for the state by appropriate court action filed either by the attorney general or the state's attorney. Roth asserted these prizes should be forfeited to the state, and added the opinion that prizes won by theater patrons during the last few years would be subject to recovery action.

SEEK PERMANENT CONGRESS BODIES ON CIVIL AVIATION

A program with the chief objectives of obtaining permanent civil aviation committees in both houses of congress was tentatively adopted yesterday by the executive committee of the National Aeronautics association at the opening of a three day convention in the Blackstone hotel. The program will be presented to the 400 delegates assembled here for approval today or tomorrow.

"Aviation is a force which is creating new social, economic, and political frontiers in the world," said Gill Robb Wilson, state director of aviation for New Jersey and president of the National Association of State Aviation Officials, who was spokesman for the committee members. "Aviation needs central direction. Today any one with an aviation proposal must reach 16 different bureaus in Washington."

The executive committee also voted to establish an annual award in the form of a trophy to be presented to the individual who makes the best contribution toward development of passenger travel through the stratosphere. The award would be called the Wiley Post trophy as a memorial to the gallant pilot who lost his life with the late Will Rogers when their ship crashed in Alaska.

Moving Forward

Marshall Field & Company presents here each day observations and opinions intended to be of interest and value to those it seeks to serve.

NOVICES

BY CALEB

A FIFTEEN year old boy was taking a violin lesson in a Loop studio. Two window washers paused and glanced through the studio door. One said, "They ought to give the kid a good violin." The other screwed up his face and growled: "That one's sure lousy!"

Just then the instructor, in a burst of impatience, cried, "No, no, no, no! This way—this way," and taking the instrument from the boy's hands, he started caressing the taut strings with the bow. The window washers looked at each other in amazement and despite a tight schedule of many windows ahead to be washed, stood reverently while the instructor nursed ecstatic music from the instrument.

The difference was in the players. The boy was a novice. The instrument was all right.

The master had perfected his handling of the violin. He had spent long hours in earnest application to that particular task. Patiently he had wrought his technique out of innumerable precious minutes and the passive wood and strings.

Within the boy there may be the same capacity, but it will never be realized until he, too, has paid the price of mastery.

We see a similar thing around us every day. Here is a new Marshall Field & Company employe. She has been given sufficient training to start her job. But she works a little awkwardly. She handles merchandise and her customers a little less gracefully and a little less smoothly than her veteran neighbor. In a store where there are thousands of employes, there must always be some who have not yet become finished masters of their jobs. That is no discredit to them if they have not yet had time to perfect themselves.

All those who apply themselves with the infinite patience of the music student who sets out to conquer an indifferent instrument usually become masters and hold good jobs.

It may appear to you sometimes, as it does to us in many fields, that the novices are numerous, if not predominant. That is only because they stand out against the more common superior standards of service toward which they are striving.

2 GOOD FELLOW CONFERENCES TO MAP ACTIVITIES

Speakers Will Tell Clubs of Christmas Plans.

BY PHILIP MAXWELL.

With the last of the Thanksgiving turkey eaten, Chicagoan are turning their attention to Christmas and how they can play their part in the annual Good Fellow campaign, sponsored by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE. Two Good Fellow meetings to plan these activities will be held Wednesday. The first will be at 12:15 p. m. by the Archer Road Kiwanis club, under the directorship of their Good Fellow chairman, Dr. V. E. Siedlinski, treasurer of the organization, at which Dr. J. Frank Hubert, a member of the Good Fellows speakers' bureau will speak.

The second will be a conference of the public affairs committee of the Traffic Club of Chicago at 12:30 p. m. in its rooms at the Palmer house. A. H. Schwietert, trafic expert of the Chicago Association of Commerce, will have charge of the meeting.

Other Leaders Help Out.

In addition to Dr. Hubert, other Chicagoans who have joined the Good Fellows speakers' bureau are Walter L. Darling, Helen Lochrie, one of Chicago's best known woman orators, and Dr. I. H. Holloway, recently elected "Mayor of Bronzeville," an honor bestowed on a leading citizen by the colored residents of this city.

On Friday night, Dec. 11, at 8 o'clock, Speaker Darling will address the Theta Upsilon sorority at its meeting in the Chicago College club at the request of its president, Miss Sigrid Stahl, a graduate of the University of Illinois. The young women of this alumni sorority group expect to take several baskets of food, toys, and candy to unfortunate families the day before Christmas.

Dr. Carl Anderson, another Good Fellow speaker, recently appeared before the Woman's Neighborhood club meeting in the Indian Boundary Park Community house and told the story of how the Good Fellow campaign was started by this paper back in 1909 at the suggestion of the late Edward C. Fitch.

Bureau Busy Investigating.

The Good Fellow bureau is busy these days investigating families who will receive these baskets and already nearly 100 persons have written in to THE TRIBUNE'S public service office at 1 South Dearborn street asking for the names of those who, unless some one plays Santa Claus to them, will have a dreary Christmas morning.

Although it is most interesting to those who wish to become Good Fellows to visit these headquarters, you can obtain the names of these needy families by filling in the Good Fellow coupon which accompanies this story. Any one wishing a Good Fellow speaker for an organization meeting should get in touch with the Good Fellow headquarters in Room 1418 in Tribune Tower, phone Superior 0100, local 710.

Bring in Your Friends.

Here is a plea to those who have been Good Fellows during all or a portion of the 28 years it has been in operation. Won't you get one of your friends to join you in this good work? If you could see the list of names for whom there are no Good Fellows each year you would make every effort to help find enough men and women, and children, too, who would enlist in this cause.

If you work in an office you might start a Good Fellows club, take up a collection and with this money send baskets to as many families as your fund will allow. It will cost between $3 and $5 for a basket for food and candy.

The amount spent on toys is entirely up to you. A rag doll often is a fairy queen to a little girl who won't feel the touch of the Christmas spirit unless you be Mr. Good Fellow to her.

DIES ON JOB IN PLANT.

Buenos Aires to Hail President Today.

President's stay will be given over to welcome and social formalities. President Justo will accompany Mr. Roosevelt to the American embassy. In turn Mr. Roosevelt will call at the government house at 5 p. m. with Secretary of State Hull and members of the American delegation. At 7 p. m. he will receive a group of the United States delegation to the conference, the commissioned staf of the United States government offices, and representatives of city organizations. He will dine quietly at the embassy.

On Tuesday morning Mr. Roosevelt will take an automobile drive about this skyscrapered, sprawling Chicago of the south. In the evening President Justo will call at the American embassy to escort Mr. Roosevelt to the extraordinary session in the legislative palace to open the peace conference which the President initiated. President Roosevelt and President Justo will open the twenty day conference at 6 p. m. [4 p. m. central standard time].

In the evening there will be a formal dinner at the government house for Mr. Roosevelt. It will be followed by a reception for convention delegates.

On Wednesday Mr. Roosevelt will give a luncheon at the American embassy in honor of President Justo and his wife. Two hours later he will board the Indianapolis for the 8,000 mile homeward journey as a salesman for the good neighbor policy.

The President will make a brief stop at Montevideo, the Uruguayan capital, on Thursday morning.

AUTO CRASHES AN EMBANKMENT; FOUR ARE KILLED

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 30 [Monday].—(AP)—Four persons were killed and another injured critically early today when their automobile crashed into a railroad elevation on a four lane highway west of here.

Two of the dead were identified as Mr. and Mrs. Robert Yohler of Indianapolis. Identity of the other persons was not determined immediately.

The car was wrapped around a pier of the elevation by the force of the crash and it was necessary to pry it loose in order to remove the dead and injured. Two were killed instantly, while the others died a few minutes later.

The automobile skidded as it approached the elevation and then struck the abutment.

Reserve Army Flyer Dies as Plane Falls and Crashes

Menlo Park, Cal., Nov. 29.—(AP)—A. S. Gregory, 42, reserve army flyer and San Francisco newspaper man, was killed today when his plane crashed as he apparently tried a forced landing. The plane burst into flame when it struck a vacant lot.

Earthquake Is Reported in Southern California

Los Angeles, Cal., Nov. 30 [Monday].—(AP)—A slight earthquake, rattling windows but doing no damage, was reported in the vicinity of Bell, between this city and Long Beach, late last night.

French Army Morale Never Higher, War Chief Boasts

[Copyright: 1936: By the New York Times.]

PARIS, Nov. 29.—"The army's equipment has never been better and its morale was never higher," Minister of War Edouard Daladier said today in a speech at Neubourg. Referring to the German-Japanese pact and the "introduction of Asia into European quarrels," he insisted there was no need for panic. "We are Pacific," he said "but we shall never beg for peace. Nor shall we bow before any threat of force."

SALVADOR QUAKE DRIVES PEOPLE TO OPEN FIELDS

[Copyright: 1936: By the New York Times.]

SALVADOR, Nov. 29.—El Salvador has been shaken by an almost continuous series of earthquakes since midnight Thursday and hundreds of inhabitants have left their houses seeking refuge in plazas and fields in fear of a major catastrophe.

The severest shocks have been felt in the department of La Paz and churches and other buildings have been damaged at San Vicente.

The national observatory registered twenty-five quakes in eight hours between 11 o'clock last night and 9 this morning, all of considerable intensity. Observatory authorities believe the shocks originate from the volcano San Vicente.

Many people think, however, that the center is in Lake Ilopango because of a sudden, inexplicable rise of its waters.

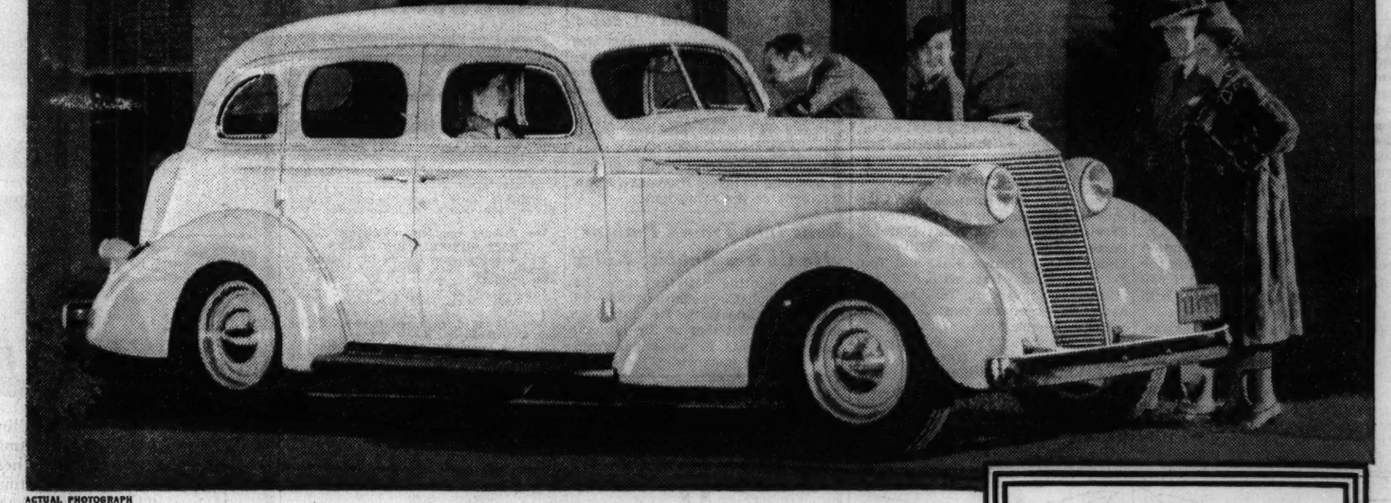
1937 STUDEBAKER
challenges all cars in gas economy!



ACTUAL PHOTOGRAPH

STUDEBAKER DEFLATES GAS MILEAGE CLAIMS!

STUDEBAKER cars have made magnificent records in gasoline economy—24.27 miles to the gallon in the 1936 Gilmore Economy Run; 27.46 miles to the gallon under supervision of the American Automobile Association on Bonneville Salt Flats.

But you don't care about records achieved under special circumstances. You want to know what good, bad and indifferent drivers get under average conditions!

O. K. We will tell you!

Studebaker hired Facts, Incorporated, of New York, a business research organization, to question 500 owners of each of the ten most popular makes of automobiles (1936 models). Each driver was asked: "What gasoline mileage do you get?"

The best showing was made by Studebaker. Owners of the Dictator, with overdrive, testified to an average of 18.166 miles per gallon. Even the most popular lightest weight, lowest priced cars used more gas per mile.

Without overdrive, the Studebaker Dictator showed 17.199 miles per gallon—which is better than one of the two most popular, lowest priced cars. With the sensational new Fram oil cleaner the oil economy of the 1937 Studebaker is equally outstanding.

STUDEBAKER'S CHALLENGE!

No other standard make of car can beat the gas mileage of the Dictator equipped with automatic overdrive in the hands of the average driver under ordinary conditions.

SMASHED 'L' CAR BUILT 38 YEARS AGO, QUIZ SHOWS

Engineers Study Technical Details of Wreck.

Engineers of the Chicago Rapid Transit company continued yesterday their inquiry into the crash between a North Shore train and an elevated lines express last Tuesday in which ten passengers were killed and 58 persons injured. They expected to complete their report some time this week.

In their technical study of the equipment involved in the accident at the Granville station, the engineers have looked into the record of the wooden rear car of the elevated train in which all those killed and all except one of the injured were riding. While their data have not been made public, a previous study of elevated equipment reveals some of the history of the car.

Relic of Spanish War Days.

City hall records on the payment of an annual $50 license fee for each elevated car showed that the wrecked car was No. 1164. This car was 38 years old, having been purchased in 1898. It was one of 100 wooden cars bought at that time from the Pullman company.

Available records did not show the cost of the car, but only that it was carried at one time—the date unknown—on the company's books at a valuation of $6,983.12.

Van R. Grooms, motorman of the North Shore train, probably will be confined to the St. Francis hospital in Evanston for another week, according to his attending physician, Dr. Charles P. McGarry.

The physician said Grooms is in some pain from infection in wounds caused by glass splinters, but his mental condition is improving. Grooms is under police guard and will be kept in technical custody if released from the hospital before Dec. 15 when the coroner's inquest into the ten deaths is to resume.

Quiz Every Person Concerned.

Coöperating in the elevated company's inquiry are engineers of the city and the Illinois and Interstate commerce commissions. They are expected to continue today their questioning of all elevated and North Shore employés who had anything to do with the equipment before it went on the fatal run and while it was in service.

A further meeting will be held tomorrow morning at the offices of the Illinois commerce commission at 1 North La Salle street to which Mayor Kelly and officials of the North Shore and elevated companies have been invited by James M. Slattery, commission chairman. The meeting has been called, Mr. Slattery said, to discuss means of preventing further accidents on the elevated lines.

Members of the city council committee on local transportation also will attend. This committee met Saturday, but was informed then by its counsel that matters of the character and degree of service on the elevated fall within the jurisdiction of the commerce commission. The committee, however, may make recommendations to the commission.

Safety Expert Interviewed.

The wreck formed the basis of an interview on Safety in Public Transportation carried over W-G-N yesterday morning in which Prof. A. R. Hatton of Northwestern university questioned Sidney J. Williams, director of public safety of the national safety council.

Mr. Williams pointed out that 25 persons were killed in Chicago automobile accidents in the same week that the ten were killed in the elevated crash, indicating that safety on the highways still is the greater problem. He also contrasted the "very small number" of deaths in steam and electric railroad accidents with the 37,000 annual automobile toll.

Problems Quite Comparable.

Basically, the safety problems of railroads and highways are the same, Mr. Williams pointed out. The safety record of railroads, he said, results from years of safety work on equipment and in training and disciplining their employés. What is needed for the human element on the highways is a driver's license law to provide discipline.

"Wherever there is travel at high speeds," Mr. Williams commented, "that travel should be surrounded with every possible safeguard."

Father of Two

A check for $7,500 was turned over last week to the widow of a holder of a Tribune accident insurance policy who was killed in the elevated wreck last Tuesday.

The $7,500 was paid to Mrs. Pauline Larson, 6333 North Talman avenue, whose husband, Roy F. Larson, was one of the first of ten victims to die as a result of the crash. Two children were left fatherless. Mr. Larson, an employé of the U. S. Gypsum company obtained the protection of the Tribune insurance on Aug. 4 when a TRIBUNE representative called at his home. It had been in effect 112 days prior to his death.

The face value of the policies increase 10 per cent each year until a maximum of $11,250 is reached. The policies are sold only to TRIBUNE subscribers on terms described in the coupon on page 3 of this edition.

The beneficiaries of three other TRIBUNE subscribers who carried the accident policies and who died in the wreck are to receive death benefits. In addition a number of the injured who carried the policies are to receive benefits.

Poisoning by Mushrooms Blamed for Death of Two

An autopsy is scheduled for today to determine definitly the cause of the deaths of Carl Grigat, 45 years old, 710 East 36th street, and his sister-in-law, Mrs. Elsie Miller, 40 years old, of St. Louis. Both died early yesterday, apparently of poisoning by mushrooms the Grigat family picked in Indiana last September and preserved.

MORMON 'STAKE,' OR DIOCESE, SET UP IN CHICAGO

Takes in Rockford and Milwaukee.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

The 118th "stake" of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints [Mormon] was established in Chicago yesterday afternoon at a service conducted by Heber J. Grant of Salt Lake City, president of the church. The ceremony took place in the old University branch chapel at 6111 Kenwood avenue, now to be known as the University Ward church.

Unit of Church Structure.

A "stake" in the Mormon church is an ecclesiastical unit comparable to a diocese and is headed by a president. It is made up of wards, each under a bishop.

The Chicago stake contains five wards and covers a triangle whose corners are formed by Chicago, Milwaukee, and Rockford. It includes 2,000 members. Its temporary headquarters will be set up at the Logan Square chapel, 2555 Sawyer avenue, with W. A. Matheson, 3707 Lunt avenue, as president.

Choose Three Bishops Here.

Three of the five bishops in the Chicago stake were named yesterday: Dr. Ariel S. Williams, 5331 Bernard street, for the Logan Square ward; George C. Harris, 7007 Clyde avenue, for the University ward, and Austin Gudmundson for the Milwaukee ward. Three wards are within the Chicago city limits.

President Grant in his address at the service on the south side recalled the expulsion of 16,000 Mormons from Nauvoo in Illinois and from other central western states ninety years ago, which prompted the establishment of the church in Utah.

"No tongue can tell nor artist paint the sufferings of Latter Day Saints in their expulsion from Illinois and Missouri, nor their betrayal," said President Grant.

WOMAN BURNS TO DEATH.

Murray, Ky., Nov. 29.—(AP)—Miss Effie Smith burned to death in a fire which destroyed a 21 room frame apartment house here early today. Aroused by her screams, 14 families escaped from the building.

AUTHORIZE EIGHT ADDITIONAL CCC WOMEN'S CAMPS

Washington, D. C., Nov. 29.—(AP)—With seven educational camps already functioning for unemployed young women, the National Youth administration today said that the establishment of eight other "women's CCC camps" had been authorized.

These are expected to be in operation within the next two weeks at Chepachet, R. I.; Thornsberg and Pine Bluff, Ark.; Tampa and St. Augustine, Fla.; Mexico, Mo., and at an undetermined site in South Dakota.

There will be about 100 women at each camp. All have the status of NYA workers, earning their subsistence and $5 a month. The NYA program calls for establishment of a maximum of fifty such camps.

The camps carry on such work as making hospital supplies, transcription of books into Braille, making and repairing toys for children's institutions, and working in the tree nurseries of the national forest service. The overall cost of the program is estimated at $39 a month for each girl.

JAPAN CALLS FOR ARMY EQUAL TO THAT OF RUSSIA

Claims Force Is Needed to "Prevent War."

TOKIO, Nov. 29.—(AP)—Japan, joined with Germany in a pledge against communism, made known today her desire to build quickly an army equal to that of soviet Russia.

The huge armament is necessary, the war office declared, to "prevent war and to hold Japan's life line on the [Asiatic] continent" against both China and Russia.

A pamphlet setting forth the war ministry's ambitions was avowedly intended to prepare the nation for large scale increases in the country's armaments—almost half of the 1936-37 budget appropriation approved last week by cabinet was for armaments. The army was given $205,000,000 and the navy $194,480,000.

Plan to Enlarge Navy.

Japan, through Admiral Osami Nagano, minister of marine, announced yesterday that the navy also will be enlarged as soon as parliament approves the new budget estimates.

"Consideration of the military strengths of the soviet union and China shows that Japan's continental armaments, so important for national defense, are extremely inadequate," the war office pamphlet said. "Both to prevent war and to hold Japan's life line on the continent replenishment of military armaments is a matter of urgent necessity.

"The far eastern strength of the soviet union in time of peace is fifteen divisions of infantry, 1,000 or so airplanes, divided into more than 100 air units and about 1,000 tanks. In addition, the soviets have constructed impregnable fortresses on the border and are in a position to pounce on Manchukuo at a moment's notice, glaring across the frontier with the eyes of a tiger.

Calls Garrison Weak.

"And what is the strength of the Japanese garrison in Manchukuo? Numerically it is only a third or a fourth of the soviet, and it has but a fraction of the soviet planes and tanks. With this weak strength Japan is patroling a border extending 5,000 kilometers, maintaining peace and order in an area equivalent to France and Germany together and guarding railways extending 10,000 kilometers. [A kilometer is equivalent to 3,280 feet.]

"In a possible future war enemy planes can be expected, immediately on its outbreak, to attempt air raids on Tokio and the principal military and munitions bases of the country. Were Japan to lack the strength to resist these air raids at the very outset it would be placed on the defensive and ultimately be defeated. Along with adequacy of land forces, therefore, the air force must be equal to that which the soviet union can bring to the far east in wartime.

"It must not be ignored, moreover, that the American army and navy have 4,000 planes and that the Chinese have an air force of 850 planes.

Points to Other Armies.

"There are also the four divisions of the Finnish army the three of the Estonian, the three of the Latvian, and thirty of the Polish and the twenty-one of the Rumanian, totaling sixty-one divisions, which the soviets must provide against along their borders. Nor can they forget the thirty-six German divisions in the rear. Even to keep peace and order at home requires a considerable force.

"Though far advanced, there is a limit to the capacity of soviet industry. The number of youths the army can recruit is also restricted. Infinite armament is impossible.

"In the event of an arms race with Russia there will be nothing to fear, therefore, if the Japanese maintain their strength and spirit."

There are now 12,000 airplanes for war in "capitalist" countries, he continued, and predicted that within the next two years there would be 18,000.

"That is a terrible figure," Krhipin continued. "If during the whole world war Germany dumped on England, France, and Russia 27,000 tons of bombs, today this amount would be transported in five flights.

"If the planes of German Fascists threaten our country, woe unto them. For the soviets will unleash all its war weapons against them."

From Andrei A. Zhdanov, Leningrad party leader, came the warning to Baltic countries to steer clear of Fascist intrigues against Russia.

"We in Leningrad are sitting at one of the windows looking abroad," he said. "Around us are a number of small countries which dream of big adventures or allow big adventurers to manipulate on their small territories."

As an example, Zhdanov named Finland which he said "Offers herself as a springboard for Fascism."

Points to Red Army.

"We are not afraid of little countries, of course," he said. "But if they do not mind their own business we may be compelled to open our window a little wider, and it will be just too bad for them if we are forced to call the Red army into defensive action."

Observers coupled this with repeated warnings by Commissar of War Voroshilov that the Red army will meet the enemy "on territory from which he comes," and interpreted Zhdanov's remarks as a warning to Finland and other Baltic states that they will be the battleground if war should be declared against the soviet union.

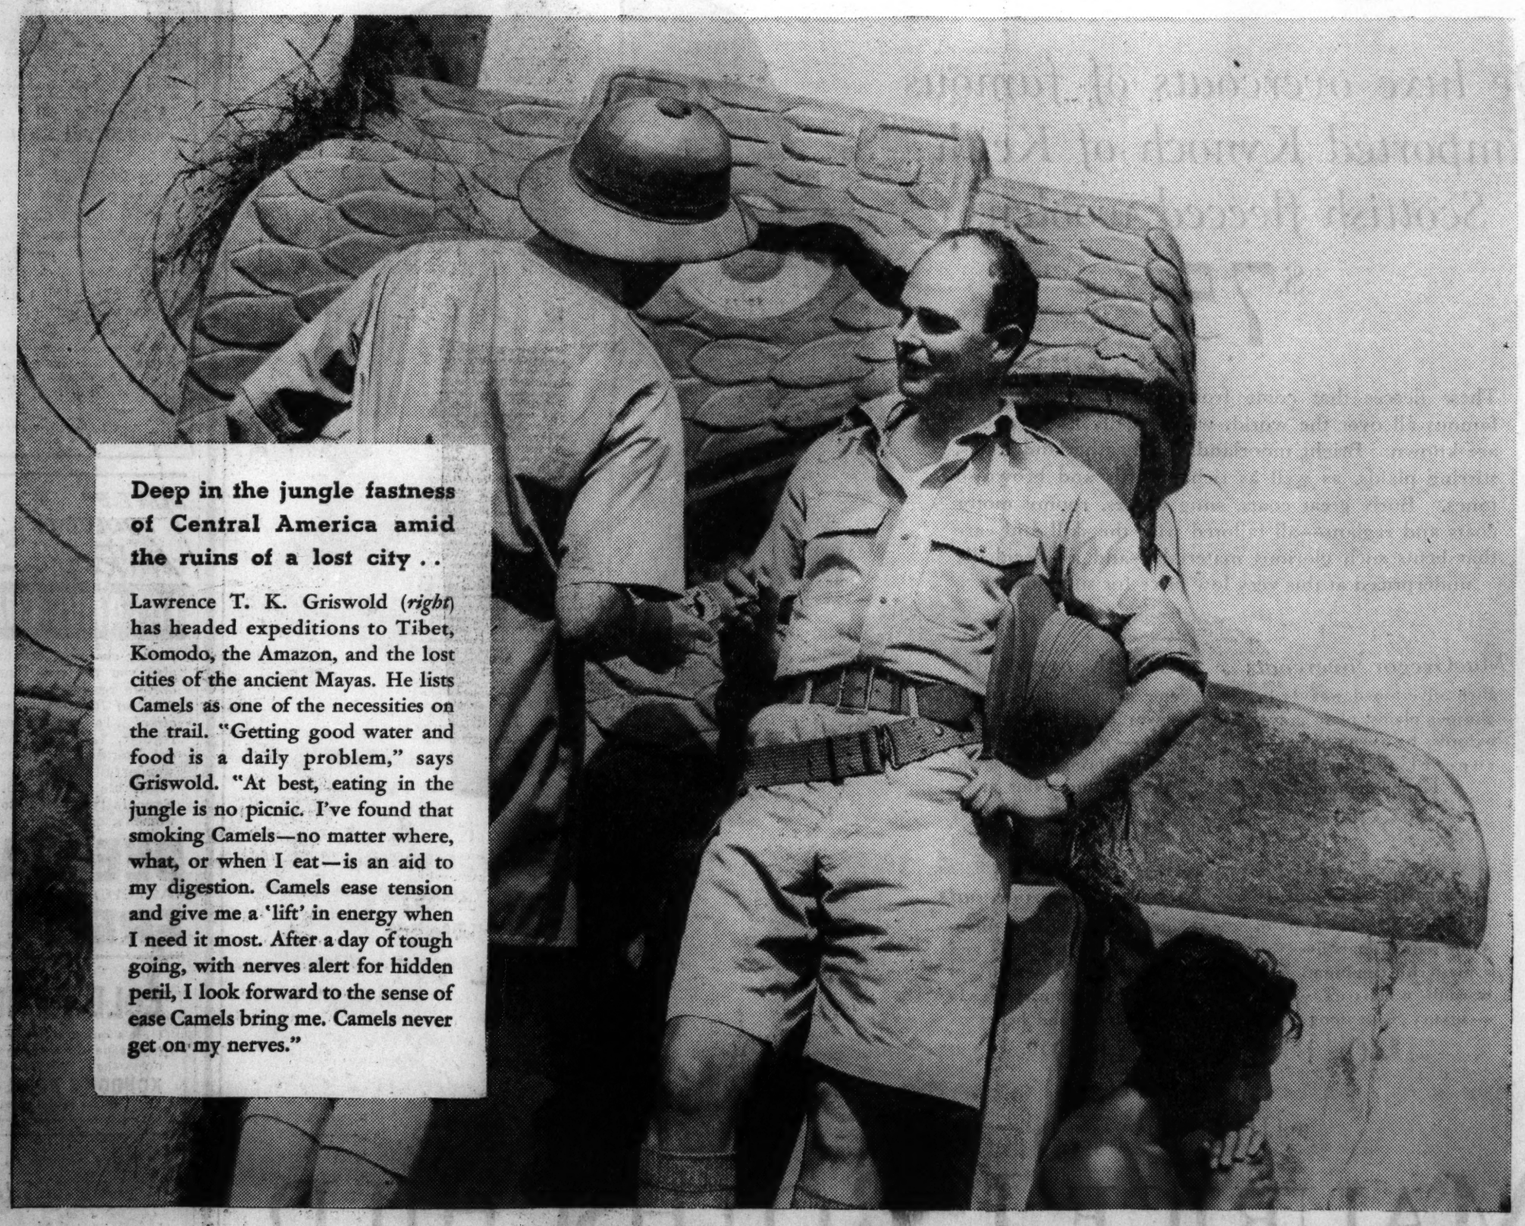
—For Digestion's Sake ...Smoke Camels

Good digestion helps bring a sense of well-being and contentment

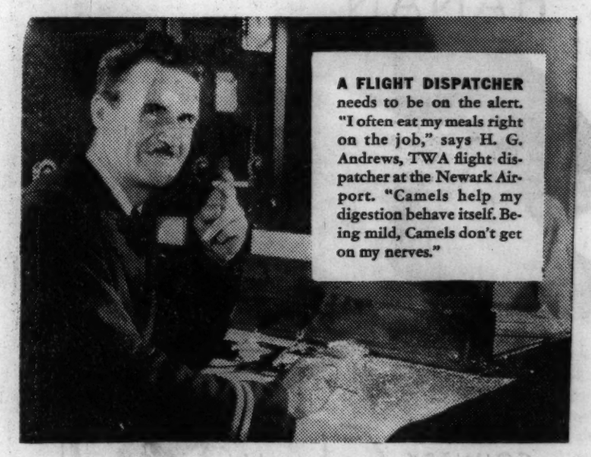
THE delightful effect of smoking Camels with your meals and afterwards has been proved again and again in the great laboratory of human experience. Explorers, champion athletes, people in hazardous outdoor work, as well as millions of men and women in homes and offices, find that Camels get digestion off to a good start and make the perfect ending to a meal. When you enjoy Camels, you are rewarded with an increased flow of digestive fluids—alkaline digestive fluids—so important to good digestion. And you can enjoy Camels as often as you like. Throughout the day, get an invigorating "lift" in energy with a Camel! Camels don't get on your nerves or irritate your throat.



Deep in the jungle fastness of Central America amid the ruins of a lost city . .

Lawrence T. K. Griswold (right) has headed expeditions to Tibet, Komodo, the Amazon, and the lost cities of the ancient Mayas. He lists Camels as one of the necessities on the trail. "Getting good water and food is a daily problem," says Griswold. "At best, eating in the jungle is no picnic. I've found that smoking Camels—no matter where, what, or when I eat—is an aid to my digestion. Camels ease tension and give me a 'lift' in energy when I need it most. After a day of tough going, with nerves alert for hidden peril, I look forward to the sense of ease Camels bring me. Camels never get on my nerves."

THIS CO-ED SAYS: "Camels set me right! Mental work often has an effect on digestion too," adds Miss Josephine O'Neill. "During meals Camels are a big aid to digestion. After meals they make food seem twice as good."



A FLIGHT DISPATCHER needs to be on the alert. "I often eat my meals right on the job," says H. G. Andrews, TWA flight dispatcher at the Newark Airport. "Camels help my digestion behave itself. Being mild, Camels don't get on my nerves."

ASSEMBLY MEETS TO EXTEND SALES TAX TOMORROW

Second Special Session Reconvenes at 8 P. M.

Illinois legislators will return to Springfield tomorrow, opening sessions of both houses at 8 p. m. The main objective of this resumption of the 59th general assembly's second special session is to extend the state sales tax at the rate of 3 per cent, thus continuing the state's contribution of $3,000,000 monthly to relief.

One-third of the retailers' occupational tax [sales tax] is used solely for relief. Without an extension, the tax would be reduced on Dec. 31 to 2 per cent, the amount now paid into the general revenue fund.

Utility Tax for Relief Only.

The 3 per cent tax on utility sales, all of which is devoted to relief, automatically drops to 2 per cent on Jan. 1, and the lesser amount after that date would be diverted into the general revenue fund.

Bills have been drawn extending both the retailers' occupational tax and the utility tax at 3 per cent for six months.

A third measure would extend the life of the Illinois Emergency Relief commission until July 1.

Changes Are Possible.

Chicago legislators were not certain yesterday that last minute changes might not be made in the bills. They also were uncertain whether lame ducks in the legislature and the minority Republican members would object to the six months' term.

The argument has been made, they said, that extension of the tax to July 1 would relieve the 60th general assembly, which convenes on Jan. 6, from the weight of an immediately pressing relief problem. The new legislature, it was said, then could give thought to a long range treatment of the relief financing problem.

SABATH HEARINGS ON BANKRUPTCY TO RESUME TODAY

Hearings in the congressional investigation of bankruptcy reorganizations are to resume at 10 o'clock this morning in room 706 of the United States courthouse and are to continue every day this week, according to J. L. Tupy, chief investigator for the committee. The committee is headed by Representative A. J. Sabath of Chicago.

Among the first witnesses to be called today, according to Mr. Tupy, are Dayton Keith, chairman of the American Bond and Mortgage company, and Harry M. Lubliner, former president of Lubliner & Trintz, theatrical magnates. Mr. Tupy said the committee wishes information concerning the reorganization proceedings of the Harding theater, 2700 Milwaukee avenue.

On tomorrow's list of witnesses appear the names of David M. Milton, son-in-law of John D. Rockefeller Jr., president of the Equity Corporation of New York, and Walter W. Head, former president of the Foreman State National bank.

Mr. Tupy said that after disposing of several theater reorganizations the congressmen will devote their attention to the refinancing of several insurance companies.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT'S MISSION OF PEACE.

President Roosevelt's visit to the South Americas and his speech in Rio de Janeiro prove to be signal achievements in peaceable, democratic statesmanship. The western hemisphere is at peace. Mr. Roosevelt, recently reëlected in a manner attributing much to his personal popularity, is at the moment one of the few world personalities not talking in terms of war and frightfulness.

The western hemisphere was designed by its settlers to escape the unfortunate inheritance of Europeans whose centuries of conflict have defeated the best ambitions of the average man and have served the purposes of arrogance and power.

On other continents men whose word is law or men whose decisions may be fateful are either terrifying humanity by their threats and their projects or, on the better side, they are wondering how they may circumvent the aggressors and keep the people from another war.

Not even before 1914 was so much irresponsible violence preached so religiously as it is in Europe today. The cult of the despot is predominant and it is no mitigation that the autocrats are of what Europe would regard as lowly origin.

Mr. Roosevelt, President of a great republic because the people of his nation peaceably elected him, went south to talk peace and nonaggression. Apparently he caught the emotions of the people of the southern republics and made valid in their understanding the thesis that the United States, although able, it hopes, to defend itself, has no part or parcel of the ideas prevailing where might is regarded as the right to act as imperious men desire to act.

Even in Europe there might be an echo of the rejoicing in the Americas, which rightfully feel that at least in peaceable relations they have traveled farther along the road of civilization than the older peoples from whom they sprang.

THREEFOLD BENEFITS.

Looking over the schedules of the modern railway passenger trains it is somewhat difficult to realize that a few years ago the zenith of a superintendent's ambition was to move each train over his hundred mile division within eight hours. Many officials still living can recall when 100 miles was established as the equivalent of eight hours' work to secure the coöperation of the trainmen in maintaining an average speed of 12½ miles per hour! Once established, the inducement persisted to place the locomotive engineers of the fast trains in a class with airplane pilots.

In an interesting discussion of the subject the Railway Age notes that on the Hiawatha's run between La Crosse and Minneapolis two engine crews work 102½ hours a month and are paid $285.69 for the engineers and $219.89 for the firemen for just slightly less than 3½ hours a day. Between Milwaukee and La Crosse there are three crews, so that each works only twenty days in a thirty day month. Time on duty, not only while the train is running but also in terminals, is about ninety-six hours a month, for which the engineers receive $268.82 and the firemen $203.06 a month for less than five hours per day with every third day off.

On the Illinois Central's streamlined Green Diamond, which negotiates the 300 mile run from Chicago to St. Louis in slightly less than five hours, engine crews are changed at Clinton, Ill., the half-way point. The two crews working on the northern end, between Chicago and Clinton, put in ninety hours a month and receive $310.50 for the engineers and $210.84 for the "firemen"—who, with the Diesel engine furnishing the power, have become the equivalent of copilots in the air service. Between Clinton and St. Louis the engineers are on duty 122 hours a month and receive $334.65, while the "co-pilots," who work but 107 hours, are paid $217.60 a month.

Admittedly, an assignment to one of these crack trains is one of the "plums" of railroading, but the runs are getting more numerous every day and there are notable extensions to freight services. THE TRIBUNE'S campaign for faster passenger service has produced threefold results. The patron has been given a swifter and more comfortable ride, the railway managements have found satisfaction and profit in full trains, and the men, with increased responsibility, are given rewards for seniority and faithful service.

THE REAL McCOY.

Dr. Percy Fridenberg of New York had his curiosity aroused by the repetition of a phrase Al Smith, among others, often uses, and asked the former governor to explain what was meant under the brown Derby when the expression "the real McCoy" was used.

Smith said that the locution arose from the oracular habits of a man of the Bowery many years ago whose name was McCoy and who always had the inside story on everything; hence the real McCoy was the lowdown on any event.

If that's the origin it shatters a more picturesque tradition. Some forty years ago Kid McCoy, the bomber of his time and weight, did a thriving circuit business in the hinterlands between his big fights, packing the local opera houses by offering a hundred dollars to any native of the region who could stand in the ring three rounds with him. His bookings were so numerous that his managers had to put out additional road companies, as it were. The number of McCoys appearing simultaneously in such contests throughout the country became fabulous and not without the growth of a good deal of skepticism as to what McCoy any one touring McCoy might be. Hence each gathering of local sporting gentry required considerable persuasion before a McCoy would be accepted as the real McCoy.

The antiquarians should go to work on Al Smith's version to find out whether he has got the true one. The real McCoy is worth finding. Any real McCoy is.

PAROLE REFORM.

Hope of getting something promptly done in correction of the scandalous conditions of parole is brightened by evidence that leading members of the assembly are interested in this badly needed reform and will take definite action. Senator Ward, able and influential leader of the Democratic majority in the senate, and Representative Schnackenberg, the equally able and forceful leader of the Republican minority in the house, will introduce and support similar legislation in their respective chambers, an encouraging sign that affiliation may not divide leadership in this effort.

Representative Schnackenberg will introduce in the house an amendment to the present indeterminate sentence law giving power to the courts to fix maximum and minimum sentences in criminal cases, a change which experienced judicial opinion strongly urges. The measure will also make mandatory public hearings on parole petitions, and prohibiting the granting of more than one parole to serious offenders. Senator Ward will introduce similar measures in the senate.

Desirable as these changes seem to be and welcome as they are as evidence that assembly leadership recognizes the need for prompt action on parole, we repeat our urgent recommendation that the problem be dealt with comprehensively and fundamentally. A correction of this or that flagrant weakness is not enough. There is ample material available from which a thorough reform can be formulated, and a committee competent to formulate it can easily be created.

The advantage of this seems to us unquestionable. Piecemeal correction is more than likely to be disappointing. It often overlooks fundamental weaknesses which will defeat its intention. The parole situation calls for comprehensive correction, and the public, we are confident, demands it. A committee composed of men like Senator Ward and Representative Schnackenberg, to represent the legislative viewpoint and influence, with judges and special students of crime conditions and penal administration could formulate a thoroughgoing reform which the press and public would support. Good citizenship would have something sound and definite to rally to and the influences which are interested in preserving the present situation would not prevail.

AFFRONTS TO THE NAZIS.

A new way of offending a nation and creating an international incident has been found. The Nazi foreign office has instructed the minister to Norway to express Germany's utter astonishment at the decision of the Norwegian parliamentary committee awarding the Nobel peace prize to Carl von Ossietzky, the German pacifist who was held three years under health breaking treatment in a Nazi concentration camp.

The German protest says the award was a deliberate and offensive provocation and serves notice that Germany reserves the right to take suitable action. A German was honored and Germany was insulted. He was not the sort of a German the Nazis desired to honor.

In Russia a German mining engineer, who confessed to taking part in a conspiracy to wreck a mine, was sentenced to death, but on protests from Berlin has been spared. His Russian associates faced the firing squad, but the German was given a ten year sentence in prison.

If the mining engineer had been given an award of merit and if the pacifist had been sentenced to death the verdicts would have been regarded by the Nazis as just and satisfactory. What retaliation can be visited upon a nation which offends by honoring a dishonored citizen of another? What are the proper steps to be taken? Germany might seek out Norway's public enemy No. 1 and confer something handsome on him. Thereupon a vista of delicate possibilities would be opened.

The next time Mussolini did not like the tone of a British note he would confer a decoration on Sir Oswald Mosley, the British Fascist who is regarded as London's chief nuisance. And the next time we put on the high hat Al Capone might be astonished by being elevated to an honor which would raise his depressed spirits.

Editorial of the Day

CHANGING THE BASIC LAW.

[Detroit News.]

Not the least interesting of election aftermaths was the decision of New York voters to call a state constitutional convention, a proposal which was not advocated or opposed either, for that matter, by any interest or group of citizens.

The proposition on the ballot was purely formal, the state constitution of 1916 having provided that every 20 years the question of having a constitutional revision automatically should be put to the voters.

So far as any one knows, the voters simply assumed from the appearance of the question on the ballot that some good reason must exist for calling a convention. At any rate they voted for it overwhelmingly and the convention must soon assemble.

This result in itself seems to condemn the provision of the 1916 constitution as unwise. Those who framed it evidently thought that in 20 years constitutional defects surely would develop that would need reforming. Yet this was not the case, even though the voters now have thoughtlessly called a convention anyway.

What will ensue is, of course, a question that again is up to the voters. The chances are, however, that, with the convention called, various ill matured proposals now will arise and have an excellent chance of adoption.

The incident proves to us once more that provisions for change in the fundamental law of any government should be, though readily workable, still hedged around with precautions against hasty and ill considered action. Certainly the machinery for change should not be arranged to operate semi-automatically or perfunctorily.

There are ample reasons on these same grounds for tightening up the Michigan provisions for constitutional amendment by popular initiative. This democratic procedure is valuable but the means by which it now may be set in motion for trivial and half baked amendments is entirely too perfunctory.

ED HAD EVERYTHING.

I have known but one master cook, Ed Toler. Some years ago Charley Schwab was wildcatting for ore in Death Valley and stopped at Ed's desert shack. There he was offered his choice of pork, beef, or chicken, and decided on pork. That evening he sat down to a sumptuous dinner, which he enjoyed greatly. In the morning he expressed astonishment at being fed fresh meat when there was no refrigeration and no visible supply. He had eaten Mountain Canary a la Toler—no one could cook a young burro like Ed. If Charley reads this he will learn for the first time how it was done—and no one will enjoy it more than he. He's that sort. Don Juan de Los Angeles

EIGHTY THOUSAND hunters roamed through the Wisconsin woods last week, seeking deer to slay. In 1934 final returns showed that nine hunters and 21,000 deer gave up their lives during the open season. We breathe the gentle hope that the slaughter of hunters and hunted was not so great this year.

TAX RATE 1,000 PER CENT.

Just returned from the old home state, Texas, where some of my friends [hard shelled Democrats, it goes without saying] are beginning to worry about the tax situation. The stub of my ticket to the S. M. U.-Arkansas football game read: "Admission 20 cents—Tax $2." Some of the natives said they were sure it was a misprint, but others thought maybe the game had been declared a public utility. J. W. Mother Malone Of Ulster.

In her rude little whitewashed hut of stone
By her fire of peat, sits Mother Malone—
In her hut that nestles beside the road
To quaint Ballymoney. A rude abode
With clean bare walls and an earthen floor,
And only one window, and only one door.
But the window lets floods of soft sunshine in,
And the door swings open to kith and kin,
And there are six pigs and a Kerry cow
And what more could Mother Malone desire?
What more, indeed, but the pot of tea
That simmers and sings perpetually
On the cozy hearth, to be shared by all
The clansmen who pay her a friendly call.

Old Ulster of Erin! Her native land,
So fertile forever, so verdant and grand,
With its mellow mountains that gently rise
From the shadowy glens to the sunny skies,
With its tiny pastures of emerald sheen,
Hemmed round with low hedges of olive green.
And watched and approvingly looked upon
By forests, where fairy and leprechaun
Revel each night till the fall of dew,
And all the old legends and myths are true;
Where dreams, like those that were yours and mine,
That Time has made us long since resign,
Abide, more sweet in the dusk of the years,
And chastened, but never washed out, by tears.

To Mother Malone in her crude little cot
I sigh a good-by; but my heart aches not
For her in her hut, safely guarded by
The mountains that bask in the smile of the sky:
Not for Mother Malone, but her sons and daughters
Who left her to voyage on westward waters;
Who huddle and swelter in dark tenements,
Or, spurning the like, have adventured thence
On the lonely prairies, afar, to fare
Where fields grow desolate, brown, and bare;
Where the cruel sun and the south wind's breath
Bring life no more to the plains, but death,
And the nights drag slowly from dusk to dawn,
And there's never a fairy nor leprechaun.

IT'S OUT FRIDAY.

Well, I've got it! The new 1936 Linebook I mean, and am I satisfied! I will admit that I was a wee bit anxious, for after all the Line has a new conductor and I was afraid he might not have learned all the signals. But my worry was for nought, as the 1936 model of the Linebook is a honey; from the somewhat audacious cover to the final page it is everything a well turned out Linebook should be. I have so many friends, former residents of Chicago, who look forward to receiving the Linebook from me as a Christmas greeting and I know they will receive it this year with a laugh for the cover and a sigh because it has only sixty-four pages. BASIL ZAHAROFF'S death recalls that other man of European financial mystery, Ivar Kreuger. Back in the pre-depression days, along with some other news beagles, we interviewed Mr. Kreuger. One young lady present insisted that the interviewee answer when she asked: "What would you advise a young man to do if he wants to get rich?" After thinking that over, the match king said: "He might marry a rich woman." This wasn't so bad—formally interviewing the great is a dull chore—and a much better prescription for wealth gathering than forging Italian bonds.

WILL CLIMATE CURE TUBERCULOSIS?

WHEN a family is suddenly confronted with the rather disconcerting news that tuberculosis has fastened itself upon one of the household, the question arises, where and under what circumstances can recovery be made best? While there is no particular spot in the world which is positively curative, nevertheless there are some advantages in placing these patients under expert control at some distance from their homes.

Many individuals will not do well if they are in close contact with home affairs. Interest is maintained in the doings of family, friends, and business associates, and there is thus sustained a type of mental alertness which is not conducive to absolute rest. On the other hand, if the patient is a few hundred miles away, coöperation with the rest program is more easily achieved.

There has grown up, however, in the public mind the idea that air laden with the odor of pines, or a very dry air, or a very warm atmosphere is essential, and all too frequently victims of the disease, poorly supplied with funds, will find themselves in some well known resort receiving inadequate care. They may then wonder why healing does not come.

A change of surroundings is sometimes beneficial, particularly if it is to a location in which the sick person is happy, contented, and comfortable. Cases have been reported in which the best type of sanitarium care proved unavailing, but when the patient was transferred to a section where he had longed to live or to visit, improvement proceeded apace.

Every now and then some one with a mild infection will journey to a remote spot and rough it in a cabin in a mountain canyon. This may be termed the "ordeal cure." Those with great powers of resistance will get well; the majority will not unless the lesion is slight. I have known of many patients chafing under sanitarium routine who have sacrificed their lives through just such a venture.

More depends upon comfort than climate; more upon good food than fresh air; and far more upon rest. If one has to wait upon himself, even partially, the value of all healing factors may be dissipated quickly.

But high elevations are not an unmixed blessing. If the disease is active, with the patient running an afternoon temperature of 100 or above, it is unwise on the whole to subject him to a long train journey to the mountains, particularly if there is appreciable difficulty in breathing. The rarefied air will only increase the symptom. This is also true if there is any dilation of the air sacs [emphysema] or asthmatic manifestation.

Sea voyages were advocated, even by the Romans. But modern experience has not borne out earlier claims, even with the luxury and comfort of great ocean liners.

The rush to find a salubrious locality may be just the wrong thing, as tuberculosis exists everywhere and no latitude is free from it. Only in arid or semi-arid regions do we find its incidence decreased, and the reason may be that but few people live in such areas. Where the population is dense the disease is more likely to be communicated from one to another; where it is sparse we would expect fewer contacts and, therefore, fewer cases.

The body does not withstand hot, moist conditions with ease. Energy is lowered, as are most of the body functions. But climate, after all, is an individual reaction. Some will do well in a desert; others on a mountain top. There must be freedom from worry and anxiety and enough interest so that the long hours of tedium shall not weigh heavily.

The essentials, by far, are skilled management and contentment. An attractive, well conducted sanitarium with expert medical attendants and nurses is an ideal situation.

WILL PASS IN TIME.

Mrs. P. P. writes: Some months ago I had a diseased gall bladder and appendix removed. I was afraid of a general anesthetic and asked for a spinal anesthetic. Since I am heavy this was not successful and gas had to be given. Shortly after the operation I developed pains in the back of my head and I began to see double. Now I see straight, but I am very nervous and when I eat anything sweet it tastes salty. What do you think is the cause of my symptoms?

REPLY.

Your double vision, nervousness, and pains in the head are probably after effects of the spinal anesthetic. All these will pass away in time.

A FOOLISH PROGRAM.

Mrs. C. A. writes: A woman 5 feet 6 inches tall, weighing 130 pounds, wants to go on a bread and milk diet exclusively for six months. She is strong, does her own housework, and walks approximately three miles a day. Would any benefits be derived? Any serious results?

REPLY.

A foolish program. The suggested diet is grossly substandard. Malnutrition, with lowering of resistance to disease, will follow. Why exchange good health for any fancied advantage?

WHISKY AS HAIR RINSE.

G. S. writes:

1. Is it all right to use whisky as a rinse? I use it after I shampoo my hair.
2. Will it in time break the ends?

REPLY.

1. Why not use rinses that have been proved to be of value, such as vinegar or lemon juice?
2. The alcohol in whisky [40 per cent] would have a tendency to dry the hair, and as a result render it brittle.

MARRIAGE OF COUSINS.

B. B. writes: Would there be any danger of the children of first cousins being deformed or otherwise abnormal?

REPLY.

Marriage of first cousins is not advised if the heredity is bad. An unhealthy strain in the family may be dominant in the children. On the other hand, healthy strains may be emphasized. This refers to both mental and physical inheritance.

PEELING HANDS.

L. R. writes: What is the cause of hard, peeling skin, particularly on the hands. What is the remedy?

REPLY.

This is often caused by exposure to water, cold, strong washing powders, certain soaps, chemicals, etc. A good lotion [nondrying] should be applied several times daily. Use this only on clean hands.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia.—American institutions flourish in Czechoslovakia due to close connections between the two countries through former heavy emigration to the United States.

The American institute in this country was founded in 1931 to unite Czechs and Slovaks who have studied in America with Americans living here in a joint effort to secure closer cultural relations between the two nations. The membership of about 350 is divided into the following sections: Agricultural, commercial, engineering, journalistic, literary, medical, scientific, social work, and student activity. Each section seeks to inform its members of developments in their professional fields in America. The institute has 158 corresponding members in the United States to whom periodic reports are sent.

The institute is publishing an "Annual of Czechoslovak Science" and an "Annual of Czechoslovak Literature, Music, and Drama." These volumes will contain translations and excerpts from the Czech publications. They are to be distributed in Anglo-Saxon countries.

Lectures on American topics are given during the winter at members' meetings, receptions for notable visitors and celebrations of American holidays such as Thanksgiving. In addition the institute has sponsored a series of radio addresses. A similar program is conducted by branches of the institute in Brno and Bratislava.

The Social Circle Chicago of Prague was founded in November, 1926, by Charles Abraham and William Hnatek with pupils of the William Hnatek school and others interested in social and cultural contact in the English language. The circle, which meets weekly, has thirty-five members, mostly men, and maintains a library. Officers of the organization are William Hnatek, chairman; Anna Kolisova, secretary, and Charles Abraham, treasurer.

YOUR AGE, MADAM.

Chicago, Nov. 18.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. In filling out the social security cards is it necessary to hand them to our employers or may we send them direct?

2. Will the government check up with our employers as to our ages?

There are a number of us who are in a bad predicament; if we give our correct ages we may lose our jobs, and if we put down the ages which we have given to our employers we may have to wait a number of years before we really get our pension. For instance, we have given our ages as 30, whereas we are really in the neighborhood of 38. If we put down 30, and when we really arrive at the age of 65, can we claim our pension if we show our birth certificates and explain then that had we given our correct ages we would have been out of a job, as nowadays work is for the young only?

3. If we do give our correct ages, will the government verify our ages with our employer's records?

You see where we stand, and it surely makes it hard for many of us who are getting on in years.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

WIFE IS A CITIZEN.

Chicago, Nov. 16.—[Friend of the People.]—I am a foreigner and will shortly apply for my final papers. My wife, whom I married in July, 1935, in Chicago, is an American by birth. Can she register and vote at this time? E. J.

The wife's American citizenship status was not affected by her marriage in 1935, as the act of Sept. 22, 1922, provides that on and after that date the citizenship status of married women shall be independent of that of their husbands. It is understood that citizens are eligible to vote if otherwise qualified. FRED J. SCHLOTFELDT,
District Director of Immigration and Naturalization, Chicago District.

CRIME NEWS IN THE CHICAGO AREA.

Chicago, Nov. 28.—Why do the newspapers of Chicago persist in reporting crimes in the metropolitan area outside Chicago as if they were Chicago crimes? A case in point is the recent slaying of three gunmen in Gary. The Thursday TRIBUNE'S headline said: "3 Robbers Slain in Gun Fight." Another newspaper similarly reported: "3 Bandits Slain in Gambling Holdup." No mention of the place of the crime in either of the headlines. Undoubtedly thousands of persons, many of them in other cities, merely saw the headlines and concluded that the bandit raid took place in Chicago.

It was not so many years ago that Chicago had an international reputation for lawlessness. While crime was far more prevalent in Chicago at that time than it is now, many people believed that the activity of the newspapers in emblazoning crime in their columns was greatly responsible for the city's unsavory reputation.

For the last several years the law enforcement agencies in Chicago have made a determined and rather successful effort to remove the crime blot. Chicago has cleaned house, but newspaper readers in other cities are not going to appreciate this fact if the press continues to advertise crime and violence as an exclusive Chicago product.

The 1935 report of the police department showed that crime during the year had decreased as compared with 1934. In April of this year a report from the police bureau of criminal information and statistics showed that crime had decreased 30 per cent in the first three months of 1936 as compared with a similar period in 1935.

The Chicago police are making a valiant and successful effort to drive out crime. They ought to have the full cooperation of the newspapers, which undoubtedly do wish to aid, but do harm in such apparently minor bits of thoughtlessness as the Gary incident.

Isn't the place of the crime a legitimate part of the information the newspaper is offering? Shouldn't Chicago be relieved of taking the blame for crime in Gary, Cicero, Chicago Heights, and other suburbs? Wouldn't it be comparatively easy for the newspapers to place the blame where it belongs and credit where it is due in the handling of crime news? L. W.

A GUARDIAN OF LIBERTY.

Chicago, Nov. 19.—It is too bad that the working people cannot see into the future, or they would hesitate about fighting our Supreme court. They may have need of it some day when it has been discarded as old fashioned. J. J.

FOR BUSES.

Chicago, Nov. 20.—In forty-six years residence in Chicago during which I have developed many square miles of Chicago, I have seen our great metropolis grow from the "horse car" stage to the new "streamline" street car. And yet, after visiting most of the large cities of the world and the United States, it is quite apparent to me that the people of Chicago are served with a wholly inadequate and insufficient transportation system.

Mayor Edward J. Kelly is to be commended for his recent ultimatum to the transportation companies to prepare an ordinance providing for consolidation of the various systems. Any new ordinance must provide for consolidation, extension of rapid transit service, and the discarding of trolley street cars. Street cars on rails are a thing of the past. New York City has been and is discarding as rapidly as possible the use of street cars on rails and replacing them with buses. This development in transportation gives recognition to the greater safety in the discharge of passengers, at the curb rather than in the middle of the street in the midst of fast moving trafic.

It is hoped that no franchise will be given to the surface lines unless incorporated therein is the provision for consolidation of the systems and replacement by buses.

Our present mayor and council have it within their power to place their names indelibly on the honor roll of Chicago indefinitly and once and for all solving this most vital civic problem.

WILLIAM ZELOSKY.

SOCIAL SECURITY QUESTIONS.

Chicago, Nov. 19.—In regard to the social security forms to be filled out by employés, the following questions perplex me:

How about where an employé has given her age to her employer as younger than it really is in order to secure a position? If she puts the right age on the blank it may cause embarrassment at her place of employment, and maybe even the loss of the position.

Could one put on the blank the age that was given the employer, that is, five years younger? Would this cause complications? There must be thousands of people in this predicament.

If an employé's true name is foreign and difficult to pronounce and spell, could a simplified spelling of the name be used on the blank, as the simplified name is the one employé has used for the last 15 years in business? MARY.

PUN FOR THE MORNING.

Chicago Heights, Ill., Nov. 24.—I see by the papers that Mr. Rexford Tugwell is quitting the brain trust and is going into the molasses business. Well, for the good of all concerned, I hope he sticks to it. C. J.

EYE SCRAMBLE TO COURT FAVOR IN WASHINGTON

Report Farley May Take Movie Czar Post.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Nov. 29.—[Special.]—Prime subject of discussion, speculation, and gossip in official Washington these days is the scrambling in high places to get under the New Deal tent.

W. R. Hearst, it appears, got there first with a telephone message election night to Hyde Park, the full import of which was not realized until the announcement last week that Mr. Hearst had hired John Boettiger, the President's son-in-law, to publish his Seattle Post-Intelligencer.

Now the gossips are busy with the report that the moving picture producers are intent upon getting solid with the New Deal by replacing Will Hays, the cinema czar, with James A. Farley, postmaster general and chairman of the Democratic national committee.

Double Purpose Seen.

In some quarters it is suggested that the purpose is a double one and that the movie magnates see in Mr Farley an ideal ambassador not only to the Roosevelt administration but to the Catholic church, which for the last two or three years has been exceedingly critical of the American cinema on moral grounds.

Both Mr. Farley and Mr. Hays are in Europe at the moment. Mr. Hays recently was granted an audience with Pope Pius, the significance of which was commonly regarded as not unrelated to the desire of the Hollywood institution to cultivate the good will of the Catholic church. At any rate, Mr. Hays got a lot of publicity which pictured him basking in the good graces of the pope and joining hands with his holiness in devout determination to clean up the movies and keep them clean.

Declines to Comment.

Mr. Farley was intercepted in the midst of a tour of Ireland just after he had kissed the Blarney Stone. He was asked if it were true that he is going to take Will Hays' place in the cinema government. He begged to be excused from answering the question. Of course that evasion convinced the gossips that the report must be true.

The movie producers have always deemed it highly important to have a powerful friend at the American court. Mr. Hays got his $100,000 job with the cinema when he was postmaster general in the Harding cabinet. At that time there was much agitation for a federal censorship of the movies. The Republicans controled the administrative and legislative branches of the government at that time almost as thoroughly as do the Democrats today. To insure themselves against a federal censorship the logical step was to obtain the influence of Mr. Hays, who was not only a cabinet member but had been chairman of the Republican national committee.

Signs Boettiger as Aid.

Whether Mr. Hays did it or not, it was noted that the agitation for a federal censorship never got anywhere under the Republican régime. When the Democrats captured control of both the administrative and legislative branches in 1932 it was recognized that Republican Mr. Hays did not exactly qualify as cinema ambassador to Washington. His position was improved, however, when two years ago he signed up young Mr. Boettiger to be his chief assistant, and Mr. Boettiger within the next two months was married to the President's daughter. Mr. Hays may not have been the friend at court the movies needed, but he had a friend who was.

Of course the gossips were quick to connect the retirement of Mr. Boettiger from the Hays administration with the rumors of the accession of Mr. Farley to the cinema throne. With Mr. Farley on guard there would be no need of Mr. Boettiger. At least, the cinema hierarchy would be rather overpopulated with friends at court. Mr. Boettiger, with that foresight for which he is renowned, had got himself another job, just as it is rumored that Mr. Hays is to be compensated with another job upon replacement by Mr. Farley.

Sibley Calls on President.

Mr. Hearst was not the only anti-New Dealer who has tended to get in out of the wet after Nov. 3. Harper Sibley, president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, called on the President, asserted that his organization never had been in politics and emphasized the necessity of mutual coöperation between government and business. Colby M. Chester, president of the National Association of Manufacturers, promised coöperation and put the lid on criticism of the New Deal at the annual convention of the association next week.

John D. Rockefeller Jr., a charter member of Mr. Roosevelt's economic royalists' club, exchanged felicitations with Mr. Farley on the latter's pronouncement that there would be no reprisals upon the anti-New Dealers. Mr. Rockefeller's brother-in-law, Winthrop D. Aldrich, who is chairman of the Chase National bank and president of the New York Chamber of Commerce, asserted in a speech that business must necessarily reconcile itself to an increasing degree of social legislation which entails an increasing restraint in the individual.

Tugwell's Case Cited.

The resignation of Rexford Guy Tugwell, Mr. Roosevelt's No. 1 brain truster, to become a vice president of the American Molasses company and the hiring of other brain trusters by sugar refiners and importers are being viewed as measures to acquire influence with the New Deal in both the administrative and legislative branches. What the molasses and sugar interests fear more than anything else in the approaching session of congress is legislation promoted by the farm bloc to diminish the importation of blackstrap molasses for the manufacture of alcohol. The farmers want to bring about the use of more domestic corn for alcohol manufacture.

John E. Dalton, former chief of the AAA sugar section, has become an official of the National Sugar Refining corporation. John A. Dickey, former AAA sugar expert, has become director of the Association of Sugar Producers of Porto Rico. Charles F. Boots, former legislative counsel of the senate, has joined the American Sugar Refining corporation.

Taussig on New Deal Body.

Charles W. Taussig, president of the American Molasses company, is still chairman of the New Deal's national youth administration, and often visits the White House.

A. A. Berle, once connected with the AAA, is former general counsel of the American Molasses company and is still a company director. The company is chiefly engaged in importing molasses from Cuba, but also imports sugar.

Tugwell, Taussig, and Berle have been credited with having much to do with drafting of the United States-Cuban trade agreement and subject matter of the Jones-Costigan act guaranteeing Cuba and other insular sugar producers stabilized quotas in the American market. Berle sat on the committee of economic experts which conducted hearings on the trade treaty.

Tugwell has had much to say about the policy of his administration toward both sugar imports and domestic production during his term as undersecretary of agriculture. All three men have the President's ear.

URGE $25,000 LIMIT ON CONTRIBUTIONS TO POLITICAL CAMPAIGNS

Washington, D. C., Nov. 29.—(AP)—Recommendations of a former postmaster general for rigid restrictions on campaign spending were sent to President Roosevelt today by senate investigators.

Drafted by A. S. Burleson, one time member of President Wilson's cabinet, the plan would impose severe penalties on any person contributing more than $25,000 to a single political campaign. His proposal was submitted to the President—without comment—by the special senate committee investigating expenditures during the last campaign.

Robert Jeffrys, committee secretary, said expenditures during the recent presidential campaign had reached the unprecedented total of $13,000,000.

Several individuals—including one unnamed senatorial candidate—contributed more than $100,000 each, the committee's preliminary investigations disclosed. Burleson's plan would limit the total outlay of each party to $1,000,000, including all disbursements on behalf of presidential, congressional and senatorial candidates.

Jeffrys said that "serious flaws" in the present corrupt practices act include the "highly confusing" form in which expenditure reports are filed.

In many cases, Jeffrys said, these reports show funds transferred back and forth through a dozen party committees "until it is impossible to get a clear picture of actual expenditures."

YOUTH SLAIN, PAL SHOT TRYING TO ROB DETECTIVE

Anthony Manzoni, 22 years old, 117 South St. Louis avenue, was fatally shot and his companion, Joseph Ventucci, 19, of 3452 Arthington street, was seriously wounded early yesterday when they tried to hold up Detective James J. Duffy of the Summerdale station near his home at 2545 Coyle avenue.

Duffy, an overseas veteran and a marksman, was walking to his home when the two approached him with their hands in their pockets. One of them said, "This is a stickup." The policeman sidestepped into a vacant lot and opened fire with his pistol. Both fell.

Manzoni died later in the Bridewell hospital. Police said he had been arrested before on charges of robbery. No guns were found on either Manzoni or his companion.

GERMANY BRANDS WASTE OF GRAIN AS HIGH TREASON

Goering Warns Farmers to Back 4 Year Plan.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

GOSLAR, Germany, Nov. 29.—Col. Gen. Hermann Wilhelm Goering, minister of air, war ace and the last commander of the famous Richthofen squadron, proudly stated in a speech at Goslar today that the German army "is no longer as weak as the German army was in 1914 when it entered the world war."

Goering spoke to the congress of farmers in his rôle as commissar for enforcing Germany's four year plan to attain self-sufficiency.

He demanded the fullest coöperation from farmers lest he be "compelled to act against them." He expressed the hope that "German farmers may be able to cling to the plow for all eternity."

"But," Goering said, "I am convinced that when The Fuehrer [Adolf Hitler] is forced to call the farmers, then you will hold the sword as firmly in your strong hands as you hold the plow."

He reminded the farmers that the Nazi state provided a system guaranteeing stable prices for their products and made farms hereditary. This means the farms cannot be sold or seized by creditors.

"Work with me lest I am compelled to act against you," Goering warned, referring to the dissatisfaction smoldering in junker and conservative circles.

He praised the achievements of farmers who succeeded in growing enough wheat for Germany's needs.

Makes Threat to Farmers.

"I can say to the German people: You cannot have butter or fat every day," he cried. "I can say you must give up eggs today and meat tomorrow. But I can do this only as long as the farmer provides the daily bread to feed his countrymen. It is up to you farmers. Wheat is still in your barns. You have the greatest German treasure there. If there should be a farmer who makes the wrong use of this treasure and who thinks he can feed grain to his pigs, that is high treason.

"I do no believe I need call on the secret police or any other kind of police to watch such persons. I am certain that all other farmers will help exterminate such vermin."

ROB FILLING STATION OF $9.

Nicholas Anderson was robbed of $9 early yesterday by three men who drove their automobile into his filling station at 6702 Eberhart avenue.

COME ON!

WE'RE READY!

Santa and his staff arrived from the North the other day to begin their Christmas residence at Marshall Field's. Up the "scenic route" they swung—Donder, Blitzen, and all—right straight to the new Ice Palace in Toy Center on the fourth floor.

The old fellow pronounced himself "tickled pink with the store." In an interview after a short winter's nap he issued the following statement: "You may quote me as saying that this will be one of the biggest Christmases we have ever known." Then, laying his finger as de of his nose (a characteristic gesture), he added: "I see that you people here at Field's agree with me. I've never looked at such decorations. When did you find time to do that ingenious toy window? What did you use for snow on the Ski Slide in the Store for Men? And now, pray tell me, did you ever get that enormous Christmas tree into the Walnut Grill? Even with my experience, I couldn't have done that!"

"Right you are, Mr. Claus," we said. "It was a big job. But that's not the half of it. You haven't even mentioned the two most important things of all—the collecting of millions of handsome gifts, and the selecting of thousands of competent people to help."

"Naturally, I took all that for granted at Marshall Field's," chuckled Santa. "And now, aren't we all set? Put an ad in the paper. Tell all the good people of Chicago to . . .

HELPFUL ADVICE TO ACNE SUFFERERS

For acne pimples affecting the outer or surface layer of the skin, here is advice that will help improve your complexion.

Every night at bedtime, wash your face thoroughly with Resinol Soap and hot water. Do not rub. Follow with a dash of cold water and dry thoroughly but gently. Then apply Resinol Ointment to the affected skin and leave it on all night. Do this every night, and watch the improvement.

Local treatment is advised as a helpful aid in acne cases, and for more than 40 years the ingredients of Resinol have been found effective.

Resinol benefits by treating the irritated oil ducts, where most surface pimples start. In this way it aids healing of such pimples and also tends to check their recurrence.

Buy Resinol Ointment and Soap in any drug store. For free sample, write to Resinol, Dept. 13, Baltimore, Md.

DOCK WORKERS TALK 'BOYCOTT' OF FRENCH SHIP

Break with Seamen May Come in New York.

New York, Nov. 29.—(AP)—An open break between striking "rank and file" seamen and nonstriking longshoremen in New York harbor appeared inevitable today unless French stevedores resume working American flag ships.

Longshoremen here have threatened to retaliate by boycotting the Champlain on Wednesday, which will be the first French liner to arrive since the international strike complications developed. The seamen, in whose sympathy the French are acting, threaten to work the Champlain themselves.

As the maritime strike began its second month the New York Board of Trade appealed to Secretary of Labor Perkins to take steps to end what is called a national emergency.

The board declared "staggering losses" have been suffered by other businesses as well as shipping.

Report Ships Clearing.

The American Shipowners' association, however, said thirty-one American ships left New York harbor in the last 24 hours and that the strike was still causing little trouble on the east and gulf coasts, where it is an insurgent movement.

A statement signed by the strike strategy committee said:

"A strike exists and will continue until the shipowners' association accede to the men's just demands."

Strive for Strike Peace.

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 29.—(AP)—New efforts to obtain peace conferences between offshore shippers and striking maritime unions were started today as federal officials made final arrangements for dispatching emergency food ships to Alaska.

The northern territory, cut off from normal commerce for a month by the coast-wide strike, was assured two supply-laden vessels, chartered through federal action, would be en route this week.

Assistant Labor Secretary Edward F. McGrady turned his efforts toward negotiations between unions and the offshore or deep sea operators after a fruitless peace conference between coastwise freight shippers and the Masters, Mates, and Pilots' union.

Col. O. F. Ohlson, manager of the government-owned Alaska railroad, left for Seattle after signing contracts with the striking unions to man emergency ships and chartering the fishing steamer Arctic.

TELL OF SEEING FRIEND HOLD UP TRUCK DRIVER

Two youths told the Gresham police yesterday that they watched, afraid to interfere, while their companion committed a robbery Saturday night. They are John McNamara, 6733 Loomis street, and Paul Blasgen, 6817 Loomis street, both 17 years old. Their companion, who they said was intoxicated, is Raymond Foley, 27 years old, 1741 West 91st street, a gasoline station attendant.

All three were held by the police yesterday after they were identified by Edward Pazdyka, 22 years old, 5400 Schubert avenue, the robbery victim. The holdup occurred in the 7300 block on South Ashland avenue, where Pazdyka, who is employed in his father's grocery, was forced to halt his truck as Foley swaggered up and announced he was a policeman. Foley then took $50 from Pazdyka while McNamara and Blasgen sat in their automobile. The two drove away and were arrested later in the gasoline station at 1401 West 69th street, where Foley is employed. Foley, seized in a nearby tavern, admitted the robbery.

'SIT DOWN' STRIKERS GUARD AUTO FRAMES IN SIEGE AT FACTORY

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 29.—(AP)—A special squad of pickets guarded several thousand finished automobile frames today as the "stay-in" strike of 1,200 employés of the Midland Steel Products company plant here entered its third day.

The union workers occupying the plant were preventing removal of the frames, which had been piled in the company's stockyards to await transfers to automobile companies.

While the "sit-down" strikers laid in food supplies and bedding, their leaders conferred with Homer Martin, president of the United Automobile Workers of America. Later the union representatives held a three hour conference with the Midland management on the union's request for a general wage increase of "about 10 per cent." The negotiations will be resumed tomorrow.

The company, which was ordered "closed" by officials after the strike Friday noon, supplies some of the automobile frames used by the Ford Motor company and Chrysler corporation. It also makes castings and stampings for other automotive concerns.

Governor Seeks "Armistice."

Cumberland, Md., Nov. 29.—(AP)—Fierce hand to hand fighting between union pickets and police at the strike-closed Celanese plant yesterday and the day before caused Gov. Harry W. Nice to hurry here today to seek an "armistice."

Siamese Survivor Gains; Brother's Burial Today

New York, Nov. 29.—(AP)—As preparations were made for the funeral tomorrow of Lucio Godino, 28 year old "Siamese twin," who died last week of rheumatic fever, his brother, Simplicio, continued to gain in health. Physicians reported that his temperature, pulse, and respiration were "good."

MONGOLS FLEE NORTHWEST WAR AREA OF CHINA

Take Refuge at Kalgan, Near Great Wall.

KALGAN, Suiyuan Province, China, Nov. 30. — [Monday.] — (AP) — Refugee Mongols—men, women and children driven from their nomad homes in western Chahar province and eastern Suiyuan by the threat of war—streamed into this frontier town today within the lee of China's great wall.

Many were without food but thankful to escape the theater of war which, they asserted, is certain to engulf the area they and their ancestors have occupied for centuries.

The majority of the refugees were hunters or small herd owners. They told tales of hardships and said many of their countrymen in Chahar and Suiyuan had been conscripted as soldiers or laborers to build roads for massing of the military.

The military took over, with little or no compensation, their camels, horses, cattle, sheep, furs, and even motor cars, the fleeing Mongols asserted.

They said troops from Chahar, allegedly under Japanese leadership, were preparing to invade Suiyuan and that their force numbered an estimated 25,000 of Chinese and Mongols from Jehol and Manchuria.

Say Prince Japanese Prisoner.

It was stated also that 15,000 Chahar "bandits" and 3,000 Mongol cavalrymen were among the invaders.

The refugees said the irregular forces had declared a new "Inner-Mongolian government" in western Chahar and that this "government" was "comprised of a Japanese majority."

The refugees asserted that the Japenese were holding Prince Teh Wang, Mongolian chieftain, whose domain was shattered with Chinese capture of his capital, Pailingmiao, a virtual captive in western Chahar.

TOWN TO HONOR CIVIL AND WORLD WAR VET NOW 90

Sterling, Ill., Nov. 29.—(AP)—There'll be a hot time in the old town tomorrow night.

The whole community—plus a full complement of distinguished guests—has been invited to a party celebrating the 90th birthday anniversary of Nicholas George Van Sant—called the only civil war veteran who served in the trenches during the world war.

They've arranged a program of martial music, songs, speeches and a banquet at the municipal coliseum in honor of the old trooper who rode with the 9th Illinois cavalry in the conflict between the states and who carried coffee and doughnuts to the boys in the front line dugouts in France in the uniform of the Salvation Army.

16 REMBRANDTS DISAPPEAR FROM SOVIET MUSEUM

Hint Reds Sold Paintings During Lean Years.

MOSCOW, Nov. 29.—(AP)—Art circles here are mystified and greatly concerned at the absence of from sixteen to nineteen Rembrandt paintings missing from a current exhibition of the famous old master's works.

In the absence of any official explanation foreign art critics are wondering if these priceless paintings were secretly sold abroad by the soviet government during the lean years around 1930-'31.

The facts are these: the Rembrandt collection which opened in the Moscow Museum of Fine Arts Nov. 11, has 29 paintings of the Dutch painter on exhibit. These had been widely advertised to be the complete soviet collection of Rembrandts.

42 Paintings Listed.

Twenty-three of these Rembrandts shown came from the Hermitage museum in Leningrad and the other six from the Museum of Fine Arts.

Art connoisseurs recalled there were 42 Rembrandts in the Hermitage before the revolution, of which 38 were of undoubted authenticity. All reference books written before the revolution listed the 42 paintings.

Soviet reference and travel books written in 1923 and 1928 likewise list 42 Rembrandts as being in the Hermitage collection. Later handbooks make no mention of the number of Rembrandts at the Hermitage.

Old Rumors Recalled.

Observers here recalled old rumors that the soviet government in its difficulties around 1930 secretly disposed of many famous paintings including some Rembrandts, but this always was denied.

The missing works include many of Rembrandt's most famous paintings.

Asked if the soviet government had sold or disposed of Rembrandt's pictures, museum officials refused to answer. Inquiries at the foreign office and other sources of information likewise were unavailing.

Paintings Traced to U. S.

New York, Nov. 29.—(AP)—Art experts here expressed opinion tonight the sixteen or more Rembrandt paintings reported missing from a current exhibition in Moscow can be accounted for, some of them in this country.

"It's an old story," said Harry B. Wehle, curator of paintings at the Metropolitan Museum of Art. "Mr. Mellon [Andrew W. Mellon] bought several of them, and one or two others are on exhibition at the National Art gallery in London."

Charles Henschel, president of Knoedler & Co., whose experts were sent to Russia in behalf of Mellon when it became known the soviets might sell some of their art treasures to buy machinery, said:

"I don't see that there is any mystery about the disappearance of the Rembrandt paintings. I bought six or seven of them in 1930 or 1931, two others were bought by the Amsterdam museum, and the others probably were lent out by the soviet government."

One of the Knoedler purchases, a self-portrait by Rembrandt, was added to the Mellon $19,000,000 collection. "Madonna of the House of Alba," by Raphael, also bought from the soviets by Knoedler, was reported sold to Mellon for $1,166,400. Henschel said two of the Rembrandt paintings were yet unsold.

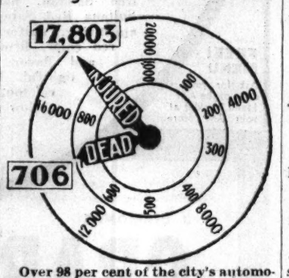
Chicago's 1936 Trafic Toll



Over 98 per cent of the city's automobile fatalities are of a nature physically impossible on an elevated highway.

NEW HIGH MARK SEEN FOR YEAR IN U. S. TRAFIC TOLL

Predict 37,500 Will Die on Nation's Roads.

With an increase in automobile deaths throughout the country during October, the national safety council predicted yesterday that trafic fatalities in the nation for the year would reach a new all-time mark of 37,500. In October 3,930 persons were killed in automobile accidents, as compared to 3,850 for the same month last year.

The council reported that the increase in trafic deaths in October raised the country's death toll to 29,850 for the first ten months of the year, as compared to 29,680 deaths for the same period in 1935, a 1 per cent increase.

More Pedestrians Are Hit.

Accidents involving pedestrians jumped about 2 per cent, while other types of motor vehicle accidents dropped about 1 per cent.

The report showed further that automobile deaths among children between 5 and 14 years of age increased 10 per cent above the 1935 level for nine months. The 15 to 24 age group showed an increase of 5 per cent, while other age groups showed reductions.

The trafic problem was termed "most acute" in small towns and on country roads. Accident fatalities in all reporting cities, including Chicago, showed a drop of 7 per cent in October and 5 per cent for the ten months, according to the report.

Woman Struck by Car Dies.

Mrs. Vlasta Butron, 33 years old, 806 South Keeler avenue, died yesterday in the County hospital of injuries incurred Wednesday when she was struck by an automobile as she was crossing the street in front of 606 South Western avenue.

Rudolph Staffe, 42 years old, 697 Milwaukee avenue, a laborer, died in the County hospital yesterday of injuries received Thursday when he was struck by the automobile of a hit and run driver in front of 717 Milwaukee avenue.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 939 persons had been killed in automobile accidents in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 706 were killed in Chicago. In the same period 17,803 were injured in trafic accidents within the city.

Summonses Today for All Autos Without Safety O.K.

Beginning today all Chicago motorists whose cars do not bear O. K. stickers showing they have passed tests in the city's safety lanes will be given summonses in accordance with a general order issued last week by Police Commissioner Allman. The order on the arrests was issued by the commissioner to all commanding officers. Heretofore arrests for noncompliance with the compulsory automobile test law had been sporadic.

MEMORIAL RITES PAY TRIBUTE TO MARY McDOWELL

Tributes to the late Mary E. McDowell, noted social worker, were offered yesterday by many spokesmen who knew her work as beneficiaries or associates, at memorial services in her honor at the University of Chicago settlement, which she founded. Miss McDowell died Oct. 14. Today is the 82d anniversary of her birth.

The chairman of yesterday's service was Attorney Harry O. Rosenberg, who attended the settlement from his first kindergarten days and who returned to it as a teacher and associate of Miss McDowell.

Dr. Herbert E. Phillips, who worked for many years informally with the social worker in welfare activities, told how Miss McDowell had attracted his interest to her humanitarian enterprises.

Five hundred persons crowded the settlement gymnasium for the service. Present were Dr. Jaroslav Smetanka, consul general of Czechoslovakia; Antonio L. Schmidt, Mexican consul, and Mrs. Helena Koniuszewska of the Polish consulate.

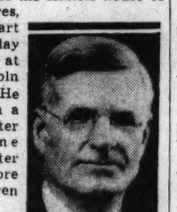
Hold Funeral Rites Today for Child Scalding Victims

Double funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. today for Donnie Taft, 4 years old, 4212 Ellis avenue, and his sister, Anne, 2 years old, at the chapel at 418 East 47th street. The two children were scalded Thanksgiving day when a pan of hot water placed in an improvised steam tent by their mother, Mrs. Shirley Taft, to cure their colds, upset. Anne died shortly after the accident. Her brother died Saturday in the County hospital.

JOHN M. PEFFERS, IN STATE HOUSE 6 TERMS, IS DEAD

Aurora Representative Succumbs at 58.

John M. Peffers, 58 years old, Republican member of the Illinois house of representatives, died from a heart attack yesterday in his home at 319 South Lincoln street, Aurora. He was stricken a few hours after returning home from a theater and died before he could be given medical aid.



JOHN M. PEFFERS.

Representative Peffers was a well known member of the general assembly. He had served six terms —12 years—in the house and was elected on Nov. 3 to a seventh term. His was the 14th senatorial district, which consists of Kane and Kendall counties. A lawyer, he had given much time to legislation expanding and clarifying duties of judges under state jurisdiction.

Aurora had been the home of Representative Peffers since his parents had moved there from Eureka, Ill., when he was a baby. After his schooling he became secretary to the late United States Senator Albert J. Hopkins of Aurora, a position he held for seven years. Later he became clerk of the United States senate committee on fisheries and enrolled bills.

In 1908 Mr. Peffers was married to Maude Norris of Aurora, who survives him. Also surviving are two sons, Dr. John M. Peffers and George William Peffers, and a daughter, Helen, all of Aurora. Funeral services will be held Wednesday afternoon in the First Presbyterian church of Aurora.

Harry B. Shaw, Retired Grain Trader, Dies at 72

Harry Bowen Shaw, 72 years old, retired grain trader and member of the Chicago Board of Trade, died yesterday in St. Mary's hospital in Kankakee. Mr. Shaw had lived in Chicago until his retirement eight years ago, when he moved to Momence. His father, Alexander K. Shaw, was a charter member of the board of trade. Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Julia Heeter Shaw, and two sisters. Funeral services will be held tomorrow at 9:30 a. m. in Momence.

Dinner Parties Will Precede Assembly Ball

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE gayety of the coming weekend will begin on Friday night with the numerous dinner parties preceding the Assembly ball, and will end on Sunday afternoon with the large open house Mr. and Mrs. Ayres Boal are giving to welcome home their youngest son, Thomas Boal, who has been away for the last year and a half. The Boals are not the only ones welcoming home a member of their family, however, for the Charles H. Morses, and Mrs. Frederick T. Haskell are expecting their daughters this week, and Mrs. L. Hamilton McCormick expects her son, Leander J. McCormick.

Baron and Baroness Wolfgang Beck von Peccoz [Martha Morse] are arriving in Chicago tonight from their home in Germany to spend most of the winter. Mrs. Joseph Ross Luce [Lila Hotz] Mrs. Haskell's daughter, is arriving on Wednesday from New York, to be here until Sunday. Baron and Baroness Beck and Mrs. Luce, who recently has taken her grandfather's name of Joseph Ross, have timed their arrival especially for the Assembly, which is to be held at the Blackstone.

Mrs. Haskell to Give Dinner Preceding Ball.

Mrs. Haskell will entertain at a dinner for twelve at home, preceding the ball, but Mrs. Luce will go to the dinner which Mr. and Mrs. John L. Cochrane and Mrs. Bartholomay Osborne will give jointly at the home of Mrs. Osborne's parents, the Henry Bartholomays.

Mrs. Jacob Baur, whose daughter, Mrs. Bartle Bull, is another visitor, will entertain in her Astor street home, and Arthur Meeker, chairman of the Assembly, and Mrs. Meeker, will give a dinner in their Lake Shore drive apartment. Mr. and Mrs. J. Stewart Harvey, who are returning today from a trip to California, will give a dinner Friday night that will serve also as a housewarming for their new Astor street apartment.

The Casino is booked solidly with dinner parties before the ball. Mrs. Louise deKoven Phelps and Mr. and Mrs. Herbert E. Bradley will entertain guests there for dinner and dancing. Dr. and Mrs. Stuyvesant Butler will entertain some of their friends at dinner at home in Winnetka.

Mr. Meeker's son-in-law, Ambrose C. Cramer, is doing the decorations for the Assembly. The balcony floor above the Crystal ballroom will be arranged as a Parisian street café complete to striped awning, tables and chairs, and the bar will be situated there. Supper will be served downstairs in the Mayfair room instead of on the balcony floor because last year the crush of about 800 guests was too great for the limited space off the ballroom.

Young Mr. Boal to Tell of Prospecting in West.

Young Mr. Boal, who arrives on Thursday, will spend most of his waking hours answering questions about gold mining conditions in the west. He has spent the past few months prospecting in Placerville, Idaho, living in an erstwhile blacksmith shop.

Philip B. Hosmer Jr., who returned to Chicago Saturday after nearly a year in the Philippines and the orient, will tell his friends a very different story. Mr. and Mrs. John P. Porter gave a small dinner for him Saturday at home in Libertyville.

Mr. McCormick will arrive today in New York on the Queen Mary from England, but his visit to America will be brief since his wife did not accompany him, but stayed behind in their Austrian home.

In contrast to these happy families who are welcoming home their sons and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius B. Watson and the Louis H. G. Bouscarens sadly said good-by to the Pierre Bouscarens [Chloe Watson] yesterday when young Mr. and Mrs. Bouscaren and their two little boys left for New York. Mr. Bouscaren has taken a house in Greenwich, Conn., and he and his attractive family will make their home permanently in the east.

Mr. and Mrs. Bradley's daughter and son-in-law, the William Daveys, are settled in New York, and the Bradleys have plans to go east to spend Christmas with them.

Morses and Becks Expected to Go South.

Mr. and Mrs. Morse and the Becks undoubtedly will go south later this winter. Mr. Morse Jr. left his boat

MRS. LOUIS C. SUDLER.

MRS. LOUIS C. SUDLER, who is distinguished by great charm of manner as well as beauty, is one of the most popular belles at such gay parties as the Bachelors and Benedicts and the Assembly ball, but her interests are not at all selfish, for she gives her time generously to various charitable organizations, among them the Emerson Settlement house and St. Luke's hospital. She is giving a dinner Wednesday night for Alec Templeton, whose concert later in the evening at Thorne hall will raise funds to replace the robes and library of the choir of the New England Congregational church which were destroyed by fire last July. Mrs. Charles B. Goodspeed, Mrs. James B. Clow, Mrs. Warner Williams, and Mrs. Paul Skinner also will give dinners, later taking their guests to hear the blind pianist.

WHEN Mr. and Mrs. Paul Schulze gave a group of paintings by famous American artists to the Chicago Art institute as a memorial to their son, who met his death in the world war, two character figures by Robert Henri were included in the collection. They are of two Scotch peasants, and Mr. Henri gave them the titles "Himself" and "Herself." The man is rough looking, with small, intensely blue eyes, a heavy red beard, thick uncombed gray hair, and wears a green sweater and a brown homespun suit. The woman has fat rosy cheeks, wears a colored handkerchief knotted over her head, a green shawl over her shoulders, a blue apron, and holds a distaff in her hand. The other day a man and woman entered the gallery in which the pictures are hung and stood looking at the Scotch couple for some minutes. Then the woman raised her eyes to the tablet on the wall above the pictures and saw the name of the donors.

"Well, I didn't know Mr. Schulze looked like that," she said. "And I don't think it's a bit like Mrs. Schulze."

REMEMBER the item about the man in a fedora and overcoat, with a viola case at his feet, who was driving a Michigan avenue bus? It seems it was no real viola-tion of rules because the man was Kay Lorentzen, trafic engineer for the Chicago Motor Coach company. He was on his way to the weekly rehersal of the Chicago Business Men's orchestra. It seems he loves driving a bus as much as playing the viola. All the bus drivers know he loves it, so when he gets on one the driver automatically relinquishes the wheel to his superior officer, the trafic and tune player. Humoresque, is it not? inquired Julia Bolio, the source of all this info.

DID anybody call attention to the fact that when Wettergren made her opera debut here in "Carmen" it was not only Friday the thirteenth, but it was the thirteenth opera to be presented this autumn? Also the program named thirteen artists—three solo dancers in addition to the ten singers in the cast. As far as we know, too, Mme. Wettergren may have had somebody kick her once, and then three times more, indicating thirteen kicks for luck.

Mimi Richardson to Wed Earl E. T. Smith on Dec. 28

New York, Nov. 29.—[Special.]—It's to be a Christmas week wedding for Mimi Elaine Richardson and Earl E. T. Smith. They are to be married on Dec. 28, Miss Richardson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Courtlandt Richardson, said today in making formal announcement of the betrothal. The ceremony will follow by just a month that of Mr. Smith's first wife, the former Consuelo Vanderbilt, to Henry Gassaway Davis III., the former husband of Consuelo's second cousin, Grace Vanderbilt Davis.

McCormack's Songs Bring Erin to Chicago

Irish Old Guard Responds Warmly to Recital.

BY EDWARD BARRY.

'Twas a rare fine gentleman came to town yesterday. Gracious John McCormack, smiling of face and generous of encore, played skilfully on the emotions of a responsive audience throughout his entire Orchestra hall recital.

That huge transplanted Ireland which lives within the body politic of the United States has long regarded the famous tenor as an envoy extraordinary from a smaller Ireland across the ocean. Wherever he goes in this country there are sure to turn out to greet him many men and women who may be decades or even generations removed from the ould sod and deeply immersed in the affairs of this, their promised land, but who still cherish personal or ancestral memories of the sad, fragrant, rainy little island from which they sprang.

So it was yesterday. Although an important part of the audience had probably come simply to hear a fine musician practice an art which laughs at national boundaries, the fact that the greatest excitement of the afternoon came during the group devoted to songs of Erin proved that the reliable old guard was present in strength.

And, truly, the man has a magic way with him when he sings of the County Down and of Tralee and Clare. Right into electrically lighted Orchestra hall he brings their winding little roads and an image of the colleens who once trod them barefoot. Most of these colleens, by the way, have grown up now and live in New York or Chicago.

To the Civic Opera house yesterday afternoon the name and new fame of Anna Kaskas drew an audience which consisted in great part of the Lithuanian people of Chicago. They came to honor the young singer, American born of Lithuanian extraction, who a few months ago captured first prize in the women's division of the Metropolitan Opera association's radio auditions. From that she stepped into three rôles in the New York company's spring season, and has a contract for the winter stand.

Miss Kaskas is young, pretty, possessed of an excellent voice and a growing sense of vocal style. She sang some German lieder in a fervent and moving manner, and Purcell's exquisite "I Attempt from Love's Sickness to Fly" with less simplicity of style than this delicate old music demands.

Assisting the contralto was the Sasnauskas Male chorus, a sturdy Lithuanian group which made a splendid impression by its sonority and tone quality. Antanas Pocius directed.

Jeannette Albert, the Chicago born and trained pianist who played a recital at the Studebaker yesterday, proved in the course of a Chopin Nocturne, Scherzo, and Prelude that a genuine pianissimo is among the strings to her bow. Others are a brilliant technique and an understanding of the architecture of her music [which, free to function, results in eloquent phrasing].

The "free to function" business refers to the fact that Miss Albert does not invariably recognize the esthetic value of simplicity and repose in the delivery of such a melody as the principal theme of the B-flat Minor Scherzo. Also her accents are apt to be explosive at times, and mar the otherwise beautiful texture of her work.

Albert Goldberg, guest conductor of the Illinois Symphony orchestra at the Civic theater yesterday, combines precision and competence as a musician with an extremely pleasant personality. Through no fault of his conducting the debonair final movement of the Handel-Harty "Water Music" failed to meet the polished standard of tone quality which this worldly music imposes.

Good Morning!

"Winterset" may classify as entertainment—but to me it was just a large parcel of gloom.

It's a fine production, make no mistake about that. A brilliantly executed one. But, O, so grim!

The piece is an adaptation of the stage play that has caused so much comment, and you'll see, in the case of Romagna, an innocent man railroaded to the electric chair—much similarity to the famous one of Sacco and Vanzetti.

His son grows to manhood with but one eroding ambition—to prove his father's innocence and clear from his name the stain of disgrace.

The judge who had pronounced sentence goes mad and wanders ceaselessly from place to place, endeavoring to find justification for his action. The real murderer, determined that none shall live who could come forward and prove him guilty of the crime, stalks bloodcurdlingly hither and thither.

Under Brooklyn bridge the son meets and falls in love with—the sister of a member of the gang involved in the holdup that had resulted in the murder for which Romagna had paid with his life. . . .

Ensue developments that chill you to the marrow—while relentless rain drenches the unhappy participants in the action and further dampens the observer's spirits.

BUT—as I said—"Winterset" is a fine achievement, technically. [And you may have it!]

See you tomorrow.

Rev. R. C. McCarthy Installed as Head of Marquette University

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 29.—(AP)—The Rev. R. C. McCarthy, S. J., 47 years old, succeeded the Rev. William M. Magee, S. J., tonight as president of Marquette university.

Father McCarthy, who was a classmate of the retiring president when they joined the Jesuit order at Florissant, Mo., in 1906, took office at a Jesuit community dinner at the university.

The new president comes here from St. Louis university, where he had been head of the psychology department since 1928 and regent of the school of philosophy and science since 1929. He is a native of Marquette, Mich.

Father McCarthy received his bachelor of arts and master of arts degrees at St. Louis university and a doctor of philosophy degree from King's college, University of London, in 1925. He received his early education at Spalding institute in Peoria, Ill., and at Regis college, Denver, where he taught from 1913 to 1917. Father Magee said he had received no instructions regarding his future post.

Slippers Don New Finishes as Yule Gifts

They Get Away from the Too Practical.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

The rush is on! Through big doors and side doors all the shoppers are streaking into the ailes filled with Christmas loot. Despite all the puns made over the Christmas gift selection of slippers, much has been done to keep these timely trifles out of the strictly practical gift sections. We've previewed more good slipper finds this year than ever before.

If you like superwarmth, warmth that looks and is, buy the fuzzy wool velour affairs that look like colored caverns of snug comfort in this stuff. Scarlet, pink, ginger brown, and white are plenty interesting. They come in heelless models without the back cuff effect, or, for more money, with comfortable low heel and back cuff.

Next come the sleek satin slippers, without a single bit of stiffening anywhere in the slipper. Slippers and matching envelope bag are of soft satin. In pale pastels they are ideal gifts for shut-ins or temporary invalids. They have been copied from the soft lether pullman slippers so popular with travelers. Those last mentioned packaged slippers are still darn good buys for any one's list.

For the children come amusing little slippers like bunnies, ears and all, with even bright little eyes sewed beside the noses to make them more realistic.

Frivolous and feminine boudoir mules are more luxurious than ever before. Moire silk in lovely pastels, trimmed with either silver or gold kidskin, with high heels; stunning, vividly metallic brocades and exotic printed shiny satins, luscious velvets with wide contrasting band of fur, or bunches of satin flowers, and many high colored smooth kidskins in peacock, vermilion, jade green, and citron yellow are some of the new arrivals.

Fashion photograph: Have your flowers bunched for the particular dress you are wearing, tiny button "mums" for tweeds, spicy carnations for dull silk crêpes and sheer wools, or a lovely spray of rubrum lilies against velvet such as are pinned to this black velvet blouse with glittering sequin collar and cuffs. The tiny pill box hat is of dull crêpe. Flowers from a boulevard florist. Blouse and hat from a Chicago shop.

The Man on the Blue

By Luke Short

SYNOPSIS.

Fleeing the law Shamrock Ireland, arrogant young westerner, reaches Arizona on his Blue, and saves the life of Sherif Lobell, who is about to be shot by a girl, Nancy Hyatt. The Hyatts—Nancy and her brother, Mayo—have lost their ranch, the Double Diamond, to the bank. Mayo, recently paroled, has threatened to kill any man who serves him with a dispossess. Because Shamrock believes it was Mayo who betrayed the man who brought him up he accepts the dangerous task of serving the papers. A reward is out for Shamrock for shooting a town marshal in self-defense over a card game. Shamrock confronts Mayo Hyatt at his ranch and is shot by Nancy. When he regains consciousness he learns he has misjudged Hyatt, but Nancy scorns him. She tried to shoot Lobell to save her brother, paroled on good behavior, from killing him. Shamrock decides to investigate Lobell's grudge against the Hyatts.

INSTALMENT XIII.

EVERYTHING LEGAL.

There was a whispered conference which Shamrock did not hear, then he heard footsteps and the door opened.

Lobell was alone. His face was composed, benevolent, and he looked mildly and pleasantly surprised when he saw Shamrock.

"Well, well," he said with gruff good humor. "Back, huh?"

Shamrock nodded, his face still. The sherif turned to Coyne and jerked his head. Coyne made a quick, hurried exist and the sherif shut the door after him. Shamrock kept his seat and the sherif walked over to the desk and threw a leg over the corner of it and rubbed his hands together with a brisk, warming motion.

"It's a mite chill out tonight," he observed pleasantly, studying Shamrock's face with wary, black eyes. "I went out to look for you," he announced suddenly.

Shamrock tilted the chair back. "I cut corners. I was in a hurry."

"What happened?"

"He took it."

"Did he—uh—fight?"

"A little," Shamrock said. He turned his head so the sherif could see the raw furrow behind his ear. He had removed the bandage on the way in.

"Ah-h," Lobell said softly. "Is he dead?"

"I had to blow his guns out of his hands," Shamrock lied idly.

Shamrock saw some of the light go out of the sherif's eyes, but the muscles in his face were perfectly controled. He leaned back and exhaled his breath. "Good. No bloodshed. That's fine. Everything legal, and in order. Hyatt will live to thank you, son."

"About that other five hundred," Shamrock said coldly.

"That's right," Lobell said cheerfully. He stood up and reached in his hip pocket and drew a wallet from it. He sheafed out a pile of notes on the desk and Shamrock picked them up and rammed them in his shirt pocket.

"That makes it quits, don't it?"

"I dunno," Shamrock said, looking Lobell straight in the eye. "I sorta' like the job."

Lobell said nothing for a moment, his face perfectly still, watching Shamrock, then laughed. "Sure. It's a good job, and you done it well, son." He reached in his vest for a peppermint drop and slipped it in his mouth, watching Shamrock.

"No. I mean the deputy's job."

"O." Lobell's thick hands had ceased fumbling at his wallet and now he was frankly staring at Shamrock. "I'm afraid I can't use you," he said slowly.

"Think a minute," Shamrock said.

"I've thought."

"Think some more, then."

Lobell put the wallet in his pocket and leaned both hands on the desk. "Listen, son, I'd like to. I'd sure like to keep you. You're a good man to work with—but it can't be done. You're a wanted man. Could I hire a deputy that's got a pitcher in every sherif's office in the whole territory—in all the territories?"

"The only jasper that knows that is dead—besides us," Shamrock said. "Just us two," he jibed softly.

"Men travel," Lobell said evasively. "What if some puncher from Sahuaro county that had seen your description in the sherif's office rode into Malpais Springs. How would it look for me?"

"You never saw the poster, it never come."

"Why do you want to stay here?" Lobell asked bluntly, disarmingly. "It's nothin' but a slow cow-town, son."

"I like 'em. I'd like to settle down."

"Huh-uh," the sherif contradicted.

"All right, then. I like the people."

The sherif said nothing, but his eyes called Shamrock a liar.

"I think I'll stay," Shamrock said again, looking at Lobell. "Out in the fresh air, not much excitement, and it pays good money," he jeered.

"Not any more."

"Fifty a month and horse keep."

"That's fine. You've got yourself a deputy."

Suddenly the sherif laughed, all good humor again. "Son, you're stubborn. I don't need another deputy, but hanged if I don't need a man as stubborn as you are. You're hired."

"I know it," Shamrock answered.

The sheriff was smiling now. "You've got a job. You just take this here badge"—he drew a deputy's badge from a drawer—"and tote it anywhere, inside your pocket if you want. Then go down and tell McKinley to put your horse keep on the county account."

"Who?" Shamrock asked, rising from the chair, making sure that he could not be seen from the street.

"McKinley, that kid at the stables."

"You mean Maginnis."

"McKinley, his name is."

"All right," Shamrock said. "McKinley then. That tow headed kid." Lobell was rolling a smoke, and he suddenly stopped. "What did you call him?"

"Maginnis."

"That's funny," Lobell said, his face still, watchful, his hands poised. "Where'd you hear that name?"

"He calls himself that," Shamrock said, puzzled.

"He said so?"

"He said so."

Lobell dropped the makings, spun around on his heels and swung the door open.

"Come in here!" he called flatly.

Three men, one of them Coyne, shuffled into the room. One of them was a blond man with the palest skin and hair Shamrock had ever seen on a man. He was fastidiously clean, but his clothes were not foppish. The other was swart, squat, thick, with cunning black eyes. The blond man wore gloves, Shamrock noted. Gunmen, both of them. Lobell ignored them.

"I hope you're right," he said slowly, looking at Shamrock. "Are you sure?"

"What? His name's Maginnis? I only got his word for it."

"Bueno," the sherif said, a broad smile on his face. "Son, you bring me luck." He slid a look over at the three men waiting for orders, then explained: "That kid Maginnis is a killer. He's the ranahan that knocked over the Cattleman's trust in Lobato Wells two months ago and killed the cashier." He turned to the three men. "You remember it?"

It seemed to Shamrock that their nods were uncertain.

"I should have knowed it," the sherif said. "Dang me, but I should. Come to think of it, he fits the description to a hair. But he's only a kid." He looked shrewdly at Shamrock. "Nothing but a bid." He shook his head gravely. "But you can't tell. Seems like nowadays they go bad younger." He sighed regretfully. "I hate to do it, but we'd best take him in. And we got to be careful, because he's salty."

Dandruff Is Ugly Enemy of Hair Beauty

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

The phrase, "Public Enemy No. 1," may be a bit outworn now, but a publicity sheet in front of me appoints dandruff to the ignominious distinction. Which, in turn, gave rise to an argument around my desk as to what beauty liability constituted the outstanding enemy of woman's peace.

What do you think? Fat? Bad skin? A rasping voice, or what? One man, overhearing the argument, bellered forth: "Finger nails with red paint!" But that we think is more or less of an act with men. There is an idea afoot among the women, anyway, that if the men really felt as violently on the nail polish issue as their frequent outbursts would indicate, they wouldn't be seen out so often with the girl that has 'em. But that's neither here nor there.

Dandruff, when you come to think of it, is an enemy and often does take on a public phase when dress collars are sprinkled with it and when heads bent forward over a desk, say, and one sees a heavy sprinkling. Whether you vote it Public Enemy No. 1 or not, dandruff still isn't a decorative feature for a woman to hold on to, is it? Not this year, particularly, when heads are being put to a scrutiny such as they have never experienced before. Even if hair were not occupying "tops" position, its pretty messy to go on with a head powdered and cluttered with the nasty little scales.

One thing you can count on, sure as shootin', is that you find very little of it where the hair brushing habit has been adopted and practiced regularly. I mean daily brushing, not just when the wave is all gone. That's your local dandruff remover, that hairbrush of yours, and your scalp massager. There always is a light shedding of scales going on which should be removed with the brush daily. But if you've allowed the disorder to develop, you'll have to go into conference with a good dandruff removing agent, and there are some grand ones on the market right now. But you still will have to brush to offset a return of the trouble.

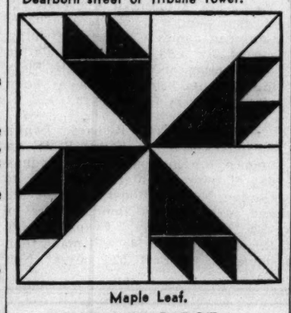
The "Maple Leaf" Quilt Block Has Novel History

Patterns of this design are 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street or Tribune Tower.



Maple Leaf.

BY NANCY CABOT.

An interesting note from an old time quilter explains that at the time when "Maple Leaf" was pieced the quilter of average proficiency could quilt about five yards of plain quilting in an hour. That would mean 200 hours of work for a thousand yards of quilting. The average cost for quilting a coverlet was $2, which was a cent an hour, but that was in 1861. The original "Maple Leaf" quilt was pieced in dark green and white, and the pieced blocks were set together with blocks of plain white and finished with a three inch border surrounded by a half inch binding.

Clean False Teeth New, Magic Way

No Brushing—Yet Polished Like New in 5 to 15 Minutes!

Dental science has now found the ideal way to clean plates and removable bridges. All you do is place them in a small glass of water and add a little Polident powder. You can actually see the stains, tartar and foul deposits dissolve right before your eyes. And this Polident is absolutely harmless. It's made by the famous Wernet Laboratories and is approved by leading authorities.

In a few minutes your plate is sweet and clean—purified and sterilized. The teeth lose that dead, false look—they appear live and natural. Polident costs only 30 cents at any drug store for a long-lasting supply.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

This isn't exactly the season for ocean travel, but the latest wrinkle in bon voyage gifts is enough to make any woman want to hock the family jewels and start out for romantic places.

This new going-away present is a huge, shiny white box festooned with pennants and tied up jauntily with broad bands of red, white, and blue ribbon. It looks like a festive hat box—but in its roomy insides there are beauty requisites galore.

There is a bandbox set within a bandbox. The exciting inside one is made of crinky, gay colored cellophane, stuffed with all the beauty preparations the most fastidious woman could use on board ship. A beauty specialist had the grand idea, and she hasn't forgotten a thing, from toothpaste to makeup foundation.

There is a generous allotment of cleansing cream; skin tonic to use afterwards, and even eye lotion to ease the windburn of tearing off miles around the deck. There's one of the best beauty masks in the world, to be used before the captain's dinner. It makes the weariest skin look ten years younger.

Then there are "bath mits," little pink bags, that fit the palm of the hand. They're stuffed with a bland, fragrant cleansing agent that lathers fluffily even in salt water and can be used again and again. These alone are a choice bon voyage gift.

Tissues, two shades of powder, toothpaste, and an elegant makeup foundation to keep the face straight even on the high seas complete the list of preparations. And to top all this the voyager finds current issues of two magazines as well—two good ones.

All in all this is a bon voyage box de luxe. When the preparations are gone the happy recipient can use the box as a resting place for her prettiest hat.

Gift Child Gives Should Really Come from Him

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

Some weeks ago, I'm not sure how many, in an article on the subject of allowances I mentioned saving for Christmas presents as one of the reasons for saving that children could understand. If you didn't happen to act on that suggestion it isn't too late to start now, even though it is Nov. 30. Particularly, it is not too late for the younger children to initiate this fascinating form of saving, because their ideas of gifts are so simple that a little money suffices, and anything is acceptable from a small child, since we feel the fact that he thought of giving the gift most important.

If your older children do not usually have an allowance, or if they have one and have not saved for Christmas, you can help them to add to their holiday funds by making opportunities for them to earn money. Ordinarily I don't believe in children being paid to help out at home, but at this time of the year you may be able to work out something so that they can feel the money they are going to spend for gifts is their very own.

Having the child save or earn this money is so much better than giving it to him around the holidays and saying, "Here is something with which to buy presents. The child who has not saved or earned loses much of the joy of giving. And this joy is one we should see that he experiences.

Children, being children, receive constantly. The loving parent gives, gives, gives. When Christmas comes around [or birthdays] children have a chance to express their love spontaneously, in a tangible way. If the giving represents some self-denial, represents putting some one else's happiness ahead of their own, represents thought and effort, then something of themselves goes into the gift. Don't let your child miss the opportunity that Christmas provides, not only for fun and gayety and receiving, but for spiritual growth, for that is what underlies this kind of Christmas giving.

A Friend in Need

Girl Needs Clothes for Work.

R. V., a girl 17 years old, is one of a family of seven members. They are on relief and receive a small allowance for living expenses, less than $1 per person per week. There is no appropriation for clothing, and the eldest girl finds it difficult to search for work in the light jacket she wears at the present time. She is 5 feet 4 inches tall and weighs 108 pounds. A coat, size 14 or 16, should fit her. The address is on the west side of the city.

Dinner Parties Will Precede Assembly Ball

in Miami, and while his parents and sister and brother-in-law are there they will enjoy using it. Young Mr. Morse is planning to bring the yacht north to Lake Michigan next summer.

There has been a regular round of parties for Mrs. Bull since she arrived last week. Mr. and Mrs. John W. Valentine are entertaining at cocktails for her tomorrow in their Lake View avenue apartment.

Having read the recent dispatches from London relating how society crashed the Chauffeurs' ball there and made it the party of the season, a good many people may arrange a bit more wistfully than usual to get along without their chauffeurs next Wednesday evening. With an eye to the Assembly Friday, the Chicago Private Chauffeurs' Benevolent association has elected to hold its annual dance and automobile exhibit Wednesday evening at the Merry Garden ballrooms. Thomas Lockerbie, president of the association, is the chauffeur of Mrs. Richard I. Stearns of 219 Lake Shore drive.

Longmeadow Landowners' Party to Be Next Monday.

Always one of the gayest and most informal events on the Longmeadow Hunt's calendar, the annual landowners' party will be given next Monday evening, Dec. 7, at the Shawnee Country club.

Frederic Burnham, who has charge of arrangements, is planning a buffet supper, with dancing, music and entertainment. Donald F. McPherson, Thomas J. McKearnan, Freeman J. Wood, Thomas C. Clark, John R. Pollack, Ernest S. Ballard, and Hill Blackett are assisting Mr. Burnham, and there will be a reception committee consisting of Mrs. Ballard, Mrs. McPherson, Mrs. Burnham, Mrs. Blackett, and Mrs. David A. Crawford.

The last formal event of the season was the hunt breakfast given after yesterday's run at the home of Clark J. Lawrence, master, and Mrs. Lawrence in Hubbard Woods. Colored movies of the hunt which several members have taken were shown, and every one joined in singing such famous hunting songs as "Drink, Puppy, Drink," and "John Peel."

Dania Mavor Engaged to Wed Milwaukee Man.

Mr. and Mrs. Norton Mavor entertained at cocktails yesterday afternoon at home in Highland Park to announce the engagement of their older daughter, Dania, to Robert Roy Mitchell, son of Mrs. Frances D. Mitchell of Milwaukee. Miss Mavor, who spent the past summer traveling abroad with her younger sister, Miss Mary Mavor, attended the Knox school in Cooperstown, N. Y., and Northwestern university. Her wedding to Mr. Mitchell will take place next April and they will make their home in Milwaukee.

Miss Emeline Bush left Wednesday evening for Kansas City, where she will visit friends. Miss Bush's wedding to Frank T. O'Brien has been indefinitely postponed.

Randall-McDaniel Wedding Set for Christmas Night.

Miss Frances McDaniel and Charles W. Randall have set the date for their marriage for Christmas night at 8:30 o'clock at the St. Luke's pro-cathedral. Bishop George Craig Stewart will read the ceremony, and Mr. and Mrs. Giles McDaniel, parents of the bride, will give a reception afterwards at the Evanston Country club.

Mrs. Stewart Dawson, the former Margaret Lamb, will attend Miss McDaniel as maid of honor, and Mr. Dawson will serve as Mr. Rundall's best man. The bridesmaids will include Miss Georgeanne Rundall, sister of the bridegroom; Miss Katherine Kitteiman, Miss Patricia Crow, Miss Charlotte Hubbart, Miss Elizabeth McDaniel of Kansas City, Mo., a cousin; Miss Mary Morgan, and Mrs. Robert Lindsley.

Among the ushers will be Garrett Le Van Jr. of Sharon, Pa., whose bride of a few months is the former Katherine Armstrong, daughter of the Julian Armstrongs; Dwight Foster, John Ralph of Omaha, Chester Taylor Jr., Dal McMillan of Fort Worth, William Moloney, and Scott Jones of Hinsdale, a cousin of the bride. Mr. and Mrs. Charles O. Rundall of Evanston are the bridegroom's parents.

Norman H. Davis' Daughter Engaged to J. S. Getchell

New York, Nov. 29.—[Special.]—Mr. and Mrs. Norman H. Davis of 59 East 79th street and Oronoque, Stockbridge, Mass., have announced the engagement of their daughter, Miss Sarah Paschall Davis, to J. Sterling Getchell of this city and Greenwich, Conn. Under the administration of President Roosevelt Miss Davis' father has been designated ambassador-at-large, with a roving commission in Europe. The wedding is to be in January.

ENGAGEMENTS

Morris Mather of 1242 Lake Shore drive announces the engagement of his daughter, Elizabeth Davie, to Raymond Lobeck Young, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond G. Young of Omaha, Neb. Miss Mather is a graduate of Bryn Mawr. Mr. Young was graduated from Northwestern university and now is attending the Northwestern university medical school.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel B. Katz announce the engagement of their daughter, Rosalind Rau Katz, to Joseph E. Brunswick, son of Mrs. David J. Brunswick.

Prodigal Bette Is Back; Gets a Great Big Hand

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., Nov. 29.—[Special.]—In addition to the bouquets of roses, compliments and new dressing room tapestries with which Jack Warner, Hal Wallis, and other generalissimos of Warner studio greeted the returning prodigal daughter, Bette Davis, the boss presented Bette with the script for "Marked Woman" in which she is to star. Bette has been off the Warner pay roll since her walkout last July, which means that she might have earned $50,000 salary in that space of time had she not chosen to try to break her contract.

BETTE DAVIS.

Humphrey Bogart, who made his screen debut with Miss Davis in "Petrified Forest" recently and who delivered a much remarked performance in "Black Legion," while Bette was spending her money fruitlessly in attorneys' fees in an attempt to beat the Warner studio injunction in England, is going to be co-starred with Miss Davis.

Everybody gave Bette a big hand on the Warner lot; in the film business these walkouts and contract attacks are regarded as part of the business and nothing very personal.

"Marked Woman" is an original screen story by Robert Rosson and A. Finkel inspired by the recent Seabury and Lucky Luciano sensations in New York.

News of the Radio Stations

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

Week-end cuff notes: Ben Bernie is vacationing hereabouts; played golf with George Olsen Saturday, and saw the Bears and Cardinals battle yesterday. Bernie's wife is vacationing in Florida; Olsen's [Ethel Shutta] in Paris. We caught George reading a letter from Ethel Saturday in which he said she told him that she had seen Jack Hylton in London. Hylton is about to embark on a continental tour with his band. Pat O'Malley is to be a guest on Bernie's program Tuesday night and on W-G-N's Mardi gras Wednesday. Bernie is soon to start for Hollywood to make the picture, "Wake Up and Live." About the time he gets started on that, Olsen will go to New York to open his own new night club, the International Casino.

Sheila Barrett, impersonator at the Drake, asked Fred Allen for permission to do an impression of him. Fred drawled: "It's all right with me, but Rudy Vallee has been doing an imitation of me for so long that you better ask him, too." Allen, by the way, is heading for Hollywood shortly after the first of the year. . . . One of radio's bigger advertisers, a milling concern, is negotiating with several Hollywood studios for exclusive rights to broadcast directly from the sound stages. . . . And Henry Ford has negotiations afoot which would give his interests exclusive radio use of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer stars. . . . While Cecil B. De Mille vacations in New York this week Lionel Barrymore will referee the Hollywood Radio theater show. Loretta Young will star in "Polly of the Circus" tonight.

Ireene Wicker's Singing Lady broadcast, like Amos 'n' Andy's, is to take a new form on Friday evenings, beginning at Christmas. Miss Wicker is to present a series of musical plays on Fridays, her broadcast period to be expanded to a half hour on these occasions.

"The only civil war veteran who served in the trenches during the world war is to be fêted in a special broadcast at noon today over WLS on the occasion of his 90th birthday. He is Nicholas G. Van Sant, and he will speak for the first time over the radio from his home in Sterling, Ill.

That new ditty, "I Love You from Coast to Coast," may have been inspired by the Pons-Kostelanetz shuttlings from dusk to dawn between New York and Hollywood. . . . Some listeners say that Charlie Butterworth is stealing the show from Fred Astaire. However that may be, they jointly ought to get a medal for their double-breasted campaign against social bores, the platitude and bromide addicts. . . . James J. Braddock will draw $3,600 a week from a yeast concern for emoting before the mike.

House Frock Is Ideal Gift

WOMAN'S AND MISS' DRESS.

Because this little house frock is delightfully simple to make, and further, because it is attractive in the innumerable smart yet inexpensive wash fabrics, it will make an ideal Christmas gift for a family member or a close friend. It is the type of dress that every woman appreciates for her housekeeping hours, because it is pretty and has flattering lines, although it is beautifully easy to wash and iron.

Scallops do triple duty in creating chic for this simple model. They embellish the convertible neckline, which may be left open in lapel fashion, or buttoned up high to the throat. They also lend attraction to the cuffs on the short sleeves and form the motif of the interesting closing at the hipline.

For the house all of the practical and tubbable fabrics are important and appropriate. Dark ground cotton prints, such as percales, challis, and broadcloth are seasonable selections.

As you will see in the smaller sketch, you may give this frock long sleeves and fashion it of dressier fabrics. Presto! You have an attractive afternoon dress which may go to any informal event and be thoroughly at home.

If you do not feel that you can spare the time from your busy program to make your Christmas gifts, we have another suggestion. Give your aunt, mother, sister, or friend both the pattern and a lovely material for a present. She will appreciate it.

Style No. 2744 is designed for sizes 16 and 18 years, and 36, 38, 40, and 42 inches bust measurement. Size 36 requires 3⅛ yards of 39 inch material, with ½ yard of 35 inch contrasting.

"Potato Dishes, Sweet and Irish," a booklet of excellent ways to prepare these two kinds of potatoes, is on sale at the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street, and Tribune Tower, for 2 cents. By mail, 3 cents. Address mail requests to Mary Meade, Chicago Tribune.

BY MARY MEADE.

Do you cook 'em in their skins—potatoes, I mean? If you do, accept this verbal pat of approval. If you don't know that as much as 30 per cent of the food value in a potato may be lost if the cooking is done by our old favorite method of peeling the potato, allowing it to stand in cold water for a time, and then cooking it.

This loss is greatest in protein, necessary for growth, general health, and the repair of body tissues, and minerals, which keep the bones, teeth, and blood in condition and regulate physical processes.

Potatoes retain all their food value if steamed or baked in the skins, or cooked in their jackets without water in a heavy, covered container. If they are to be boiled, dropping them unpeeled into boiling, salted water is the best method of cooking. The skins may be removed when the potatoes are tender.

Much of the food value of potatoes is concentrated next to the skin and may be cut off with the parings or soaked out when the peeled vegetables are allowed to stand in water before cooking.

Many persons relish the skins of baked potatoes, and in eating these they not only are getting all of the food value of the vegetable but also "roughage," which helps to regulate elimination.

Baked potatoes should be broken open as soon as tender to allow the steam to escape and prevent sogginess.

Stuffed Baked Potatoes.

3 large baked potatoes
1 tablespoon butter
Hot milk [or tomato juice]
Salt and pepper
½ cup grated cheese [optional]

Cut the hot potatoes in halves lengthwise, scoop out the pulp and mash it, adding the other ingredients and using enough of the milk to make it light. Refill potato shells, piling the filling high, and replace in the oven to brown. Keep the temperature at 450 degrees, the proper heat for baking potatoes.

Surprise stuffed potatoes may be prepared by tucking a layer of hot ground or deviled meat, a strip of cooked bacon, or a slice of broiled tomato in the shell before the whipped potato is added.

If you never have tried baking peeled potatoes you might prepare them this way for variety some evening. Brushed with butter they develop a golden crust and are tenderly delicious inside. Care should be taken not to overcook them or let the oven temperature rise too high.

Leftover or freshly mashed potatoes may be served in individual potato puffs.

Potato Puffs.

2 cups mashed potatoes
2 eggs
½ cup milk
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup grated cheese [American]

Add the milk to the potato and beat well. A rotary egg beater will smooth the mixture. Add the beaten egg and salt and, gradually, the cheese. Fill buttered tins lightly and bake at 350 degrees until heated through and browned.

Culbertson's "Gold Book of Bidding and Play"

Herewith is presented another portion of Mr. Culbertson's latest work on contract, the "Gold Book of Bidding and Play," which is being reproduced in this column in daily instalments.

STRONG REBIDDABLE SUITS.

A suit containing five or more certain trump tricks is called a strong rebiddable suit and may be bid three times without support. The length of the suit may range from five cards to eight or even more cards.

Among the strong rebiddable suits are two types which, having distinct characteristics of their own, are separately classified:

Nearly ready-made suits, which are at least six cards in length and are headed by four of the five honors; or are seven cards in length and headed by three of the four top honors. The principal quality of such suits is that they contain not more than one loser, except against extremely improbable division of the remaining cards.

Ready-made suits go a step farther up the ladder. They also are at least six cards in length and cannot reasonably be expected to lose a trick.

TODAY'S HAND.

A great many correspondents ask me the correct opening lead on such and such a hand against certain bidding. I do my best to serve them by selecting a lead which is academically correct, but am tempted to have a rubber stamp made to use on all such inquiries, pointing out that in the department of opening leads particularly, some acquaintance with one's opponents' bidding tendencies is essential. Perhaps I should explain this. Let us assume that I sit West when the following bidding takes place:

South	West	North	East
1 spade	Pass	3 spades	Pass
4 diam.	Pass	4 spades	Pass
6 spades

[North-South do not use asking bids.]

My hand, from which I must select an opening lead, is ♠ 9 7 4 ♥ K 9 6 5 ♦ K 8 4 ♣ J 4 3. Against some players of my acquaintance I would lead a diamond as fast as I could get it out of my hand. I would feel almost certain that their particular bridge mentality had produced the four diamond bid solely as a lead preventer in diamonds. Witness the fact that South had gained no information from his partner by the bid [since North had merely signed off at four spades], but still had jumped directly to six spades on his next turn. Against other players in the South position I would not open a diamond because I would strongly suspect a double cross—i. e., that they were attempting to create in my mind the suspicion that they were trying to avoid a diamond opening. Obviously in these guessing contests you must know your opponents. Consider the following hand:

North, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

♥ K 4
♦ A K 9 5 3

WEST
♠ A K 4
♥ J 7 6
♦ 10 6 2
♣ K 10 9 8

EAST
♠ 10 9 7 6 5 3 2
♥ 8 3 2
♦ J 4
♣ J

SOUTH
♥ A Q 10 9 5
♦ Q 8 7
♣ 7 4 3

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 diamond	Pass	1 heart	Pass
2 clubs	Pass	2 hearts	Pass
3 clubs	Pass	3 no trump	Pass
Pass	Pass

It should be quite obvious to any player in West's seat that South's final three no trump is an out and out stab. His failure to bid two no trump after his partner had shown the two minor suits is indisputable evidence that he does not actually like a no trump contract. He cannot be well fixed in spades, and any opening lead other than the spade king by West shows a pitiful lack of imagination. Obviously on that lead East should signal with the highest possible card, the ten, and on a spade continuation the contract is severely defeated.

Also, obviously, North and South should have played the hand at four hearts. North should have raised the hearts after South's rebid, and six hearts would be made through good breaks in trumps, diamonds, and clubs.

TODAY'S QUESTION.

Question: What should be the opening bid on the following hand:
♠ A 9 ♥ Q 10 9 3 ♦ K J 6 4 ♣ K J 9?
Answer: One diamond.

Tomorrow's Hand

South, dealer.

NORTH
♥ K 4 3
♦ Q 9 5

WEST
♠ Q 5 4

♦ 10 4 2

EAST
♥ A Q 10 8 7 6
♦ A J 7 6 3

SOUTH
♠ K J 10 9 3
♦ K 8
♣ A K Q 8

Mr. Culbertson will discuss this hand in tomorrow's article.

Cohan and Harris to Join in Producing a Comedy

New York, Nov. 29.—(AP)—The once familiar theater announcement, "Cohan & Harris present ——" will be heard again after a lapse of fifteen years, Broadway learned today. George M. Cohan and Sam H. Harris, who had produced more than fifty plays and musical comedies over a fifteen year period, announced they would present late in January Parker Fennelly's "Fulton of Oak Falls," starring Cohan. The play, an "American comedy," is booked to open in Boston the week of Jan. 4.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

The hungry Blackhawks, restricted to a stringent diet of one victory in eight prior starts, were still in the starvation league following their 2 to 1 defeat by the Montreal Canadiens last night at the Chicago Stadium. They had crowded their way into the victory column on Thanksgiving night by doing in the Detroit Red Wings, champions of the world, and a hopeful assemblage of better than 13,000 was deceived into thinking that they might accomplish their second triumph of the National Hocky league season, which had included, previous to last night's sorry affair, one victory, three losses and four ties.

Hawks Take Lead.

This misconception was brought about in the first period, when Harold [Mush] March drove home what appeared to be the winning run, considering the manner of the Hawk operations at that moment.

That, however, proved to be a far fetched reach, for the second period produced the two goals that won for the Canadiens. First it was Jack McGill who slid the puck past Goalie Mike Karakas, and then, in the waning moments of the same session, Bill Miller, who was on the Maroons' roster last year, came through with the winning goal. The Hawks' efforts throughout the third period were frantic but fruitless.

March Makes Goal.

The Gottselig-March-Brydson line tramped onto the ice to cause the red lantern back of Cude to blink rather convincingly. This handsome effort, however, was nullified by an offside which Gottselig and Brydson, who had been in on the deal, eventually admitted.

The first goal of the evening came in the fifth second of the sixteenth minute, when March swept down the middle of the rink, behind Seibert, who had snatched the puck, and finally fired it home after Romnes had become involved in the deal. The latter was credited with an assist, although he attempted to yield to Seibert.

The Hawks' Seibert became the biggest pest of the evening by crashing down the ice and through the Canadiens' defense three times for whirring shots which were halted only by the able Cude. The Hawks were carrying the offense until McGill scored the tying goal, after Haynes and Lorrain had engineered a neat passing foray, each being credited with an assist.

Hawks Again Short.

The Hawks were left shorthanded for the second time, when Trudell committed his second error of the evening by upending McGill. Immediately thereafter Miller took a pass from Gagnon and shoved it past Karakas to make the score 2 to 1. The time was 14:10.

The opening of the third period was dedicated to a conservation of energy, each manager doing a noble job of switching forward lines. The Hawks, working savagely for the tying goal, pressed into Canadien territory until they had finally jostled the blue cap off of the noggin of Joliat, an achievement in itself. From there on the Canadiens were forced to gird themselves defensively, for the Hawks, by the concerted attack, put Cude to the test.

BY FRENCH LANE.

Kinrey Matsuyama of Japan and Earl Lookabaugh from the Illinois Athletic club in Chicago turned in brilliant victories in the play for the world's three cushion billiard championship in the Grand ballroom of the Hotel La Salle last night.

The Japanese, after a spectacular run of nine in the thirty-fifth session, trounced Allen Hall of Chicago by a score of 50 to 42. The game ended in the forty-fifth inning.

Match Is Close.

Lookabaugh, springing one of the biggest surprises of the tournament, turned back the veteran Arthur Thurnblad of Chicago, 50 to 30, in forty-one innings.

Matsuyama and Hall were staging one of the closest struggles of the tournament until the tiny Japanese cut loose with his cluster of nine late in the game. First one held the lead, then the other would go to the front. They were making brilliant shots, too.

Hall was leading 25 to 21 at the intermission, but the short rest pepped the Japanese up considerably. He got eight points in the next three innings and stayed in front from that stage of the battle until the finish.

Lookabaugh Makes Fast Start.

Lookabaugh started out at the fastest clip of any player so far. He clicked nine in the first three innings.

Thurnblad was favored by the experts in the betting, but in the early innings he was never able to get the balls rolling the way he wanted them to roll, while the I. A. C. veteran had everything under control. His second run of five took him past the halfway mark and he led at the intermission, 28 to 14. Most of the way he had maintained this 2 to 1 edge.

When play was resumed Lookabaugh went right on knocking them off. It wasn't until the 34th inning that Thurnblad showed any signs of threatening. By that time Lookabaugh was ahead, 41 to 19. Art ran a five, missed, and then came back with another five. This cut into the big margin but it was Thurnblad's last and only splurge. He made only one point after that, while Lookabaugh had a 4-0-3-1 and out.

Victory Is a Surprise.

The victory was a surprise, for not only had the only newcomer to the tournament defeated one of the main threats, but had done it in amazing fashion. Lookabaugh's last championship play was in 1928 when he won four and lost five. In two games this time, while splitting even, he has scored 85 points in 84 innings to prove himself a real threat. Score by innings:

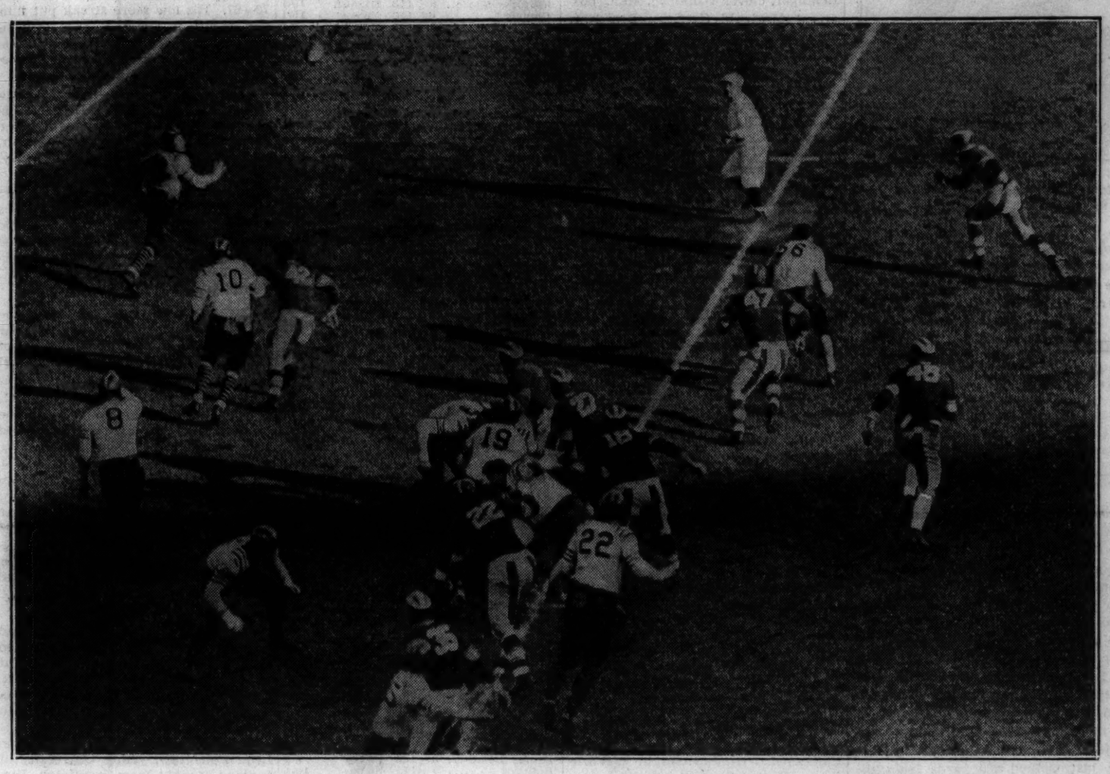
A PASS THAT WENT ASTRAY



Quarter Back Carl Brumbaugh (No. 8) of the Bears tosses a lateral pass to Half Back Beattie Feathers (No. 48) in the first quarter of yesterday's game with the Cardinals. Feathers dropped the pass and Billy Wilson (42), Cardinal end, being pushed away by Full Back Jack Manders (10), recovered on the 30 yard line, but the officials ruled it an incompleted forward pass, although, as shown by this photograph, it was palpably a backward pass. Other Bears in the picture are Hewitt (56), Karr (22), Kawal (19), Musso (16), falling in against Kawal; Stydahar (13), blocking in front of Kawal; Nolting (25), in the foreground; Danny Fortmann, squatting in blocking position in the back field. The Cardinals are Tipton (27), Hughes (18), Baker (22), Creighton (35), Mikulak (48), Cuppoletti (47), Nichelini, upper right.

SCHWABENS AND SWEDES WIN IN SOCCER FINALS

The Schwabens of the International league won the class A finals in THE TRIBUNE'S amateur soccer tournament yesterday by defeating the Chicago Olympian eleven, 4 to 0.

The Swedish American Reserves won the class B title by a 3 to 1 victory over the Atlas team of Milwaukee. Both games were played at Norwegian park, 4600 Fullerton avenue.

Playing a fast, aggressive game, the Schwabens scored the first goal ten minutes after the game began. Kutch, one of the fastest centers in the game, skilfully maneuvered the ball down the west side of the field and sent a sizzling shot past Goalie Kratochvil. Obtaining possession of the ball the Olympians started a drive toward the Schwaben goal, but brilliant work on the part of right back Schaff turned them back.

Play Becomes Faster.

The play became faster and both sides overlooked opportunities to score until after forty minutes of play when the Schwabens again tricked Kratochvil at the net for the second goal. The Schwabens were two up at the half.

In the second period the Schwabens scored two more goals due mostly to the fine play of Kutch and Schaaf. The Olympians missed their only chance to score on a free kick from close to the penalty line. Keberle's rocket-like drive was headed out by Rapp.

Swedes Defeat Atlas.

The Swedish Reserves and Atlas battled for forty minutes without a score. Just before the half ended the Swedes scored on a penalty kick, which was netted by Larson. W. Hilding scored the second goal early in the second period when he drove a bullet-like drive past Ritonia, the Atlas goalie. Atlas scored its only

C.Y.O. Heavyweights Throw Gloves Full of Dynamite

When the heavyweights start throwing punches in the Catholic Youth organization championship fight at the Stadium Wednesday night a knockout is in prospect. For this sixteenth bout, the conclusion of the sixth annual amateur tournament will match two heavy handed boys. Each desires to end the match before the third round is over.

John Howe, a fighting Irishman from Little Flower parish, a graduate of Tilden Tech High school, and winner of last year's novice heavyweight title, will meet Clarence Brown, a graduate of Waukegan High school, who now lives in Evanston.

It's the old Chicago theme: North side versus south side. And you may wager right now that all the folks living south of the loop will be cheering for Howe. And the north side, backed by a delegation from Waukegan, will cheer for Brown.

Howe Now Loyola Student.

There may be a defection in the north side ranks, however, for Howe now is a student at Loyola university where he matriculated after winning a Bishop Sheil scholarship last year by his victory in the novice ranks.

More than 20,000 are expected to attend the C. Y. O. bouts which climax the amateur tournament which started last month. More than 2,000 boys have competed and the 32 lads who fight for novice and open division titles Wednesday have come a long way since their preliminary encounters.

The heavyweight match which will complete the eight novice bouts just before the intermission might easily take the play from the more experienced boxers. In this fight, Bob Wilinski, a Polish boy who has been employed at a south side steel company since his graduation from Bowen High school, will meet Lawrence Roemer, a German boy who recently began boxing. Roemer, who attends St. Viator college, Bourbonnais, Ill., hopes to become a certified public accountant.

Wants to be Policeman.

Wilinski desires to become a member of the Chicago police department. If he cracks Roemer on the jaw Wednesday night, it would be a splendid way in which to call attention to his ability to maintain order.

One of the outstanding newcomers to the open division is Florentine Arreguin of Spanish descent, who was born in Topeka, Kas., and hopes to complete his high school education next year at Englewood High school. Arreguin was the surprise of the middleweights, for he whipped Hiner Thomas, defending champion, in the semi-finals which were held last week. Until this reverse, Thomas had been almost a prohibitive choice to retain his title.

Arreguin has been boxing two years and he has won 30 of his 40 matches. Last year he was runnerup to Tony Gora for the novice middleweight championship. He will be opposed by Cornelius Young of St. Cecilia parish, another Tilden Tech graduate, who won the welterweight novice title last year. By virtue of that victory, Young also has been attending Loyola on a scholarship.

End Training Today.

The 32 finalists will complete their serious training today at the C. Y. O. gymnasium. Paddy Kane has charge of the workouts and he is assisted by Johnny Brown, former C. Y. O. and Golden Gloves champion, and Dick Fitzpatrick. Until Saturday, Andy Scrivani, another former champion, had worked out with the boys.

HARRIS VOTED MOST VALUABLE IOWA PLAYER

Honor Roll

SIX Western conference schools have named their most valuable players, who are eligible for The Tribune's annual silver football trophy. Those selected are:

Homer Harris, Iowa, end.
Matt Patanelli, Michigan, end.
John Drake, Purdue, half back.
Edwin Widseth, Minnesota, tackle.
Cliff Kuhn, Illinois, guard.
Vernon Huffman, Indiana quarter back.

Iowa City, Ia., Nov. 29.—[Special.]—Homer Harris, colored end from Seattle, Wash., has been chosen by his teammates as Iowa's candidate for The Chicago Tribune's silver football award given annually to the western conference player adjudged most valuable to his team. This was announced today by Coach Ossie Solem.

Harris nosed out Ozzie Simmons, star half back, by a single vote. Twelve votes went to Harris, eleven to Simmons, and one each to Bush Lamb, a half back, and Don [Red] Nelson, a guard.

Players found little to choose between the team's two colored stars, but the honor went to Harris apparently because his teammates called him the best man in Iowa's line this year. Harris, a junior, has been a regular for two years.

One of his most brilliant performances was in the Minnesota game, when he outplayed every man hurled against him, and was responsible for almost half the tackles made by the Hawkeyes.

BY WILFRID SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 29.—The Green Bay Packers, who have been trying to regain the National Professional football title ever since they relinquished it in 1932 after a three year reign, practically realized their ambition this wintry afternoon at the University of Detroit stadium. Before a throng of 22,000 the Packers whipped the Detroit Lions, 26 to 17, and assured themselves of the western division title. This is tantamount, as the records for this season's campaign show, to victory in the playoff with the eastern division winner, since the east has won only one contest from any western foe with the exception of the Chicago Cardinals.

Score on Fifty Yard Pass.

The Packers certainly performed like champions this afternoon. Undoubtedly the Lions were tired from their gruelling battle with the Chicago Bears last Thursday. But it is doubtful if the Detroit boys could have checked the Packers had they rested for a week.

Passing is the Packer specialty, with Arnie Herber the accurate passer, and Don Hutson the receiver. This is no secret to the Lions. But on the fourth play from scrimmage this afternoon Herber fired the ball far down field to the speeding Hutson. The pass traveled more than 50 yards from where Herber had run to the side.

Hutson grabbed the ball in stride on the Detroit 18 yard line and raced on to the goal for a total gain of 57 yards on the play.

Lions Tie It Up Twice.

Ernie Smith place kicked the point and Green Bay led, 7 to 0. The Packers never were headed, although twice they were tied by the fiercely fighting Lions. The Detroit boys matched each Packer touchdown until the count was deadlocked at 14-all in the second period. For a third time Green Bay went into the lead and then finished the half in front, 20 to 14.

This also concluded the touchdown scoring, but in the last two quarters both elevens, now checked in their running and passing assaults, turned loose their field goal specialists. The Packers also showed the way in this department, with Tiny Engebretsen place kicking for three points from Detroit's 22 yard line in the third period. Dutch Clark matched this score in the same quarter with a drop kick from the Packers' 25 yard

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.

The rout of the Bears, started in Detroit on Thursday, was completed yesterday by an aroused Cardinal team that struck back in the fourth quarter to blast its arch rival out of the National league championship picture with two touchdowns and a 14 to 7 victory.

Vengeance rode with the two last period thrusts that sent George Grosvenor, a Bear castoff, over from the half yard line and got him away on a 66 yard run for the scores that definitly eliminated the Bears from the race.

It was just a year ago, in the last game of the season, that the Bears had closed the door to the championship in the Cardinals' face.

Bears Score First.

Victory was a long time coming to the Cardinals, who had not beaten a Bear team since Ernie Nevers led them to a 40 to 6 triumph seven years ago. They spotted the Bears seven points in the opening minutes of the game when Beattie Feathers climaxed a 60 yard march with a 10 yard pass into the end zone to Bill Hewitt and Jack Manders added the extra point. Then the Cardinals battled courageously for more than three quarters, collapsing three times in that last long mile between the 15 yard line and the goal.

Two opportunities were kicked away in the third quarter when Clarence Kellog, a rookie half back from St. Mary's, was sent in to place kick. Kellogg has been trying to make field goals for the Cardinals for more than a month, while Bill Smith, one of the league leaders in this department last year, sits idly by. Kellogg's two efforts yesterday bordered on the comical and the Cardinals went pointless after reaching the 26 and 13 yard lines.

Another Excursion Fails.

A third excursion into scoring territory went for naught when Bill Smith caught Pug Vaughn's eight yard pass with one foot out of the end zone. Another opportunity was wasted when the Cardinals attempted to buck through the Bear line from the three yard line in the third quarter and Joe Stydahar smothered Vaughn's fourth down pass.

While they were fresh the Bears resembled the powerhouse that had remained in first place or tied for the lead from the first game until last Thursday. They marched 60 yards for their score the first time they had the ball and successfully defended this lead for three quarters. But the persistence of the Cardinal's attack, the physical beatings assimilated at Detroit and the absence of Bronko Nagurski and Keith Molesworth, who were injured against the Lions, began to take its toll in the fourth period.

Grosvenor Takes Charge.

Midway in the period, Grosvenor fumbled a pass from center, recovered it and kicked 46 yards out of bounds on the Bears' two yard line. When Corbett kicked back, Grosvenor returned the punt ten yards to the Bears' 39 yard line. Nichilini made 11 yards outside right tackle and Pangle was stopped at left tackle.

Then Grosvenor took charge. He carried the ball four times and passed to Nichilini for 18 yards on another, going over outside Stydahar from the half yard line on his last plunge. Smith kicked the tying point.

Seven plays later, Grosvenor brought the 13,704 people to their feet with his 66 yard run. He had returned Feathers' punt 15 yards to the Cardinal 34 yard line. On first down, from short punt formation, he raced wide around the Bears' right end, where Mike Mikulak had knocked down Ted Rosequist and started down the sidelines in front of the grand stand.

Makes Winning Run.

GAY HIGHWAY TAKES HIS 2D SHOW RIBBON

Wins in Three Gaited Competition.

BY FRENCH LANE.

The pride of the International Horse show so far is Gay Highway, the 5 year old saddle star from H. S. Silberman's Delaine farm at Glenview.

When he gracefully and in high spirit walked, trotted and cantered to first place in the event for three gaited horses he became the first horse to win two blue ribbons in this year's show. He had triumphed against Chicago rivals in a similar event opening night, then won soon after the international competition, started yesterday, just as handily.

This class was to be judged on conformation, substance, finish, style, beauty, manners and way of going. Gay Highway, ridden by Lloyd Teaters of Chicago, had "everything," as a galleryite from back o' the yards explained to his chum from over on Halsted street.

Radio Rhythm Falls.

Gay Highway might not have won so easily had Radio Rhythm, owned by H. Leslie Atlass, been able to make his tail behave.

Arthur Naylor, for years one of Chicago's best show ring horsemen, was in the saddle on Radio Rhythm. The 6 year old did everything as well as Gay Highway did, except to keep his tail riding high and straight.

Instead, he let the all flop over to the right and left. Naylor frequently tickled it with his whip and had him going in good style most of the time. Still the one fault eliminated Radio Rhythm, but his performance was good enough to place him fourth. Second place went to Milady Bess, a 4 year old mare from the Williamsdale farm near Erlanger, Ky. Third honors were won by Short Hill, a 5 year old, owned by Moses W. Faitoute of Short Hills, N. J.

Another record attendance of 22,000 watched the afternoon and night sessions of the show, which brought about the first of the international competition. Chicago horses held their own throughout these two session, but that was about all they were able to do.

Smack of Race Track.

A Kentucky horse jumped into prominence when Calumet Armistice from Spindletop stables at Lexington won the class for roadsters shown under saddle. The riders in this event appeared in stable colors and gave a smack of the race track when they galloped into the arena. Susan McGregor, shown by Mrs. Howard K. Hurwith of Wilmette was good enough to be second, with Grand Larceny, a veteran show ring performer from the George J. Peak farm at Winchester, Ill., third.

Gay Highway, winner of three blue ribbons in the national show in New York, will seek his third international "blue" tonight, Monday, in the ladies' three gaited saddle horse event. He will be ridden by Miss Louise Silberman, daughter of the Delaine farm owner.

The results of yesterday's event follow:

THREE-GAITED SADDLE HORSES—Won by Gay Highway, Delaine farms, Glen View; Milady Bess, Williamsdale Farms, Erlanger, Ky., second; Short Hills, Moses W. Faitoute, Short Hills, N. J., third; Radio Rhythm, B. Leslie Atlass, Chicago, fourth.

ROADSTER—[shown under saddle]—Won by Calumet Armistice Spindletop stable, Lexington, Ky.; Susan McGregor, Mrs. Howard K. Hurwith, Wilmette, second; Grand Larceny, George J. Peak & Son, Winchester, Ill., third; Sunlight, Dr. R. A. Kidd Jr., Columbus, O., fourth.

Belanger and Harry Thomas Clash Tonight

Tonight's Card

Harry Thomas vs. Charley Belanger [10], heavyweights.
Tony Cianciola vs. Johnny Terry [5], 148.
Andy Scrivani vs. Don Ross [4], 133.
Tony Michaels vs. Steve Souris [4], 137.
Ritchie Howell vs. Walter Matthys [4], 126.

Harry Thomas, Eagle Bend, Minn., heavyweight slugger, will be in quest of his tenth knockout in fifteen appearances in the last year tonight in a ten round headliner against Charley Belanger, clever Winnipeg, Man., boxer, at Marigold Gardens, Broadway and Grace street.

In case he achieves the quest his chances for a proposed match with Joe Louis as a substitute for the injured Johnny Risko at Cleveland, Dec. 14, will be increased considerably.

Johnny Terry, south side welterweight, has been substituted for Gene Higgins against Tony Cianciola, Milwaukee, Wis., in the five round semifinal. Higgins asked to be excused when he aggravated an old jaw injury in training.

Steve Souris, Gary lightweight, clashes with Tony Michaels, and Ritchie Howell, Danville featherweight, faces Walter Matthys in two of three other contests.

Rai Steele, 218 pound wrestler from St. Louis, will meet Benny Cohen, California 212 pounder, in a supplementary engagement on the card headed by performances between Milo Steinborn and Jack League, and Ralph Kirchmeyer and Nick Elitch tonight at Rainbo Fronton, Clark street and Lawrence avenue. Steele, who has been a topnotcher for more than fifteen years, supplants Mario Espinoza. The match is set for one fall with a 30 minute time limit. Each topliner is scheduled for 60 minutes. Other encounters concern Danny Winters and Jack Condellis, and Pat Murphy and Eddie Newman.

Frankie Hart and Mike Kilonis will be principals in Promoter Joe Coffey's mat windup tonight at White City, 63d street and South Park avenue. In a previous struggle they went 90 minutes to a draw. The rematch is for 60 minutes. José Manuel is paired with Stan Buresch in the semi-final, booked for 30 minutes. Ray Ryan meets Lefty Pacer, Bill Brooks tackles Babe Kasaboski, and Frenchy Leavitt hooks up with Clyde Boone.

Pete Ferand, New Orleans, La., bantamweight, and Bob Wiley will meet in a five round contest which tops the amateur program tonight at the Johnny Coulon club, 1154 East 63d street.

Shooting Ducks from a Pothole Is Real Sport

BY BOB BECKER.

After several great duck hunts in an open marsh we find a lot of fun in doing a little "catch as catch can" shooting in a woods hole. On a recent trip to Cuba Island near Saidora in the Illinois river valley we had more sport around a small pothole in thick timber than we can recall for a long time.

Buck, our hunting partner, slid into this hole, 50 feet wide and about 125 feet long, before we did. It was a bright day and a bit late in the afternoon to try a regular blind so he just walked 250 yards from the clubhouse with his gun and a few shells to see if he could get a shot or two at mallards.

It was 3:35 p. m. before we joined Buck. We found him sitting on a log at the edge of the pond which was about two feet deep. Weeds were around the edge of the water. All around us tall trees and a heavy growth of willows rose skyward. Some of the trees towered 60 or 70 feet.

Except for our duck caller we had no equipment . . . no blind, no boat or decoys. We just stood behind a stump while Buck sat on a log. The ducks which wanted to come in to this place would show up close to the op ning in the trees, look things over, and then hesitate.

A few notes from the caller and in they would come, a regular slide down the chute the chutes because the birds had to skid into this small hole set among the trees. It was a circus shooting at these mallards. We remember one that skidded right in front of Buck just as he shot. He missed it and so did we because we were a fraction of a second behind him on the trigger pull. Then came the second barrels to down the bird.

Another time a drake came in so fast with his feet out that we thought he was going through the water and into the mud. He came down at such a speed that his wings made whistling sounds. To swing on this bird was a real job. Buck said he nearly threw his arm out of joint trying to point a gun.

Each shot was from an entirely different angle but every one produced a lot of laughs. So without a blind or decoys we had our "sitting on a log" hunt, and we picked up seven mallards in the 35 minutes before quitting time.

CHINESE BOXER MATCHED WITH EDDIE PIERCE

Ralph Chong, Chinese middleweight from New Orleans, La., will oppose Eddie Pierce, champion of South Africa, for ten rounds at Chicago Stadium Dec. 9, it was announced yesterday by Matchmaker James C. Mullen. The announcement rounds out the program of four encounters at ten rounds. Maurice Strickland is paired with Edward [Unknown] Winston, Holyoke, Mass., heavyweight; Joey Connolly will clash with Frankie Klick, San Francisco, Cal., lightweight, and Patrick Michael Barry is matched with Buddy Baer, 240 pound fighter from Fair Oaks, Cal.

Guldahl Wins Augusta Open; Score Is 283

Augusta, Ga., Nov. 29.—(AP)—Streaking down the stretch in a Garrison finish, slender Ralph Guldahl of St. Louis, overtook the field today to win first place money in the $5,000 Augusta open golf tournament with a 72 hole score of 283.

The young automobile salesman stroked the last eighteen holes in 67, four under par, to pick up $1,000 and triumph by two strokes over Henry Pickard of Hershey, Pa., and Denny Shute, of Boston, recently crowned P. G. A. champion.

Guldahl, a 100 to 1 shot at the outset, triumphed in dark horse style, putting together rounds of 75—71—70—67. His low score streak put him out ahead of Harry Cooper of Chicago in the race between the professionals for the Radix trophy, emblematic of low scoring honors.

Picard and Shute split $1,300 prize money for second place. Back of this pair with 286s came Tommy Armour of Chicago, Al Watrous of Detroit, and Jimmy Hines of Garden City, N. Y. They divided $1,100.

In widening his winning effort with a 67 Guldahl tied with Cooper and Watrous for low scoring on the final round and established a three way lock for a new competitive record over the Forest Hills course.

Western Open Winner.

The tall, robust Guldahl won the western open tournament this year with a total of 274, lowest figure of the season along the professional circuit.

Tony Manero of Greensboro, N. C., national open champion who led the field after 36 holes with 140, finished in a tie with Paul Runyan of White Plains, N. Y., at 287. They split $475.

Grouped at 288 were Less Madison of Hollywood, Cal., Abe Espinosa of New Orleans, Ky Laffoon of Chicago, and Horton Smith of Chicago. They were trailed with 289's by Willie MacFarlane of New York, Jimmy Demaret of Houston, Tex.; Cooper, and Byron Nelson of Ridgewood, N. J.

Mangrum, Mehlhorn Tie.

Ray Mangrum of Pittsburgh and Bill Mehlhorn of Louisville finished with 291's, a stroke in front of Pat Sawyer of Washington, Bobby Cruickshank of Richmond, Leonard Dodson of Springfield, Mo., and Craig Wood of Deal, N. J.

The low amateur trophy went to Leon Pettigrew, young University of Indiana student from Pendleton, Ind. He carded 301. Morton McCarthy of Virginia Beach, Va., was next with 317.

PRAGER BEERS LOSE INTER-CITY BOWLING MATCH

The Prager Beers of the Classic Bowling league lost their intercity elimination match to the St. Louis Budweisers by 35 pins on the 12 games, the last six of which were bowled at White City yesterday. The Budweisers grand total was 11,041 including 2,960 yesterday afternoon, while the Pragers totaled 11,006, of which 2,952 was bowled yesterday. Yesterday's scores:

PEDEN, THOMAS LEAD NEW YORK 6 DAY BIKE RACE

New York, Nov. 29.—[Special.]—After three hours of wild riding in which 108 laps were stolen and which brought the withdrawal of Fabio Battesini of Italy from the race due to stage fright after 75 miles of pedaling, Peden and Thomas were leading the field in New York's 61st International six day bike race. Walthour and Crossley were second and Ignat and Diot were third.

Chief Judge Frank Kramer handed out $25 fines to Giuseppe Olmo and Adolf Schon for lax riding, early in the evening. The midnight standing:

CARDINALS BEAT BEARS, 14-7, ON GROSVENOR'S RUN

back as Pangle blocked out the clutching Bear. Cupoletti, playing with an injured shoulder, bumped another Bear out of the way and Grosvenor struck down the middle of the field with Brumbaugh and Rosequist in pursuit. He eluded Brumbaugh's desperate dive and sprawled over the line as Rosequist hit him. Smith again kicked the extra point.

The victory provided the Cardinals with a measure of satisfaction in a disastrous season, a satisfaction that will be complete if they are able to close their schedule at Wrigley field next week with a triumph over the Green Bay Packers, whom they elevated to the western division championship with their conquest of the Bears yesterday.

For the Bears it closed a season that began as one of the most successful in the team's history, but ended in disappointment in every respect except financially. Their extended winning streak at the start of the campaign, coupled with a general increase in professional football's popularity, has made this year one of the team's most profitable, which is a source of great solace to the directors.

Bears March to Touchdown.

The Bears marched 60 yards to a touchdown the first time they got the ball. Feathers returned Grosvenor's quick kick 12 yards to the Bears' 40 yard line and went 13 yards on third down to the Cardinals' 46 yard line. The Cardinals stopped him at left end, but on second down he charged outside of right tackle for 15 yards and another first down.

Feathers carried the ball on five of the next seven plays and passed 10 yards to Hewitt for the touch down. He smashed inside left tackle for four yards, repeated outside the same position for four, then came right back with a nine yard drive through the hole at tackle that Baker was trying desperately to plug. Manders added the extra point.

The statistics, which reveal the Cardinals' superiority in every department, follow:

	Cardinals.	Bears.
First downs	13	9
Yards gained rushing	217	126
Yards gained passing	107	57
Yards gained on laterals	0	17
Total yards gained	324	200

Packers Whip Lions, 26-17; Clinch Title

First Packer Kick to Miss.

But in the last quarter Smith made his amends by place kicking from Detroit's 38 yard line and thus establishing the final tabulation. Incidentally Smith's failure to kick the point after the Packers' third touchdown was the first time this season Green Bay has not received full value for a touchdown. Green Bay had scored 30 points for 30 touchdowns until this kick, which was lo wand shot to the right of the posts.

This game had everything. The Packers dominated the passing, but they also matched the Lions' running game with 132 yards from scrimmage as compared to Detroit's 137 yards. Packer passes gained 20 yards as compared with the Lions' 83 yards. The Packers led in first downs, 13 to 12.

On the first scrimmage play of the game, after Herber had returned the Lions' kickoff from the goal to his 30 yard line, George Sauer cracked through the Detroit line for 14 yards. Then came Herber's long pass and Hutson, a 10 second sprinter in football clothes, ran away from Frank Christensen as if the Lion back was pulling an iron weight on each ankle.

Fumble Leads to Lion Score.

Two minutes later, however, Sauer, by fumbling on Detroit's 50 yard line, where Clare Randolph recovered for the Lions, opened the way for the Detroit touchdown which matched the Herber-Hutson score.

The Lions paraded to the goal in 15 plays. Ace Gutowsky smashed at center on spinner plays, Ernie Caddel gained on reverses to the weak side, Clark gained on off tackle smashes, and when this attack bogged, after three first downs, Clark passed to Caddel, who gained 17 yards and was run out on Green Bay's 1 yard line.

On the second play after this pass, Clark cracked inside of Ernie Smith and went over the goal line standing up. His drop kick tied the score, 7 to 7.

Packers March 80 Yards.

The Packers received Caddel's kickoff which soared over the end zone for a touchback, and then marched 80 yards for the touchdown which again put them into the lead. No other back touched the ball except Sauer and Herber until Clark Hinkle, the full back, smashed four yards between George Christensen, right tackle, and John Schneller, right end, for the touchdown. Smith place kicked the point.

The Lions tied the score on the second play of the second quarter. As the first period ended Bob Monnett had made a first down on the Lions' 40 yard line. He was stopped without gain on the opening play of the second quarter. Then came the theft of the ball by Shepherd.

Joe Laws started wide to his left. He was tackled by Harry Ebding and Joe Kopcha behind the line. As he went down, Shepherd came in at full speed and grabbed the ball from Laws' hands. Without checking his rush Shepherd ran 57 yards down the field with a coterie of blue clad Lions bringing up the rear and dropping the pursuers. Presnell's place kick tied the score at 14 to 14.

Green Bay went back into the lead within three minutes and the manner of the score, by blocking Frank Christensen's kick, compensated for the theft of the ball from Laws.

Smith Blocks Kick.

An exchange of punts, and then a rush of linesmen which forced Shepherd back to Detroit's 33 yard line on attempted pass on third down set the stage. On fourth down Frank Christensen momentarily fumbled the pass from center. This was sufficient for Smith, who blocked the kick which bounded back to the Lions three yard line. Hutson picked it up and went across the goal line, where he was tackled by Shepherd and fumbled. But the touchdown had been automatically scored when he crossed the line. Smith's failure to kick the point left the Packers leading, 20 to 14.

The place kick by Engebretsen in the third period concluded a Packer march which started on the Green Bay 41 yard line and was smothered on Detroit's 12 yard line.

Detroit received the kickoff and from its own 38 yard line went to the Packers' 16 yard line in nine plays. But Green Bay held and Clark drop kicked on fourth down standing on the Packer 25 yard line.

After the kickoff Hinkle's 71 yard punt put Detroit deep in its own territory. Sauer's return of Frank Christensen's kick to the Green Bay 44 yard line was signal for the final scoring drive.

Although the Packers were penalized 15 yards for holding, the drive finally reached Detroit's 30 yard line. Here Smith place kicked on fourth down from Detroit's 38 yard line for the last three points of the game.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

FIRST HUDDLE?

THE huddle in which football players group themselves behind the line of scrimmage to hear signals for the next play has almost universally supplanted the old system whereby the quarter back called signals after the lineup. Among other advantages, players are better able to hear signals, especially if there is noisy cheering from the stands. Because the huddle is limited to 30 seconds, it does not give time to discussion of tactics by members of the squad who still must depend upon the signal caller.

Origin of the huddle is somewhat in dispute, with Illinois generally credited for its introduction in the middle west more than a decade ago. Now comes a voice from the past which says the huddle was used, of necessity, as far back as 1901. The voice is that of H. A. [Dixie] Fleager, Northwestern captain of 1903, now of the Hood Bay Canning company in Seattle, Wash. In a recent letter to The Wake, Mr. Fleager wrote:

"What I believe was first use of the now common huddle in football occurred in the Northwestern-Michigan game of 1900 or 1901 [Editor's note: 1901. Michigan, 29; Northwestern, 0.]. Our quarter back, signal caller, safety man and star was A. F. Johnson, '02, a great hero at old North Division High prior to coming to N. U.

"Johnny, as he was affectionally called, was hit in the head during the early part of the second half and lost all his memory of numbers and the signals. Otherwise he was as clear as ever, but try as he would no signals could he recall.

"He called us around him in a circle 5 yards back of the ball, explained his dilemma and said 'Dietz, you take it through Hanson.' So we played the remainder of the game with plays directed by Johnny in that manner, and that in my opinion was the birth of the huddle. Johnny is at present near Little Rock, Ark., address Hotel Freiderica there. He is in the oil game—and hitting that as hard as he did the nine man line we used to oppose."

Boston, Mass., Nov. 29.—(AP)—The Boston Redskins went into first place in the eastern division of the National Pro Football league by overwhelming the fumbling Pittsburgh Pirates, 30 to 0, today before a crowd of 7,000 at Fenway park.

The victory boosted the Redskins into a half game lead over the New York Giants. The eastern division championship will be at stake next week when these two elevens clash in New York.

Battles Scores.

Cliff Battles plowed over for the first touchdown from the two yard line to end a 75 yard march.

A fumbled punt by John Gildea, which Vic Carroll recovered for Boston on Pittsburgh's 15 yard line, gave Sam Buisch an opportunity to boost the lead to 10 to 0 with a 20 yard field goal from placement. Just before the half ended, Carroll intercepted one of Eddie Matesic's southpaw passes and raced 50 yards for the second Boston touchdown.

Irwin Dashes 80 Yards.

"Turk" Edwards, Boston's 260 pound tackle, fell on Warren's Heller's fumble in the Pittsburgh end zone for the third touchdown and the fourth was supplied by Don Irwin, former Colgate star, on a 30 yard dash through center late in the final session.

Navy Football Players Receive Stormy Welcome

Annapolis, Md., Nov. 29.—(AP)—The Navy football squad, which conquered Army Saturday, came home tonight to an uproarious reception.

Cheers roared from 5,000 throats—officers, midshipmen and townspeople—as members of the victorious eleven stepped from the special train bringing them back from their 7 to 0 triumph in Philadelphia yesterday. Bands and fire sirens added to the din of the welcome.

Then came the victory celebration. It included a "funeral procession" for Cadet C. R. [Monk] Myers, Army's ball carrying ace, and reached its climax in the ringing of the Japanese bell, sounded only for a victory over Army.

Rivers J. Morrell, Los Angeles, Cal., captain of the Navy team; J. Sneed Schmidt, St. Joseph, Mo., who scored the winning touchdown, and William T. Ingram II., Culver, Ind., who dropkicked the extra point, were hoisted to the seat of the Independence Fire company's light and salvage truck. The truck's arc lights blazed over the celebrating crowd.

ISBELL ELECTED CAPTAIN OF 1937 WEST POINT TEAM

West Point, N. Y., Nov. 29.—(AP)—James Horace Isbell, 6 foot 200 pound tackle from Union City, Tenn., who came to West Point from the regular army, will captain Army's football team in 1937.

Following an annual custom, the West Point footballers elected Isbell on the way home from the Navy game last night. He succeeds W. W. Stromberg, end, from Chicago.

A second class man [junior], Isbell received an appointment to the military academy while serving an enlistment in the regular army in 1933. He is Army's outstanding heavyweight boxer, and has been on the squad for two years.

Harris Voted Most Valuable Iowa Player

the Iowa team before the Purdue game, which the Hawkeyes lost by two touchdowns, Harris circulated a petition in the dressing room, which exacted a promise that every player would give his best on the field. This action followed the clash between Simmons and Coach Solem.

Philadelphia writers who saw Harris perform in Iowa's 25 to 0 victory over Temple called him the greatest end they had watched this year. Harris was one of the team's best pass catchers and took an aerial from Simmons for Iowa's only touchdown against Indiana.

A shifty and heady player, Harris rarely was knocked off his feet by blockers, and seldom erred in diagnosing plays. His most spectacular work was in going down under punts to nail the opposing receiver.

Harris also proved valuable as a punter, kicking the ball for an average of nearly forty yards.

The 20 year old Harris is one of the best students among Iowa football players. He is 6 feet 2 inches tall, and weighs 195 pounds. In high school he won all-city honors in Seattle for three years, being used as a tackle, end, and half back.

Former Football Star at Holy Cross Is Dead

Milford, Mass., Nov. 29.—[Special.]—Alfred Alzerini, 27 years old, who was considered one of the best ends ever developed at Holy Cross, died today at a Worcester hospital. He was graduated in 1930, after three years on the Varsity football team, and was a member of the baseball and track squads.

Lash and Indiana Capture A. A. U. Harrier Titles

Newark, N. J., Nov. 29.—(AP)—Don Lash, the University of Indiana's distance runner who holds the world's two mile record, captured the National A. A. U. cross country championship today for the third consecutive year. He covered the 6¼ mile rolling course through Branch Brook park in 32 minutes and 37 seconds.

Lash's victory, achieved by a margin of 350 yards over his teammate and fellow Olympian, Tom Deckard, made him the second runner in the meet's 40 year history to gain the individual crown three successive times. Willie Ritola, Finnish star, performed the feat from 1925 to 1927, inclusive.

Indiana's powerful squad, undefeated for two seasons, wrested the team crown from the Millrose A. A., which had held the title from 1929 until today.

The Hoosier harriers compiled a perfect score of 15 points, an achievement without parallel in three decades.

A group of fifty-seven, representing seven of the cross-country powers in the east and midwest, were bunched at the mile mark. At this point Lash, Deckard, and James Smith increased the pace and gained a comfortable margin.

A crowd estimated at 5,000, the largest ever to watch a cross-country event here, cheered as he sprinted the last 100 yards.

RED WINGS TAKE 2 TO 0 BEATING FROM AMERICANS

Shutout Second Straight for Champions.

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 29.—(AP)—The New York Americans, led by the high scoring Dave [Sweeney] Schriner, handed Detroit's champion Red Wings their second successive shutout defeat tonight. The score was 2 to 0, with Schriner scoring both goals.

Approximately 8,500 fans saw the Americans seize quickly on what scoring opportunities were offered to cement their leadership of the International division of the National Hocky league.

Schriner broke the scoreless deadlock after 16:02 of the second period while Ebbie Goodfellow, Detroit defense man, was in the penalty box. The final score came early in the third period when the Red Wing forwards, driving down the ice, lost the puck to Chapman, who poked it to Schriner for a clear shot. Lineup:

Dual-drive six-wheel models are available in four capacities.

● International Harvester has built high-grade trucks for more than 30 years. Each year it has become more apparent that no truck builder can do the best job on everybody's hauling with only one or two models in his line. Internationals come in 31 models—91 wheelbase lengths—and our customers find a great many ways to use every one of them.

When you come to International Harvester you can buy just as much truck as you need. We will not ask you to buy more. Your own judgment will tell you not to buy less.

Some of the larger Internationals are six-wheeled giants, with dual drive and 15 forward speeds. The smallest model is a little pick-up truck that is known everywhere for its low-cost operation. Between these two extremes we offer you the widest line of light and heavy-duty trucks, for rock-bottom economy in every class of service.

Whatever size you choose, it will bring you International Harvester value in fullest measure, backed by outstanding service through our direct factory branches in Chicago and the surrounding area. Call them for information.

BONDS RECOVER LOSS SUFFERED EARLY IN WEEK

Railroad Liens Feature Late Rally.

New York, Nov. 29.—(AP)—Heavy selling last Monday sent the bond market off to a poor start, but in later sessions of the week much of the damage to values was repaired.

Recovery was helped by a stout rally in rail liens which previously had rather uncertain footing coincident with a wave of pessimistic sentiment in connection with labor legislation prospects.

Action in Stocks Followed.

In general the market patterned its movements after the stock list. The tumble in equities at the start of the week brought selling in industrial convertibles, but this group later showed strong rallying tendencies which reached peak force following the Thanksgiving holiday.

Cuban sugar bonds and an assortment of hitherto inactive industrials soared to record levels.

Await Treasury Financing.

This, it was indicated, would provide for refunding of $1,187,000,000 treasury notes and bills. There was no intimation from official sources as to whether or not the treasury would seek new money above its refunding needs.

The upward swing in railroad issues near the end of the week was attributed in part to improved support inspired by the favorable showing of October earnings statements. Preliminary reports indicated a combined net operating income of over $90,000,000, a gain of more than 20 per cent, compared with October, 1935, and a new six year high.

T. W. Demarest to Leave for New Pennsylvania Post

Thomas W. Demarest, general superintendent of motive power of the Pennsylvania railroad's western region, who has had his headquarters in Chicago for more than sixteen years, has been transferred to the railroad's headquarters in Philadelphia, effective tomorrow, H. E. Newcomet, vice president, announced yesterday. Demarest, who has been with the Pennsylvania for more than forty-seven years, will be succeeded by W. Y. Cherry, now general superintendent of motive power of the New York zone, at New York City.

Seagram Central Division Sales Show 130 Pct. Gain

November sales of the central division of the Seagram-Distillers corporation showed an increase of 130 per cent over sales in November, 1935, Joe Triner, manager of the division, announced yesterday.

SMALL WORLD WHEAT SUPPLY LIFTS PRICES

International Stock Lightest in Decade.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

For the last several months it has been apparent that consumers throughout the world would have to pay higher prices for wheat. To find the explanation of the high prices that have existed in all world markets one need only examine the statistics on world supplies which this season are the smallest the world over in the last decade.

The high price level and the advance in the market in recent months is explainable entirely in terms of supply and demand. In the last few days the world market has recorded a further advance which has lifted wheat to the highest price level in several years.

War Fears Bolster Demand.

Not alone the inflationary influences which are affecting prices of all commodities but the growing fear that international warfare may greatly stimulate the demand for wheat is a factor behind the recent upturn in values.

The probabilities of war have strengthened rather than lessened in recent weeks and although there has been an increase in the prospective supply of wheat, because of the better Argentine crop outlook, the world market has advanced.

It is not likely that a war scare four or five years ago would have brought about a high price level for wheat. At that time the problem of the wheat producing countries was to dispose of surplus stocks.

Although the United States began several years ago to experience wheat crop failures it continued to have a large reserve supply because of the surplus stocks built up in the preceding years of large crops and artificially stimulated prices.

Surplus Problem "Solved."

Two years ago Canada was searching for means to solve its wheat problem—a problem of selling its surplus stocks and relieving the government of the financial responsibility of holding up prices.

Today the United States is one of the largest wheat importing countries and Canada is finding a ready market for all the wheat it can scrape out of its bins.

Against a background of world shortage such as exists it is not illogical that the increasingly strained political situation should bring about an advance in the world market.

Aggressive buying of wheat by Italy last week and the announcement that the British government would establish a food defense plan heightened the feeling that importing countries are trying to build up their wheat reserves.

Italy Buys Wheat.

Italian purchases of wheat last week were estimated at 3,500,000 bushels. Already this season Italy has purchased an estimated 20 million bushels from foreign countries. Total sales of Canadian wheat to all foreign countries last week were placed at approximately 7,000,000 bushels. A like amount was estimated to have been purchased by importing countries in Argentina and Australia.

December wheat sold at $1.19¾ a bushel in the Chicago market Saturday, the highest price at which it has been quoted since the "inflation" market of July, 1933, when one delivery reached a peak of $1.28½ a bushel.

Weekly Price Range Compared.

SIZABLE GAINS MADE IN OCTOBER BY U. S. INDUSTRY

Washington, D. C., Nov. 29.—(AP)—The department of commerce said today a survey showed sales of goods by both manufacturers and wholesalers made substantial gains in October compared with the same month in 1935. "Small but favorable gains" over September of this year also were reported.

The survey, made jointly by the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce and the National Association of Credit Men, also was said to show higher percentages of collections.

U. S. Monetary Stability Vital, Says N. Y. Bank

Although the country has made great progress toward business recovery, it is evident that a number of imposing economic questions are still to be answered and an urgent and vital problem is now facing the government—that if preserving the soundness of the nation's currency—the Guaranty Trust company says in its current monthly survey.

"There exists a combination of factors, partly political and partly economic in character, that may exert undue influence on the country's monetary system as soon as reviving prosperity gives them an opportunity to make their effects felt," the survey said.

Fiscal Problem Major Factor.

Pointing out that the problem is vital in a peculiar sense because "its solution is necessary to the solution of others," the review stated that "no intelligent and effective consideration of national policies of a government is possible unless the fiscal situation and the value of its currency are under control."

"Principal elements involved in the currency problem are well known," it said. "Purchases of government securities by the banks, together with the spending of borrowed funds by the government, have greatly increased the quantity of available purchasing power in the form of bank deposits.

"Bank reserves have been swollen through the purchase of government securities by Federal Reserve banks and by the increase in the monetary gold stock, which, in turn, has been due partly to gold imports and partly to the devalution of the dollar. New money has been issued against silver purchased by the treasury.

Printing Press Agitation.

"Finally, there has been persistent agitation for direct currency inflation through the printing of greenbacks, although this agitation, fortunately, appears to have become less active as business recovery has progressed."

The most important factor in the problem of preserving a sound currency is that of the federal budget, according to the survey. This involves the questions of relief, reorganization of government agencies, the revenue system, and the policy toward numerous "pressure groups."

"Even when the budget is balanced by means of reduced expenditures, increased revenues, or a combination of both, there will still remain the problem of defending the treasury against attempted raids by groups who regard themselves as logical beneficiaries of public largess," the bank concluded.

CANADIANS SHIP OVER 190 MILLION BUSHELS WHEAT

WINNIPEG, Man., Nov. 29.—[Special.]—A sharp revival of export buying, partly as a result of the unfavorable situation in Europe, featured operations in the Winnipeg wheat market, and purchases for foreign account for the week were estimated conservatively at about 5,500,000 bushels.

The total shipments from Canadian lakehead ports during this season of navigation are now over 190 million bushels and it is expected that they will touch 200 million by the end of the season.

Among Friday departures were the Shenandoah and Frank E. Taplin with wheat for Buffalo and Wahconcah with wheat for Detroit. Oother departure during the week were Troisdoc, Superior, 115,000 bushels wheat; Lavaldoc, Duluth, 1,350 tons screenings; Calgadoc, Duluth and Superior, 95,000 bushels barley, 800 tons screenings; Cartierdoc, Superior, 120,000 bushels barley; Scott Miesner, South Chicago, 120,000 bushels barley; Lebanon, Buffalo, 45,000 bushels wheat; Lemoyne, Buffalo, 530,000 bushels wheat; J. S. VAN SWERINGEN RAIL SUCCESSOR STILL IN DOUBT

New Executive May Be Named Today.

Cleveland, O., Nov. 29.—(AP)—Two midwestern capitalists, G. A. Tomlinson and George A Ball, will confer here tomorrow and attempt to choose a successor to the late O. P. Van Sweringen as chief executive of the far-flung Van Sweringen railroad and real estate interests. Who will be selected is still in doubt, although the names of three men are mentioned for the position.

GEORGE A. BALL. [A. P. Wirephoto.]

Tomlinson, Cleveland shipping magnate, and Ball, Muncie, Ind., glass jar manufacturer, own all the outstanding stock of Midamerica corporation, the top holding company which controls the vast railroad network.

Midamerica acquired control in September, 1935, when it bought at auction the Van Sweringen securities held by a banking syndicate headed by J. P. Morgan & Co. The corporation had been formed by Ball and Tomlinson for that purpose. O. P. Van Sweringen was president of Midamerica at the time of his death last week.

Will Select Executive.

Tomlinson and Ball will select a man to fill this executive position from which Van Sweringen guided the various moves of the intricate system.

The three persons most frequently mentioned in speculation concerning Van Sweringen's successor are Col. Leonard P. Ayres, financial adviser to the Van Sweringens; Herbert Fitzpatrick, vice president and general counsel of the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad, and Charles L. Bradley, chairman of the Erie railroad and a vice president of Midamerica.

Bradley was in constant contact with Van Sweringen and is well acquainted with all the complex phases of the railroad picture. A former banker, Bradley was in charge of the [illegible] the huge terminal group of buildings in downtown Cleveland. He is also chairman of the board of the Cleveland Railway company.

Adviser of Van Sweringen.

Fitzpatrick, as general counsel of the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad, was a close adviser of Van Sweringen and knows well the reorganization plans for the various Van Sweringen companies. He was with Van Sweringen when the railroad magnate died.

Col. Ayres, a vice president of the Cleveland Trust company, served as adviser to the Van Sweringens on business conditions and the security market. He is well known for his monthly analysis of business trends, published by the Cleveland Trust company.

Douglas Planes to Be Put on St. Louis Flight Today

Twin engined Douglas airliners with a speed of 200 miles per hour will replace today the last of American Airlines' multi-motored Condors, now operating between Chicago and St. Louis, C. R. Smith, president of the air system, announced yesterday. This makes all-Douglas plane service available on all of the company's six non-stop flights daily between these cities, he said, and reduces the travel time between Chicago and St. Louis from 121 to 100 minutes.

October Business in Chicago Well Ahead of Last Year

Business activity in Chicago continued to run well ahead of 1935 during October, the Chicago Association of Commerce reported yesterday in its monthly survey of business conditions in this area.

The most notable improvement occurred in department store sales where the index jumped from 81.1 in October last year to 97.5 this year.

Encouraging gains were also recorded in the indices of employment and pay rolls in manufacturing industries. The employment index rose to 78.8 from 68.5 in October, 1935, and pay rolls advanced from an index number of 49.6 a year ago to 61.2 in the same month of this year.

October pig iron production here totaled 577,786 tons, compared with 381,641 tons a year ago. Building permits showed a sharp increase in value but the cost of contemplated construction work was slightly below that for October, 1935. Contracts awarded on building projects, however, were above a year ago and the cost more than doubled. Real estate transfers increased by about 15 per cent while the values involved were below last year.

The only noticeable decline in activity occurred on the Chicago Stock exchange where transactions were lower, attributed to preëlection inactivity.

ROADS, PULLMAN AIR CONDITION ADDITIONAL CARS

During the last six months the nation's railroads and the Pullman company have increased by 1,698 the number of air conditioned passenger cars in operation, J. J. Pelley, president of the Association of American Railroads, announced yesterday.

This brings to 7,846 the total number of air conditioned passenger cars owned and operated by the railroads and by the Pullman company in service as of Oct. 1 this year. Of that number, the railroads had 3,777 air conditioned passenger cars, compared with 2,731 on April 1 last, or a gain of 1,046.

The railroads now have 2,185 passenger coaches which have been air conditioned, 771 having been added within the last six months. In addition, they also have 874 dining cars and other classes of passenger equipment which have been air conditioned, Pelley said.

NEW BURLINGTON TWIN ZEPHYRS TO START DEC. 18

The Burlington railroad announced yesterday that two new Diesel powered stainless steel twin Zephyrs would be placed into regular twice daily service between Chicago and St. Paul and Minneapolis, Friday, December 18. The additions will bring to eight the number of trains of this type now in service.

The new trains of seven cars each will replace the original smaller twin Zephyrs which have been running between Chicago and the twin cities since April of last year. The smaller units will be assigned to daily service on other lines of the Burlington system.

Each will be composed of a power car, cocktail lounge, forward coach, rear coach, diner, forward parlor car, and parlor observation car, and each is named after one of fourteen Greek and Roman gods of mythology.

ANOTHER BANK SURPLUS CUT IS SEEN IN EAST

New York, Nov. 29.—(AP)—Anticipating another move early next year by the federal reserve board to cut the surplus supply of loanable bank funds, the First Boston corporation expressed the view today that such action "need have no actual effect on money rates."

The investment banking house, in a letter to customers, also called attention to possibility of "bookkeeping balance" in the federal budget by the end of the present fiscal year and cautioned against paying high premiums on federal obligations maturing after September, 1937, in expectation of getting privileges for subscription to new issues. Under a balanced budget, the corporation noted, the government may have to pay off in cash part of its maturing debts.

The letter set forth the belief the reserve board would act by ordering another increase in reserve requirements of member banks, similar to its order last August for a 50 per cent boost in the deposits members must keep at the reserve banks.

"This action, if taken," the letter added, "will be to prevent undue credit expansion made possible by the importation of gold. Gold is evidently going to continue to flow toward this country because the output of newly-mined gold is much larger than normal and our price of gold is high and holding up the world price. The purchase by foreign interests of our securities brings additional gold."

Westinghouse Reports Sharp Gain in Profits

Sharply higher earnings for the nine and twelve months ended Sept. 30 were reported by the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company in a quarterly statement sent last night to stockholders. Net income for the first nine months of 1936 amounted to $11,123,706, compared with $8,822,640 in the corresponding period of last year, an increase of 26 per cent. In the twelve months ended Sept. 30 net income was $14,284,446, against $9,375,989 in the preceding year.

Orders booked during the nine months totaled $134,148,358, an increase of 40 per cent over the $95,482,535 for the corresponding period of last year and the highest for any similar period since 1930.

Orders Booked Rise 32%.

During the twelve months ended Sept. 30 the company booked orders valued at $162,295,156, a gain of 32 per cent over the preceding twelve months when the total was $122,849,880.

Sales billed in the first nine months amounted to $115,992,637, or 26 per cent above the $92,019,593 for the same months of 1935, while billings for the twelve months ended Sept. 30 aggregated $146,561,629, an increase of 27 per cent over the $114,932,970 for the preceding twelve months.

In a table on distribution of stock holdings, the company showed that common stock was held by 21,639 men, 19,636 women, 836 brokers, 731 corporations, and 24 trusts. Preferred stock was held by 715 men, 954 women, no brokers, 138 corporations, and 3 trusts.

Revise Earnings Upward.

Pacific Gas and Electric company and subsidiaries in its report for the twelve months ended Sept. 30, issued yesterday, showed an upward revision in earnings over preliminary figures for the period.

Net income was placed at $25,333,713, including gas revenues in dispute and before deducting minority interests in earnings of subsidiary companies. This compares with a preliminary figure of $23,721,713, and net income of $19,579,018 in the twelve months ended Sept. 30, 1935.

Engineers Public Service Reports Gain in Balance

New York, Nov. 29.—[Special.]—The Engineers Public Service company and subsidiaries will report today a consolidated balance of $2,973,373 for the twelve months ended on Oct. 31 after all deductions against a balance of $1,213,571 in the preceding year. The parent company's annual preferred dividend requirements are $2,323,537.

STEEL OUTPUT HIGHEST SINCE EARLY IN 1930

Rate Up to 75½ Pct. as Prices Rise.

With demand for steel showing an appreciable increase last week following the announcements of higher prices, the national steel works operating rate advanced 1 point to 75½ per cent of plant capacity, the highest level since the spring of 1930, the magazine Steel said yesterday.

The publication pointed out that the feature of the week was the large orders for rails and railroad equipment. In these lines and other iron and steel commodities where the price advances are expected to stimulate bookings, there were many indications that a high rate of operations will be assured for the balance of this year and into the first quarter of 1937, said the journal.

Most Districts More Active.

With only the Cleveland district off 2½ points to 77 per cent, steel operations last week gained 3 points in the Pittsburgh district to 70 per cent, in Youngstown, 2 points to 75 per cent; Chicago, ½ point to 77 per cent; eastern Pennsylvania, ½ point to 48½ per cent, and New England, 15 points to 88 per cent. The other districts remained unchanged.

Reflecting the higher prices in some of the eastern districts, steel's scrap composite gained 12 cents and is now at $16.12. From the middle of October up to last week it had been declining gradually. Pig iron at all points is now up $1 a ton.

The week's rail orders totaled 123,150 tons, bringing the November aggregate to more than 330,000 tons, which is one of the heaviest monthly totals in recent years, according to the magazine. Prices are advancing from $36.375 to $39 a ton, the first increase in three years.

Auto Plants Buy Heavily.

One of the longest term buying programs in the history of the automobile industry is under way at present. By the middle of December it is expected commitments will have been made for more than 2,000,000 automobiles.

It is roughly estimated by the publication that General Motors' advance orders will be sufficient for approximately 800,000 assemblies, while Chrysler's will be for 650,000, and Ford's for more than 500,000.

TODAY there are among the customers of The Northern Trust Company many successful men who opened accounts here years ago upon the advice of their fathers.

The satisfaction they derive from such a banking connection cannot be overemphasized. They like particularly the way it smooths the path in many cases for more pleasant credit relationships.

You will find that a personal checking or a savings account at The Northern Trust Company holds worth while advantages for you. This sound, conservative bank is located in the very heart of the "loop" financial district. The quarters are spacious and modern in every respect. There is evident in every member of the staff a sincere friendliness and a desire to be of service.

An officer of The Northern Trust Company will be happy to acquaint you, at your convenience, with more of the reasons why so many thousands of Chicago's citizens have chosen this institution for their bank.

TRADE IN METAL MARKETS QUIET; TIN FLUCTUATES

Copper, Zinc, Lead, Antimony Prices Are Steady.

New York, Nov. 29.—Nonferrous metals had a quiet week, due partially to the Thanksgiving holiday.

The greatest fluctuation was noted in tin, where a decline of 40 to 45 points at the week's outset was succeeded by a sharp recovery, the period ending with a net gain of around 140 to 145 points. The improvement was featured by an appreciable tightning of the spot situation because of the extended seamen's strike and consequent fears as to whether cargoes still be discharged in time to make elivery this month.

Copper Prices Steady.

Steadiness prevailed in copper for both the domestic and foreign markets. Sales of electrolytic abroad at 10.77½ cents a pound represented a small net gain for the week. The domestic base held at 10½ cents a pound. Scrap supplies for custom smelters were smaller. Domestic consumers, while offering comparatively little new business, are pressing for the deliveries against contract.

Zinc was quiet and unchanged. Consuming demand was spasmodic and on the whole, rather limited.

Trade in Lead Less Active.

Lead remained unchanged with buying on a less active scale. Producers generally accepted business offered and at the same time made progress toward clearing up waiting lists recently built up. Consumers were interested in carloads for immediate and early December shipment, but have thus far shown only a limited interest in January requirements.

TRUCK FREIGHT TERMINAL WILL OPEN TOMORROW

The Lasham Cartage company tomorrow will open its new $500,000 motor truck garage and freight terminal at Archer avenue and Quarry street, Joseph Lasham, vice president and general manager, said last night. The building is of fireproof construction and contains 105,000 square feet of garage space, or about 2½ acres.

Business of the cartage company, which is a subsidiary of the United States Freight company and confines operations to pick-up and delivery services within the Chicago city limits, during the first ten months of this year at 748,676,000 pounds ran 23 per cent ahead of a year ago and 52 per cent above 1929, Lasham reported.

The estimated volume for the full year 1936 is placed at 908,680,000 pounds, which would compare with 741,441,000 pounds hauled in 1935.

General Baking.

Investors' Guide: Please send me complete information on General Baking common stock.—A. P.

Answer: This company is engaged principally in the baking and sale of bread. Cakes and pies account for only about 10 per cent of business. Capacity of the company's more than forty plants is more than 1,000,000 loaves of bread a day.

Although its bakeries are operated in principal cities of twenty states in the east, middle west, and south, distribution is concentrated on the large metropolitan areas of New York, New Jersey, Massachusetts, and Pennsylvania.

Because of higher flour prices, labor costs, and other expenses, unit profit margins continue narrow in the highly competitive baking industry. Increases in earnings appear to depend largely on expansion of sales, taking advantage of better consumer buying power.

General Baking boosted both its poundage and dollar sales during 1935, finally managing to reverse the steady decline in earnings which had been in progress since 1927. Marked improvement has been reported this year.

From the peak of $7,775,000 in 1927, net income eased to $7,239,000 in 1929, and dropped off to $4,838,000 in 1931. Net income was $3,790,000, or $1.94 per share in 1932, $2,036,000, or 84 cents in 1933, and $1,941,000, or 78 cents a share in 1934.

Net income moved up to $2,151,000 or 91 cents a share in 1935. It was $1,837,000, or 82 cents a share in the thirty-nine weeks ended Sept. 26, 1936, compared with $1,384,000, or 54 cents a share in the corresponding 1935 period.

Saving in interest charges through elimination of debt in the last two years has been a factor in the im proved showing.

Financial position was satisfactory at the end of 1935, although working capital was reduced $1,593,000 during the year because of debt retirement. Current assets were $6,293,000, and current liabilities were $3,748,000, including $2,000,000 of bank loans, at the end of 1935.

Capitalization consists of 87,883 shares of $8 dividend noncallable preferred stock, and 1,588,697 shares of $5 par capital stock.

Dividends on the common have declined with earnings to a low rate of 15 cents a share quarterly, which has been in effect since November 1934. An extra of 10 cents a share was paid Nov. 2, 1936.

Hint Paying Something on Old War Debts.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Nov. 29.—France's budgetary straits finally plunged her into the preoccupation of getting, somehow, a loan from the "richest money market in the world." Increasingly in the past week, this has been the theme of financial publications, financial pages and editorial utterances.

An interesting sidelight is the frankness of some of these pleas to Frenchmen to approve the American debt payment. They plainly say: "We repudiated the war debt when we did not need America's help. Now we need it, and must make a gesture of paying something."

French Count on Roosevelt.

The realistic French are counting heavily on President Roosevelt to do the generous thing. They even assume he can, by decree, nullify the Johnson law prohibiting French loans in America so long as France refuses to pay the debt.

The financial editor of the second biggest evening daily wrote:

"The question of interallied debts is coming to the fore not due to the desire to respect undertakings, which recent devaluations have made even more impossible than before, at least for Italy and France, but in the secret hope of obtaining short term and long term loans on the money market which is the richest in the world in capital."

Pay Millions, Borrow Billions?

The French financial press admitted regretfully that "the American spirit of coöperation is far from the desirable temperature in the month after the reëlection of President Roosevelt, whose first concern is domestic problems."

The French consider Italy's gesture as a trial balloon to sound out political and financial opinion in the United States, and note regretfully that if France were to follow suit in order to play on Roosevelt idealism, the payment would be much heavier than Italy's.

FIND ROOSEVELT REGIME BOOSTS PRICES 14 PCT.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 29.—(AP)—Labor department statistics reports a jump of 14 per cent in wholesale prices in the approximately three years in which the Roosevelt administration has sought to raise the general price level.

From an index figure of 71.7 on Nov. 18, 1933, wholesale prices have risen to 82 as of Nov. 14. Both figures are percentages of the price level of 1926, which is figured at 100. The widest gain was registered for farm products, which rose from 58.7 three years ago to 85.5. Foods increased from 65.4 to 83.5. All commodities other than farm products and food increased from 77.5 to 80.8.

As figured into living costs, the department's statistics covering purchases by wage earners and lower salaried workers showed an increase for all items, from 77.2 at the close of 1933 to 82.4 in September, this year. The increases were: Food, 69.4 to 84.3; clothing, 76.2 to 78.6; rent, 63.9 to 64.6; house furnishing goods, 73.5 to 78.2. Fuel and light costs fell from 90.3 to 87.4 and miscellaneous items were off from 96.8 to 96.5.
